BIG CROWDS VISIT KASINO ON SECOND DAY OF LOWELL AUTO SHOW

More Than 3000 Men and Women Attended Opening Yesterday Afternoon and Evening—Proceeds of Ticket Sales Today Will Be Turned Over to High School Athletic Field Fund—Tomorrow Will Be "Appreciation Day"

Ideal January weather with northerly winds not too strong or too cold, plenty of sunshine tempering the snappy temperature, made conditions excellent for another outpouring of sightseers, including all the "regulars" and new "automobile fans" galore of both sexes, at the second day's attractive exhibition at the Kasino on Thorndike street.

It is estimated that more than 3000 men and women from city and country attended the opening yesterday afternoon and evening. Today the indications were that this number would be doubled.

Undoubtedly interest was heightened by the selection of this day as "High School Fund Day." Proceeds of the ticket sales will be turned over to the school athletic field fund, and when the receipts are counted late tonight, it is expected that an interesting statement will be made by the merchants' association treasurer.

The naming of today as one in which patrons of the 1923 auto show might distribute their favors to both the Kasino exhibitors for the wonderful show offered for their edification and instruction, and also to the energetic

Entire Gorham Street Section Cut off From Fire Alarm Signal Service When System Again Fails

The entire Gorham street section of the city, from the postoffice to the corner of Bowden street, the territory in the vicinity of Meadowcroft street and streets adjacent to the South common, are entirely cut off from fire alarm signal service as the result of a break or "ground" somewhere in the 32-wire main cable, condemned eight years ago and at present under a perfect storm of criticism.

Twelve signal boxes, all on the same circuit, are "dead," and it is impossible to send in an alarm over any one of them. In case of fire telephone to fire headquarters, No. 3400.

The boxes out of commission are the following:

218—Appleton and Favor
232—Appleton and Gorham
214—Gorham and Union
215—Highland and South
223—Davis Square
47—Gorham and Moore
45—Moore and Bleachery
48—Gorham and Manchester
49—Gorham and Lundberg
415—Gorham and Bowden
419—Meadowcroft and Bolt
425—Stromquist Ave. and Weed

This sensational announcement was made this morning by fire department officials after every effort had been made to locate the break or trouble in the main cable that was discovered Sunday night when tower bells and traffic gongs sounded all kinds of alarms for about half an hour. Aside from knowing the trouble is located in the main cable, the officials only can guess its exact location and are continuing a feverish hunt for it. When located an attempt to patch it will be made, but Capt. Thomas F. Conway said today the cable is almost past the patching stage.

In case the break is not found very soon the entire circuit will be transferred to another circuit, which may be able to carry it in a hit and miss manner. Every circuit already is overloaded, but the burden would have to be increased if necessity arose.

This is the second big crisis in the antiquated fire alarm system within a week or 10 days. The first was the failure of a box at Chelmsford and Grand streets to sound an alarm for a disastrous garage fire in Chelmsford street. Last Thursday the entire question of a new system was discussed at a conference of council members and fire underwriters and representatives of the Gamewell Alarm Signal System Co., but no action was taken.

Chief Edward F. Saunders will take up the present matter with Mayor John J. Donovan this afternoon and will urge immediate steps be taken toward the installation of a new system.

CARMEN TO DEMAND BETTER WAGES TO MEET LIVING COSTS

Unanimous Demand for Increase in Wages on the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway—Lowell Delegate to Wage Conference Gives Results of Boston Meeting to The Sun and Corrects Statement Relative to Expiration of Present Agreement

THOMAS F. BOYLE,
Lowell Delegate

A unanimous demand backed by every man for increased wages on the Eastern Massachusetts street railway lines is to be made by the employes' unions when negotiations are formally opened sometime in February next for a new wage contract to replace the one which expires May 1, next.

This was agreed upon yesterday at a meeting of the general conference committee of the employes' union, held at 18 Tremont street, Boston.

Thomas F. Boyle, popular Lowell motorman for many years, was present as an active delegate. Eleven members of the general conference committee responded to the meeting call.

Delegate Boyle told The Sun this morning upon his return from Boston, that no program has yet been drawn up for the campaign for better wages. The union representatives have not yet even considered the size of the wage advances that will be asked for, to relieve alleged high cost of living hardships that the street railway men now complain of.

Mr. Boyle said no one knew at this time just what would be asked for. The matter will be decided on or about February 15, however, when the chairmen of the 16 active locals in the "Eastern string" will gather at the

LOWELL MAN GUILTY OF MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE

Homer Noel Admits He Was in on the Killing of Alex Dombrowski for Whose Murder Another Man is Now Serving Life Sentence

Homer Noel, of this city, pleaded guilty of second degree murder yesterday in connection with the slaying of Alex Dombrowski, near Detroit, Mich., last August. Noel, member of a gang of bootleggers, admitted when arrested that Dombrowski had been killed by a member of his gang, but denied having been personally implicated in the crime. His trial opened last week in Detroit before Circuit Judge Dingeman, and at that time Noel pleaded not guilty. The changed plea yesterday was accepted and Noel remanded for sentence.

This unanticipated development in the case will result in the taking of immediate steps toward the release of Leo Sauerman, now serving a life sentence in Marquette prison for the killing of Dombrowski.

NEW AND DRASTIC MEASURES IF GERMAN RESISTANCE CONTINUES

French Plan Total Isolation of Ruhr Valley, Complete Control of Mines, Railroads and Public Utilities and Introduction of New Currency—Berlin Claims 165,000 on Strike in Thyssen and Stinnes Works

(By the Associated Press)

The coal miners' strike in the Ruhr valley, ordered in opposition to the Franco-Belgian attempt to collect reparations by forceful means, seems far from complete. Duesseldorf reported a majority of the Ruhr miners still working at noon today.

On the other hand Berlin claims 165,000 men have gone on strike in the Thyssen and Stinnes work in the Ruhr.

BOARD TO LIST VOTERS

Hearing on Petition of Hugh C. McOsker by Committee on Cities

(Special to The Sun.)

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Jan. 23.—The petition of Hugh C. McOsker, chairman of the board of election commissioners of Lowell, to establish a board to list voters in that city, was given a hearing this forenoon before the legislative committee on cities, Senator John W. Haigis, chairman.

Speaking in favor of the proposed bill were Representatives Henry Achin, Jr. and Victor F. Jewett, of Lowell, and Mr. McOsker, father of the measure. There were no remonstrants.

Rep. Achin, the first speaker, said the bill would tend to centralize voting activities in the city by putting the matter of poll listing in the hands of the election commission, which, in his judgment, had performed satisfactory work since its inception several years ago.

"By the present arrangement of listing," said Rep. Achin, "the work is left to assistant assessors, appointed by the assessing department and they give very poor service. Instead of visiting houses to make a correct list, they usually stay at home and copy the names from the list of the previous year. Notifications are sent to dead men, poll taxes often are sent to children and many voters are dropped without notice of any kind."

Mr. Achin called attention to the excellent work being done in Boston, Cambridge and Chelsea by such listing boards, composed of the election commission and the chief of police, with listing done by policemen.

Rep. Jewett called it a beneficial measure and said Cambridge has saved several thousand dollars since it was established there. Mr. McOsker also spoke in favor of the petition and as there were no remonstrants the hearing closed. —HOYT.

VESSELS MISSING FOR TWO WEEKS

Part of Fleet Finds Temporary Haven in Bolinao Cove—No Place to Land

MANILA, Jan. 23—(By the Associated Press) Fear is expressed here that seven Russian refugee ships with more than 500 persons aboard, have been lost in the China sea, enroute from Shanghai to the Philippines, as part of Admiral Stark's fleet of Vladivostok exiles, five ships of which are anchored near here. The missing vessels have not been heard of since January 10.

Admiral Stark is with the ships which have found temporary haven in Bolinao Cove. But his white fleet of homeless Siberians has no place on earth to land permanently.

Plans may be worked out, however, for the refugees to remain in the Philippines. They could be admitted under the immigration laws, but the question of absorbing them in business on the islands presents a difficult problem.

Admiral Stark and his office asserted that they were very desirous of remaining in the Philippines or anywhere else under the American flag. Discussing the matter aboard the flagship, they told the Associated Press that if they returned to Vladivostok they would be killed by the soviet forces.

Street Railway Eliminates Inward Stop on Bridge Street Near Square

Bridge street in the vicinity of the big square has carefully wiped away all traces of blockades and general business traffic congestions that used to irritate pedestrians and many traffic handlers and worry more than one stalwart traffic cop.

A man in overalls carrying a can of green paint and a six-inch brush, this morning ran blithely up a ladder and painted out the white car-stop sign on that green pole next to the former Depot Cash market location, and the next car that came over the bridge and down to the square just slid right

WAS TAXED $100 FOR CARRYING A GUN

Carrying a .32 calibre revolver cost Paul Moodarian $100 in the district court before Judge Enright this morning. Moodarian told the court he had purchased the implement in Egypt while engaged with the Armenian forces in that territory. The revolver, which was fully loaded, bore a United States trademark and was evidently new. His appearance in court today resulted from a complaint, preferred against him by his uncle, Paul Lapan, who testified that Moodarian has been paying undue attentions to his wife, and has become a constant source of annoyance to the latter. When cautioned to discontinue his actions in this respect, Moodarian is alleged to have threatened self destruction.

MAX NORDAU, GERMAN AUTHOR, DIES IN PARIS

PARIS, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press) Max Nordau, the famous German author and philosopher, died at his home here yesterday.

Nordau had been ill a long time. At his bedside when death came were his wife and his daughter, Maxa.

Max Simon Nordau was born at Budapest July 29, 1849. His parents were Jews. He practiced medicine in Budapest until 1880, when he took up his residence in Paris. There, in addition to his medical work he studied art, literature and social questions.

Nordau's father was Gabriel Sudfeld, once a rabbi in Prussia, who became a teacher in Budapest. Nordau received his elementary education, including Latin and Greek and Hebrew, from his father. Later he attended the university in his native city. His literary activities were begun when he was a boy of 14. He worked at journalism even when taking his medical course, and was a traveling correspondent later for leading German, Austrian and Hungarian newspapers.

In 1897 Dr. Nordau was called by Dr. Herzl, founder of political Zionism, to aid Herzl in propagating the Zionist idea.

AT THE MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB

The program of entertainment at the Middlesex Women's club yesterday was arranged by the legislative department, Mrs. George M. Heath, chairman, and was a distinct, but nevertheless interesting departure from the usual custom. Three prominent local men, Judge John C. Legat, Abel R. Campbell and Frederick C. Church, Jr., discussed legal, real estate and insurance questions from unusual standpoints and a purely artistic note was injected by Edward L. Gerry, baritone, now situated in Lowell, who most enjoyably sang a group of songs.

Mr. Gerry first sang the recitative and aria from "The Seasons," by Haydn, a group of three songs by Seiler and others of no little appeal.

BIG MARMON AND DORT EXHIBIT

An exhibit at the Kasino of more than ordinary interest and one that is sure to draw and attract by its very worth is that of the S. H. C. company, local agents for the well known Dort and the famous Marmon cars. Both exhibits are a novelty as it is the first time that the new Dort Six was shown at a public exhibition and, in the case of the Marmon, the first time that the car has ever been exhibited in a Lowell show.

Two of the new Dort Six models are shown, the sedan and the sport. In addition, there are exhibited the Dort cut chassis, showing every working part of the mechanism of the car, making a demonstration that makes for an easy understandable method of seeing and investigating the workings of this popular car.

Speaking of the new Dort Six, James J. Skehan of the S. H. C. Co. claims that Dort engineers have succeeded in making the most economical motor in existence.

INDICATIONS POINT TO BIG NASH YEAR

Nash Motors on Jan. 9, had on hand more orders for delivery this month than were booked in any previous month in the history of the company with the exception of May and June of last year. The year just closed was the greatest twelve months' period in the history of the Nash Motors company. Total sales of Nash passenger cars in 1922 more than doubled shipments made the previous year.

One interesting phase of the 1922 record is that the last six months of the year eclipsed the first half period in point of sales. In other words 1005 more cars were shipped by the factory from July 1, to Dec. 31, than were shipped between January 1 and June 30, which period included of course, the natural spring demand.

January, February and March last year started the breaking of Nash previous records with a volume of sales for that period that exceeded the same 1921 period by more than 51 per cent. Then followed April and May, months that made Nash history. The usual mid-summer let-down had no appreciable effect on the Nash demand with the result that during these months, record after record was broken. In September the automobile industry as a whole fell off 24 per cent. as against August and in that month Nash Motors gained 8 per cent. over August.

Improvements and refinements which began going into Nash cars the latter part of the year and which have been completed for the automobile shows have met with instant approval on the part of the public with the result that for months past the demand has left the factory in an oversold condition. This has resulted in plant extension now in process of completion. Don't miss the Nash at the show.

ADDISON THOMAS DEAD

Quarter of a Century Ago He Was One of Most Widely Known Newspapermen

CHICAGO, Jan. 23—Addison C. Thomas, who a quarter of a century ago, was one of the most widely known newspaper men in the United States, died early today after a brief illness. He was 71 years old.

For a long time he was superintendent of the Central division of the Associated Press, with headquarters in Chicago. In developing the present extensive leased wire system of the Associated Press he played an important role, being for years a superintendent of leased wires.

In Chicago in the 80's he first demonstrated the possibility of the use of the typewriter by operators in receiving telegraph news direct from the Morse sounder. This increased the carrying capacity of circuits and immediately added greatly to the volume of news delivered to the newspapers of the country a distinct boon to readers. It also made the work of telegraphers infinitely easier.

The introduction of the typewriter was brought about only after endless experimenting by Mr. Thomas and long after others had declared the idea impracticable.

The device known as the cyclograph, a duplicating machine used by The Associated Press, was also one of his inventions. It was the first machine to feed ink from the inside of a cylinder, a principle now adopted in mimeographing.

As an executive, Mr. Thomas immediately directed the arrangements for handling the news of many stirring events. He was voted a medal of honor by the board of directors of the Associated Press.

Mr. Thomas, through a warm hearted personality, was known to dozens of the most prominent men of his time.

STRICTER ADHERENCE TO EVENING CLOTHES

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—Stricter adherence on the part of Americans to evening clothes was urged by speakers at the 43rd annual convention of the Merchant Tailor Designers' association which opened here today.

L. C. Tyler, chairman of the fashion committee, declared the average American man's tendency to neglect changing from the tuxedo to the full dress leaves the impression that he has less regard for his feminine companion than has the average Englishman.

Tuxedo or dinner clothes are all right for card parties and dinners, but for balls or other evening functions, they are taboo," Mr. Tyler said.

Comfort, softness and grace will characterize the every day custom clothes to be designed this year as a result of popular demand, continued Tyler, who added that the form-fitting suit is going fast; coats will have longer waist lines and fit close over the hips while trousers will be fuller, although not peg top.

TO SETTLE $200,000 SUIT OUT OF COURT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Belief that the $200,000 damage action brought by Mrs. Ethel E. Clark as the guardian of her daughter, Dorothy Clark, dancer, against Herbert Rawlinson, motion picture actor, would be settled, out of court grew today.

Mrs. Clark charged that the actor attacked the dancer in an apartment in New York in 1920, when the girl was 15 years old. The mother, regarded as an important witness by both sides, was too ill yesterday to appear in court at the opening session of the trial and a continuance was granted until February 23.

Judge J. Perry Wood of the supreme court as a preliminary to granting the continuance, said from the bench: "It would be desirable if a settlement could be reached out of court."

"Trial of the case," he declared, "would only be injurious to everyone concerned."

The dancer was called to the stand to identify a number of letters which she testified the actors had written her.

The dancer, the wife of Karl Elms of Boston, displayed no emotion on the stand.

MORE FOR LUXURIES THAN FOR CHURCH

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Each American spent nearly nine times as much for luxuries in 1922 as the average Methodist Episcopal church member, donated for religious purposes, reports emanating from the conference of 200 of the church's leaders declared today.

The annual report of the committee on conservation and advance stated that per capita giving by church members during 1922 was said to be $22.40, while the average American expended about $200 for luxuries.

STANDARD OIL DIVIDENDS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Cash dividend declarations by the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana, from dissolution of the Standard Oil Co., in 1911 to last June 30, amounted to approximately $89,660,000 or about 205 per cent, on the corporation's capital stock, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana testified today at the senate oil investigation.

WHEN MAILED FIST GRIPS

At every danger point, French machine guns dominate the invaded Ruhr territory. Here is a guard at Sassback to insure protection of territory.

New and Drastic Measures if German Resistance Continues

valley, complete control of the mines, railroad, public utilities and the introduction of new currency to meet the money stringency caused by Germany's withholding cash.

Bearing out this forecast a Dortmund message says French troops already are guarding all exits from the Ruhr, ready to execute the isolation policy is there is a general strike or rioting.

British Avoid Conflict

Conflict between the British and the French over arrests and expulsions by the latter in the Cologne area, was avoided by instructions from London to the British military authorities not to interfere, although not to co-operate.

Fritz Thyssen and the five German industrial magnates arrested with him in the Ruhr will be tried tomorrow by the Mayence court martial, the proceedings having been postponed from today.

French Extend Activities

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press) The anxiety, so widespread here regarding the dangerous situation in the Ruhr, is emphasized by reports that the French are extending their activities to the Cologne area.

The call for withdrawal of the British troops, which was raised in some quarters when the French first went into the Ruhr, again comes into prominence today. Although the demand is not yet general, withdrawal is seriously discussed as among the steps which Great Britain may be forced to take in order to avoid becoming involved in a menacing situation which the majority opinion here insists this nation must keep out of.

The comment thus far has been emphatic in asserting that Great Britain must maintain the neutrality of the "Cologne district, keeping aloof from participation in any arrests or expulsions France may wish to enforce there."

A report that the French had ordered the expulsion of German finance officers in Cologne reached London in an Essen dispatch to the Times. The correspondent asserted that the situation had reached the point where the British must either acquiesce to the French plan or withdraw their troops.

Await Results of Trial

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The Ruhr see-saw halted momentarily today, while Germans and French waited for news from Mayence where Fritz Thyssen and six other industrialists were on trial before a French court-martial charged with refusing to obey the orders of the control commission.

French general headquarters believed that conviction and imprisonment of the magnates might mean the calling of a general strike throughout the Ruhr. Workers in the Thyssen plants at Essen and Muelheim, who recently declared that they would strike if their employer was not released, held up their action until the results of the trial should become known and it was thought that the general temper among the working population of the valley might find expression in a strike if the industrialists received a jail sentence.

The French are ready to reply to a general strike with the complete isolation of the Ruhr and the Rhineland from the rest of Germany. The control commission, it was said, will head every effort toward getting coal out of the basin and shipping it to France, where it is already needed, leaving the Germans to operate the railroads and feed the miners and the population.

"If Berlin wants the Ruhr to starve, it's her own business," one official of French headquarters told the newspaper correspondents last evening. "If anyone starves in the Ruhr it will not be the French. The Germans have chosen their battlefield; we will fight them to the finish."

Gen. Denvignes expressed the opinion that the Ruhr valley was the scene of the last battle of the war.

"If we win this," he said, "we shall have peace for 50 or 100 years. If we lose, all our sacrifices of men and money during the war will have gone for naught."

The French has seized approximately 200,000 tons of coal in the Ruhr and declare that an extension of the miners' strike would not prevent one-fourth of the basin's normal output from going to France.

Newspaper Suspended

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The newspaper Nachrichten of this city, has been suspended indefinitely by the occupying authorities "for publishing articles threatening the security of the French troops of occupation."

Possibility of League Intervening

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press) The possibility that the League of Nations will endeavor to end the strained situation in the Ruhr is again discussed by a section of the press today, although rather with the hope than with the expectation that such intervention will materialize.

It is now declared that Hjalmar Branting, the Swedish representative on the league council, will certainly raise the question of the Ruhr at the meeting of that body in Paris on January 29, but the fear is expressed that developments in the meantime, may put the matter beyond the reach of any influence that the league may exert.

German Government Protests

BERLIN, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The German government has instructed its diplomatic representatives at Paris, London and Brussels to protest the recent decrees of the Inter-Allied Rhineland commission regarding the distribution of coal and the confiscation of the coal tax and customs duties.

The note declares that the distribution decree is designed solely to extend to the Rhineland the competence and activities of the new Inter-Allied commission at Essen, while the other decrees seek to divert German revenues from legitimate creditors to allied powers which are outside the jurisdiction of the Rhineland commission.

The note adds that through its decrees the commission places itself at the disposal of the French and Belgian military authorities.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

Maintenance of War-Time Expansion in Export Trade Revealed in Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Maintenance of the war-time expansion in the export trade of a number of industries in the United States was revealed in an analysis of quantity figures covering the first nine months of 1922 and the same period in 1913, made public today. Gains in imports in the first nine months of 1922 compared to the same period in 1921, also are analyzed and are attributed partly to shipments in anticipation of tariff rate increases.

Quantity increases in exports cited by the department in its comparison with pre-war figures show sugar gaining 4956 per cent., rye 1752, rice 1178, oats 864, corn 223, oranges 60, wheat 53, wheat flour 21, barley 17, bacon 56, lard 38, gasoline, naphtha, etc., 201, gas and fuel oil 105, crude petroleum 100, lubricating oil 65, iron scrap 665, sulphur 467, nails 31, iron and steel sheet plates 21, iron wire 3, automobile trucks 339, passenger automobiles 140, incandescent lamps 63, internal combustion engines 58, and cotto cloth 29 per cent.

BITTER PARTISAN WRANGLE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—After having been laid aside since December, the Green resolution proposing a constitutional amendment prohibiting further issuance of tax exempt securities was taken up today by the house, which plunged immediately into a bitter partisan wrangle.

REDOUBLED EFFORTS TO SOLVE DEATH MYSTERY

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 23.—While preparations were made for a double funeral from Emmanuel Episcopal church this afternoon, the police redoubled their efforts to solve the mystery surrounding the death of J. A. Fraser McLeish and his wife. The second autopsy performed late yesterday gave them little additional information, although it did establish that the primary cause of McLeish's death was suffocation resulting when fire swept the lodge on the Paul Fitz Simons' estate, Harbourview, where the man was employed as a gardener.

The medical examiners could explain the wounds on McLeish's head which fractured his skull only as having been caused "by violence by an unknown person." In the case of Mrs. McLeish their verdict remained "external violence." Her head was crushed and there was no smoke in her lungs.

Introduced Soda Fountain in Europe

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Noel W. Stiles, said to have been the first to introduce the American soda fountain into Europe, died suddenly last night at his home in the Allston district in his 79th year. He engaged in the manufacture of soda fountains in England 35 years ago, and carried on business in that country for 15 years. A native of Watertown, N. Y., Mr. Stiles began his career as a druggist in Appleton, Wis., and later conducted drug stores in Postville, Ia., Batavia, N. Y., Boston, Old Orchard, Me., and Brookline. He sold out his business in the latter town to embark on his pioneer enterprise in England.

How To Get a Good Photograph

SUGGESTIONS FOR WOMEN

By IRA L. HILL

1. Your hair is the most important thing. Have it shampooed, and, if necessary, waved the day before visiting the photographer.

2. Dress your hair yourself (don't go to a hairdresser) as you usually wear it, and without a net.

3. Use an ordinary street make-up but spare the rouge. Red photographs black.

4. Don't look "dolled up" or consciously pretty.

5. Wear a gown with good lines that you've worn several times before and are used to. If in doubt take several and let the photographer decide.

6. Don't wear spangles or try to look theatrical.

7. Have your picture taken at the time of day you feel best. With some women it's morning, with others afternoon.

8. Don't have anything unusual in the way of massage or face treatment.

9. In a full-length picture, don't wear suede or buckskin shoes; they make the feet look large and thick.

10. Don't dictate to the photographer.

SUGGESTIONS FOR MEN

By PIRIE MacDONALD

1. Choose your photographer more carefully than your tailor.

2. If you want to look decorative go to a photographer who specializes in women's pictures.

3. If you want to look like a man with lots of fight and "go" in you, select a photographer who can at least match you in physical strength and give you a bodily as well as a mental challenge.

4. Don't expect a good picture from a photographer who can't arouse your interest and draw you into a controversy.

5. Don't take your wife with you.

6. Don't be photographed unless you are feeling fit.

7. Don't expect "stunt" photography or freak efforts to impress men who may see your picture.

8. Don't dress up for a photograph; look just as you ordinarily do.

9. Don't think how you are going to look.

10. Don't insist that your photograph must look exactly as you really do look. If you do you'll be disappointed.

Can you look into a camera and await the result with equanimity? Or have you made up your mind that there's no use trying—you can't "take a good photograph?"

Most people belong in the latter classification.

Now, is it a fact that even a tiptop photographer can't do certain sitters justice?

Ira L. Hill and Pirie MacDonald have something to say on the subject.

The former has photographed most of the women of New York's "400" and thousands of stars of the stage and screen with equal success.

The latter specializes on men as sitters. He says they're harder to "take;" therefore, in his opinion, more interesting. He has photographed nearly every masculine notability who has visited Manhattan in two decades.

"A woman," says Mr. Hill, "may not be beautiful, but she wants her photograph to suggest beauty, to bring out all she has. Few women want photographs of their souls or their clothes. They want their faces—at their best.

"A woman is most beautiful in good clothes, and among beautiful surroundings. So I try to make my studio a place of beauty. With fine paintings, hangings and music, I induce the mood most propitious to beauty."

"Men," says Mr. MacDonald, "want their photographs to reflect strength. To bring out this characteristic in my sitters I keep myself in physical trim, so that I fling a challenge at each of them.

Men think they want their pictures to look just like them until they see the results. Then you find they're quite as vain as women."

IRISH NAT'L FORESTERS

Branches O'Neil-Crowley and St. Elizabeth Hold Joint Installation

A joint installation of the recently elected officers of Branch O'Neil Crowley and Branch St. Elizabeth, Irish National Foresters, took place Sunday afternoon at a largely-attended meeting held in A.O.H. hall, Middle street. The exercises, which were most impressive, were ably conducted by Chief Organizer Joseph L. Handley and the officers inducted into office were as follows:

Branch O'Neil, Crowley—Edward J. Cromey, chief ranger; Christy Mitchell, sub chief ranger; Michael J. Mitchell, treasurer; Thomas J. Nevin, financial secretary; Michael J. Frain, recording secretary; Thoman J. Dunleavy, senior woodward; Patrick Tumulty, junior woodward; Michael Nugent, senior beadle; John Carney, junior beadle; P. W. Moran, Thomas Costello and Patrick Linehan, board of trustees; Dr. Thos. B. Delaney, physician.

Branch St. Elizabeth—Margaret McInnis, chief ranger; Mary Pelletier, sub chief ranger; Nellie Howard, treasurer; Bessie McHugh, financial secretary; Mary A. Dillon, recording secretary; Annie Shaughnessy, senior woodward; Catherine Nagle, junior woodward; Mary Handley, senior beadle; Elizabeth Maloney, junior beadle; Maria J. Markham, Mary McGovern and Katherine McMahon, board of trustees; Dr. Thos. B. Delaney, physician.

At the close of the installation a public entertainment was conducted, those participating being Thomas Costelle, John O'Connor, Kathleen Aubrey, Annie Shaughnessy, Little Miss Anna McGovern, Thomas Horan, James McCreedy.

A pleasant incident in connection with the installation was the presentation of a hand bag to Miss Margaret McInnis, chief ranger of the ladies' branch, which was made by Organizer Handley.

COULD NOT SLEEP OR EAT FOR DAYS

WINCARNIS Was the Only Thing That Seemed to Do Mrs. Hueston Good

"Before taking Wincarnis, I was completely run down. My nerves were in an awful state. I also had indigestion so badly that gas would form around my heart, causing it to palpitate. I could neither eat nor sleep for days at a time. I took a small bottle of Wincarnis and it seemed to do me good, so I bought a large one and within a week I began to feel much better. I started to sleep and eat much better, and my nerves quieted down. After taking three bottles, I felt better than I had for years. Wincarnis is certainly a wonderful tonic."

Big Crowds Visit Kasino

high school athletic field boosters, was indeed a happy idea on the part of the automobile show management.

It proved a magnetic drawing card for the Kasino exhibit as well as giving many Lowell people who have not yet contributed to the school athletic fund, a good opportunity to support it and at the same time enjoy a high class exposition well worth visiting, whether one owns a car or not.

Schoolboys and Girls

This afternoon, following the closing of the schools for the day, there were special receptions at the Kasino for the schoolboys and girls, many of whom had an opportunity to visit the show and learn something new about favorite cars, for few school children nowadays are without some personal knowledge of automobiles.

Today there was an opportunity given to every boy and girl to see one of the best exhibitions of America's finest cars ever exhibited within the city limits, and the pupils of many of the schools besides the high school took ample advantage of the chance to add to their book of auto knowledge.

Tomorrow the Kasino exhibitors will call it "Appreciation Day," as a tribute to those thousands of people from city and country districts who have so loyally each year supported and patronized Lowell automobile merchants' exhibitions.

Mayor John J. Donovan was unable to be present at last night's formal opening, but was represented by one of his secretaries, Harry C. Glasheen, who told of the mayor's interest in the success of the 1923 automobile show and declared that the association was one composed of able business men with splendid ideals. Mr. Glasheen was introduced by Dan O'Dea. He said the absent mayor appreciates the value of good roads.

Was Favorably Impressed

Among the guests last evening was John Hart Taylor, wholesale agent of the Linscott Motor Co., which has the New England agency for the Reo automobile, represented in Lowell by Daniel E. McQuade. He expressed surprise at the size of the Kasino show and declared that it was as fine an exhibition throughout as he had ever attended in a city the size of Lowell.

There are 62 cars displayed today at the Kasino, 33 different makes. If the Kasino were twice as large, there would still be a genuine lack of sufficient room to adequately display all the cars that local dealers would like to show.

Arthur A. Armstrong, representing the Bay State A.A., and who was an interested sojourner in Lowell for the purpose of taking in the automobile show and visiting several Lowell auto enthusiasts, announced that instead of a mid-winter outing to the mountains in February, the Bay Staters will hold a dinner dance at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, on Monday evening, Feb. 12, just before Lent begins. There will be an excellent vaudeville program. Dancing will wind up at 1 a. m. Lawall automobile merchants figure extensively in B.A.A. affairs each year and plan to attend the February "rout."

DEPARTMENT ESTIMATES NOT YET READY

Although yesterday was the time for transmission of departmental estimates for 1923 to the city auditor, only a few budget schedules were ready, comprising smaller departments. More came in today, but the bulk and particularly the larger ones, are not expected before tomorrow.

The largest individual budget, that of the school department, will be taken up at a meeting of the school committee tonight, but it is probable that several appropriation sessions will be necessary before a schedule of estimates is completed.

Mayor Donovan has asked for retrenchment in the matter of estimates wherever possible, thus obviating the necessity for "slicing" by the budget and audit commission and himself.

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin said today he will call a meeting of the budget commission at the first opportunity to go over the estimates. Last year the budget commission greatly decreased the figures submitted by departments and with but few exceptions these figures were adopted by the mayor.

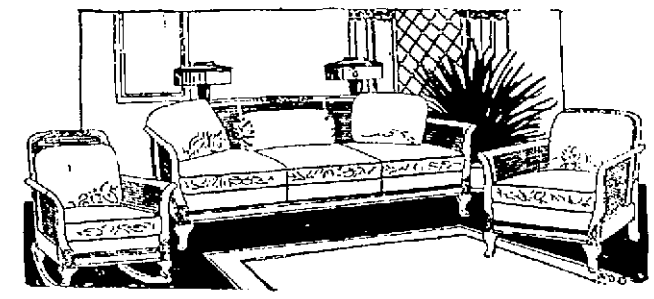

A NEW ARRIVAL

Mr. Alfred Hamel, foreman of The Sun's stereotype department, and Mrs. Hamel, are rejoicing over the birth of a baby girl. The little stranger arrived last night at the Hamel home, 59 Drucut street.

France Leads in Aviation

BY MILTON BRONNER,

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Supremacy in the air is one of the things that has given France confidence to proceed in invading the Ruhr in the attempt to collect German reparations.

Since the close of the World war she has been developing her aviation forces—both military and civil. New 'planes have been built, mechanics trained and overland services open, until now France is convinced that she is supreme.

This belief has become part of the national pride. The cry taken up at the great aviation exhibition held in the Grand Palais here, is being echoed throughout the land, along the Rhine and across the sea to Morocco where 10 airplane squadrons are stationed at Rabat.

Aviation Forces Formidable

In military aviation France already has a formidable army. She has pursuits regiments, special planes for night bombing, squadrons for observation purposes, balloon and dirigible units at strategic points in France, along the Rhine and in northern Africa.

Her total military aviation forces comprise 1350 officers and 32,000 men headed by Marshal Fayolle, inspector general of aeronautics. The naval aviation groups consist of 50 airplanes and the cruiser Bearn stationed at Rochefort as an airplane carrier.

In civil aviation France also leads Europe. There are regular passenger, mail and light freight services between Paris and London, Brussels, and Constantinople via Strasbourg, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade and Bucharest. There is also a line between Toulouse and Casablanca, in Morocco, and between Paris and Lausanne, Switzerland.

France probably has more factories for the manufacture of airplanes, motors and accessories than any other nation. She not only has been aspiring to be in a position to meet all her peace and wartime needs, but has tried to be able to sell to other nations. She has already supplied Poland, Rumania and several lesser nations with their military planes.

LEADING AVIATION POWERS

France More than 33,000 in military aviation; extensive civil service.

United States—Leads in mail aviation; but has only 15,000 in military aviation, according to latest available figures.

Great Britain—Approximately 29,000 men in military aviation.

Italy—Twenty-four military squadrons with 6500 men and officers.

Germany—Military planes barred; has 15 commercial lines with 105 machines.

Rumania—Three thousand men and 150 machines.

Czecho-Slovakia — Approximately 2000 in its military aviation forces.

Japan—Reported as having 500 men and officers in its forces.

Poland—Seven hundred and fifty men and officers.

Belgium—About 300 in military aviation.

Russia—Believed to have between 400 and 500 planes and 2000 men in military air service.

U. S. Ranks Second

The United States is credited here with being the world's second greatest military air power, and leader in the mail aviation service.

Great Britain ranks third, and Italy, handicapped by poor finances, is a poor fourth.

Although Germany is not allowed to have any military airplanes, the French are a bit fearful of the German interests in factories in Switzerland, Holland and Russia.

That seems to be one of the main reasons for France's determination to remain mistress of the air.

STRIKE STILL ON AT SACO-LOWELL SHOPS

With the exception of about 12 men who returned to their jobs this morning, the strikers of the pickle house of the Saco-Lowell shops, who left their work yesterday morning because of an alleged grievance with the company, are still out, and it was announced at the office of the company this forenoon that if the strikers do not return to work within a few days their places will be filled.

The men left their work yesterday because of the refusal of the company to place them under a flat wage scale agreement. The employes of that particular department have been working for some time under a sliding wage scale with pay according to the length of service with the company, but that did not prove satisfactory to the men, who requested that the agreement be changed.

One of the officials of the company stated today that the work performed by the strikers is the second operation in the company's industry and requires no skill. "We are willing to take back all our employes," he continued, "providing they return within a few days, but if they fail to do so we shall fill their places. We can operate some time without that department as we have plenty of castings ahead."

A committee of strikers called at The Sun office this noon and a young man who acted as spokesman for the committee stated that the men went out on strike because Supt. Greenwood, whom they interviewed yesterday morning, refused them an increase in wages. The strikers claimed they were being paid from 32 to 38 cents an hour and they asked for a uniform pay of 45 cents an hour for all employes of the pickling department. "We also protested against the action of the company in hiring men at 32 cents an hour with the promise that after two weeks they would receive 35 cents an hour, and not making the promise good," he continued. "We have 17 of our workers who were hired under that agreement and although they have been on the company's payroll two months, they are still receiving but 32 cents an hour. We will not return to work until our demands are granted."

Actress Tells Secret

Tell How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Adv.

Clogged Air Passages Open at Once—Nostrils Cleared

If your nostrils are clogged and your head stuffed because of catarrh or a cold, get Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head and membranes. Instant relief.

SULPHUR IS BEST TO CLEAR UP UGLY SKIN

Irritation and Breaking Out Often Healed Over Night, Says Skin Specialist

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Mentho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.—Adv.

PROHIBITION OPENS NEW FIELD FOR WOMEN

BY MARIAN HALE

Women have prohibition to thank for opening to them the biggest business field yet discovered—

The tea room, in all its variations.

So says Helen M. Woods, head of the first school ever established to teach tea-room management exclusively.

The tea room's popularity, Miss Woods holds, is just in its infancy. She is confident there is a great future before it.

"Before prohibition," she points out, "a woman couldn't hope to compete with big hotels and roadhouses where drinks were sold, and a self-respecting woman couldn't serve in a place where there was a bar.

Want Plain Food

"Now, since people can't buy drinks openly, they are paying more attention to their food. They're tired of fancy, indigestible French cooking. They want good plain American dishes.

"That's where tea rooms come in.

"The woman who runs a tea room is capitalizing her sex's generations of training in home making. The tea room is essentially a feminine enterprise.

"Thousands of women already are managing tea rooms or automobile inns, connected with their own homes. What's more, they're raising mortgages, educating their children, making themselves financially independent without loss of social position or subjecting themselves to the grind and sacrifices of the wage earner's life.

LOWELL REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

The next meeting of the members of the Lowell real estate exchange will be held at the Richardson hotel on the evening of February 6. Supper will be served at 6.15 o'clock and the repast will be followed by a brief business meeting after which there will be a general discussion of bills now before the state legislature, which have to do with real estate. There will be no speaker at the meeting as it is felt that a general discussion of legislative matters would be more beneficial to the members at the present time. The arrangements for the meeting are in charge of the officers of the organization.

Carmen to Demand Better Wages

convenient point, probably Boston, and draw up their formal new wage demands.

Contrary to general opinion, Mr. Boyle said today that the agreement on wages with the Eastern corporation does not expire on March 31 next, as reported this morning in another newspaper, but May 1, instead.

The company and the unions, however, have an agreement whereby when new wage scales are sought, the company is to have formal 30-days' notice from the unions containing new wage schedule demands and explaining why they are desired. The unions grant the company thirty days in which to make answer. That is why reports were current this morning that the wage question was about to come to a head on March 31, but the actual date of the expiration of the present agreement is May 1.

The general conference committee, of which Delegate Boyle is a member and which was attended by the Lowell man yesterday, is composed of 11 members, who represent more than 2,000 employes of the Eastern lines.

"Increased cost of living and housing, high tariffs and the coal situation with its stupendous increase in cost to the consumer," were advanced by the delegates yesterday as reasons for the desired increase in wages.

Mr. Boyle said today that the men have formulated no plans of any kind as to what a decent increase in wage schedule figures would actually call for. There is always a difference in opinion as to what men employed on different divisions desire or believe they should have.

The general conference committee members yesterday, however, agreed that the Eastern Massachusetts employes are underpaid in comparison with employes in the same industry in other nearby localities. Members of the railway unions are emphatic in saying that many operators of electric cars on Eastern lines have had to draw money out of small bank accounts during the past winter in order to purchase common necessities of life.

The fact that wages in street railway circles have not advanced in line with numerous other active industries in other parts of the country, leads the Eastern employes to feel that they ought to be dealt with a little better each week when they call for their pay envelopes in the future.

Men at yesterday's Boston meeting emphasized the fact that several street railway corporations in other states, including New York, Pennsylvania and even in Rhode Island, are paying their employes all down the line more money each week than the men right here in Lowell are receiving for the same, if not more arduous work.

That is one reason why the Eastern employes are preparing to line up solidly for a real wage increase when their present agreement with the Eastern corporation expires on May 1.

The fact that nearly all Eastern street railway men are underpaid in comparison with employes in the same industry in other nearby localities, was brought out strongly at yesterday's meeting, but no official action was taken to tabulate or publish comparative figures at this time. The real work will be done between now and Feb. 15, when the delegates meet again to announce their first real campaign program and present actual and convincing figures of the expenditures made by members of the carmen's unions in meeting their present living expenses.

The conference committee has organized with these officers:

George E. Keegan, Lawrence, chairman; John R. Machado, Fall River, vice-chairman; Robert J. Egan, Quincy, recording secretary; Charles A. Taylor, Reading, secretary-treasurer and business agent.

Thomas F. Boyle of this city, John J. O'Neil of Dedham, Rufus Kennedy of Haverhill were elected auditors.

The conference committee, before adjoining yesterday, considered the question of the excise tax levied by the state on street railways. This tax was roundly condemned as a burden on the roads and a resolution was adopted by the general conference committee requesting the legislature to permanently drop the tax.

BLOOD WAS THIN STOMACH UPSET

Tonic Treatment Banished the Symptoms and Brought Complete Health

Dyspeptics are always pale. Perhaps we should say that pale people generally have stomach trouble which would be the right way of putting it because in a very large number of cases thin blood is the cause of the indigestion.

The entire economy of the body depends upon a supply of rich red blood and like the rest of the human machine the stomach depends on this blood stream. When the blood is thin the nerves are undernourished and the digestion impaired.

"For eighteen months I suffered from nervous breakdown and general debility," says Mrs. L. J. Lovlker of No. 7 Park avenue, Lowville, N. Y., and my doctor told me that my blood was thin. My stomach was upset all the time, I felt light headed, my spine was sore in every joint and my limbs ached.

"I saw two specialists and took several kinds of treatment without benefit until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which I had read about in the papers. In a couple of weeks I noticed that they were helping me and I took them until I was well. All the symptoms have disappeared and I gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to others."

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tell about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box.—Adv.

WAS FINED $25 FOR ASSAULTING HIS WIFE

Irritated and aggravated by the alleged refusal of his wife to provide his meals for him, Anthony Piper resorted to a forceful method of revenge last Friday evening, beating her severely with a stove poker and otherwise treating her inhumanly. As a result, he appeared in the district court this morning and paid a $25 fine for assault and battery. The story as told by the wife and her two minor daughters was to the effect that Anthony, who works nights in a local mill, came home on the particular morning in question and when the breakfast table failed to reveal any eatables Mrs. Piper was subjected to a hard beating with the poker. She attempted to retaliate by means of a pitcher, which was unceremoniously dashed from her hand to the floor.

The couple have been married about three years, and testimony was offered to show that they had lived in harmony for about three months. Both have been married before and have children by former unions. The husband, in his testimony, said that the wife "shipped" everything he purchased to her mother, including bread, pies and other foodstuffs. The court could find no justification for assault in this fact, however, and ordered the imposition of the fine.

Another assault and battery case, which consumed a considerable portion of this morning's session, involved Natalina Beaksa, who paid a fine of $12 on a finding of guilty to the complaint. She is alleged to have battered her landlady with her clenched fist and to have inflicted severe punishment on her face and body. The landlady testified that the assault resulted from her resenting the accusation of Natalina that the landlady was responsible for having Mrs. Beaksa's husband sent to jail for illegal keeping.

John O'Connor of Concord, N. H., was given a sentence of four months to the house of correction, suspended for a year. He pleaded guilty to drunkenness. James Burns pleaded guilty to drunkenness and not guilty to assault and battery. He is being held in bonds of $500 until tomorrow.

Charles and Mary Abdullah, charged with illegal sale, will appear before the court on Jan. 27, at which time the result of the analysis of the seized liquor will be made known.

GUILTY OF MURDER

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 23.—John W. Hudson, Jr., Whitehaven, Tenn., dairyman, was found guilty today of murder in the first degree in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Hattie B. Ferguson of Memphis, with whom Hudson was alleged to have been infatuated.

The verdict returned after deliberation of little more than an hour, carried with it a death sentence.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR RELIEF OF POOR

The Salvation Army in its work to aid the suffering and help the poor has expended all of the Christmas money collected and now is using its general fund to support this work. In order to get more money for this good and absolutely necessary work an entertainment is to be held at headquarters February 27th. Tickets for this entertainment will be on sale shortly and the better the sale the more needy cases assisted.

To those accustomed to charity work cases of unbelievable suffering and poverty are every-day occurrences, but Adjutant Arnold ran across one that he believes the saddest in the city. A man, who up to a year ago had always been able to support himself and his wife and family of five, is now confined at home, unable to work, with what is believed an incurable disease. During the past year his little savings have been used up and now his family is without fuel, food or clothes. The household furnishings have been sold, little by little, until only a few are left. They have one bed only for the whole family. Various relief organizations have helped to keep them in food but have not been able to give them beds or bedding. If anyone in the city has an old bed or bedding that is not in use and would notify the Salvation Army they will see to it that this feature of the case is remedied immediately.

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Colds

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion

THE two ailments that people generally regard as of the least importance are in reality the cause of most serious illnesses and of the greatest proportion of deaths.

They are constipation and common colds. Many doctors now believe that colds, tonsilitis, a touch of malaria will cause constipation, instead of constipation being their cause. The fact remains that you seldom have a cold without constipation, due to general congestion. The only way to avoid colds is to keep up your vitality. You usually catch cold in the winter if you are run down. Therefore in cold weather exercise more; eat more fatty foods; drink four to six glasses of water a day; keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

You are also less liable to colds if your system is free from the intestinal poisons of constipation, so empty the bowels regularly with a plain vegetable laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

At the first sign of a cold, at the first few warning sneezes, take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin and the congestion will be gone in a few hours. Don't wait until the cold has a grip on you. Mr. Henry Dean, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., cured a stubborn cold in just that way, and Mrs. Alice Corlbrey of Haskell, Okla., uses it effectively for all the small ills of her family, such as constipation, biliousness, headaches, dizziness, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and all children like it. Before you again resort to cold remedies containing narcotics try a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist will supply you, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

$150,000 LOSS In BOSTON FIRE

Two Firemen Injured in Fighting Threatening Blaze in Leather District

Greater Part of City's Fire Fighting Resources Taxed for Many Hours

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Fire that threatened to destroy a block of six-story loft buildings in the heart of the shoe and leather district was brought under control early today after the greater part of the city's fire-fighting resources had been taxed for many hours. The McDonald building on Lincoln street was swept by flames, and adjoining buildings were damaged. The loss was estimated at $150,000.

The dense fumes of burning leather hampered the firemen, and explosions of hot air routed them in many attempts to reach the sixth floor of the building where the fire originated. Two firemen were injured, one struck on the head by a falling brick, the other cut by flying glass.

The chief loss was sustained by R. E. McDonald & Co., and A. Shapiro, both wholesale shoe dealers.

CALLS FRENCH INVASION OF RUHR BIGGEST ACT OF INTERNATIONAL FOLLY SINCE GERMANY'S MAD ACT

Isaac F. Marcosson Says No Peace Can Come to Europe Until German Reparations Question is Entirely Settled—Interesting Story of German Collapse and World Security—Speaker Frank and Blunt in Declarations

Declaring the French invasion of the Ruhr the biggest act of international folly since Germany plunged the whole world into war, and that no peace, territorially or economically, can come to Europe until the German reparations question is entirely settled, Isaac F. Marcosson, correspondent and writer of world-wide repute, told an intensely interesting story of German collapse and world security at the Memorial Auditorium last evening, where he appeared as a speaker in the Moses Greeley Parker fund of lectures and entertainments.

He had been secured for two lectures in this year's course, the first to be upon the subject, "The Changing East," but events in Europe have approached the crisis stage so rapidly during the past fortnight that he asked permission to discuss that question rather than the topic originally decided upon and it met with instant and hearty approval.

That Europe's present chaotic condition—the most serious state of affairs since the invasion of Belgium—is entirely due to the blunders of the politicians who drew up the treaty of Versailles; that there is a continuous ring of hate on the continent today; that England has withdrawn all support of France in her latest move to force the reparations issue; that Germany's morale is disrupted almost to the point of racial disintegration and that unless France obtains some economic relief from her invasion of the Ruhr her standard of currency will drop to the level of the mark and the ruble, were but a few of the startling assertions made by Mr. Marcosson in his vivid picturization of present-day events.

It was not a pleasing picture painted by the famous writer. It did not possess any highlights of peace and happiness or contentment, but rather was filled in with ever deepening shadows—shadows of distrust and fear, shadows of contempt for human life, shadows of hunger, of low morality standards and depleted treasuries and worthless currency. Mr. Marcosson was frank and blunt in his declarations and told the story of the Europe of today from the standpoint of hard, uncompromising economic facts.

"The world today needs solvency and sanity," were the closing words of the speaker, but they summed up a legion of facts and statements tending to show the low economic ebb of European life.

"The invasion of the Ruhr may be approached from two points,' he said, "from the standpoint of sentiment and from the standpoint of economics. You, doubtless, will say with me that France is justified in her action, that this is her day of vengeance and that she simply is giving to Germany what that country gave to her in such fearful measure during four long years of war. France suffered horribly during the war. One million, two hundred thousand of the flower of her manhood paid with their life blood and we feel she has the right to take by force what Germany refused to pay in dollars and cents as reparations. That is one side of the question, the sentimental side.

"But there is another side which must be discussed with all sentiment forgotten. It is the brass-tacks angle, the cold facts side, the economic aspects of the invasion. From this standpoint, then, let us discuss it, and hear me when I say it is the biggest act of international folly since the day Germany plunged the world into bloody warfare. For what has it done? It has stirred up smouldering hate and fanned it into living monsters; it has unified the German people as they have not been united since the day of armistice and it has awakened in the Hungarians a desire to pay back Rumania for wrongs perpetrated in other years.

"France has gone into the Ruhr 'on her own.' England is against it because of a fear of losing German trade, perhaps, but nevertheless, against it. And what can France hope to win by this invasion? Unless she is able to replenish her money vaults she faces economic ruin and will see the franc slide down below zero and seek the level of the mark and the ruble."

Before attempting to discuss the Ruhr invasion, Mr. Marcosson gave many intimate thumb-nail sketches of great European and English statesmen who have played prominent roles in the after-war period—Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Orlando, the assassinated Rathenau and of Hugo Stinnes, German financier, who he characterized as a combination of Morgans, Harrimans and Ryans and the second richest man in the world today.

"I was born in the state of Kentucky," said the lecturer "and was brought up at the feet of one of the greatest groups of silver-tongued orators this country has ever seen or heard. I have listened to all the famous speakers of my time, but all pale before the witchery and the compelling voice of Lloyd-George. He is the greatest orator, in my opinion, of all time, the greatest salesman the world ever has known—he could sell fur coats in the heart of Africa without half trying. He is a politician for all that and I would not want to have him deliberate or pass upon a treaty which vitally would affect my personal welfare.

"That was the trouble with the treaty of Versailles," he continued. "It was written by politicians, who make a chopping block of Europe and set up boundaries of hate or suspicion. The Austrian empire is a fair example. What used to be one state, now is seven or eight and not one is able to finance itself or live properly. Why? Because each has no standard of economic relations with the other.

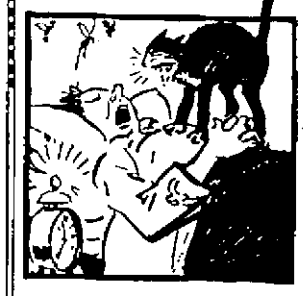

"What is going on today in Germany? There is at the head of the so-called German republic a man named Ebert. He has a fat stomach, growing larger every day and his training to become president was gained through punching holes in leather. He was a harness maker. I have lived in the heart of Africa with savage tribes where human life is held in no regard whatsoever, but I have never seen such a low standard of morale as there is in Germany today. A human life there is snuffed out by a gunman for 35 cents in United States currency and since the armistice there have been more than 649 assassinations of men prominent in the country. Rathenau was just one and he was the one man who might have pulled his country out of the slough of despond in which it now wallows.

"I wish I might say with Coue that the world is growing better, but I have seen it, have lived in it for the past four years almost continuously, and it is not growing better, day by day, in every way it is growing worse," he said in conclusion. "We need solvency and sanity, but the former cannot come until the latter attribute of character is practised by those men who control the destinies of the world."

HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

IT is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board.

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds; and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

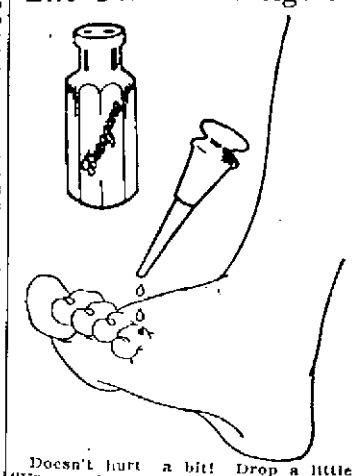

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

ELECTION COMMISSION BILL

Before the legislature at the present time is a bill submitted by the chairman of the Lowell election board and providing for a new system of listing the polls in this city. It provides that the work be done under the direction of the commission and superintendent of police. It is understood that the police officers will do that work within the time allowed for the purpose. That would undoubtedly call for an increase at least temporarily in the supernumerary force and might cost more than the present method of doing the work. Thus far it does not appear that there has been any dissatisfaction with the system that has been in force, either on the ground of accuracy or of expense. We doubt whether the work will be better done if placed in charge of the police officials. It might, however, give the police a better insight to the affairs of the people and make them acquainted with conditions which should require their attention in their police capacity. There is also in the bill a provision for an increase of salary, but it would seem that this matter should be left entirely to the city council.

In some cities this work is done by the police and done well, it is said. After a time, the system might work well here also. If the same officers, as far as possible, were called upon to do the work every year, in time they would become proficient and gain a valuable knowledge of the people of the city. If this knowledge could be drawn upon to aid in the collection of poll taxes from those who fail to pay, the system might eventually prove preferable to the other.

AGAINST CHILD LABOR

Child Labor day inaugurated in 1906 has been observed every year since on the last Sunday of January. This year, it will be a three-day event. On Saturday, 27th instant, it will be observed by the Jewish Synagogues, on Sunday, 28th, in the Christian churches, and on Monday, 29th, in the schools of some states. This year an effort will be made to impress upon the lawmakers of the country and the public in general the necessity of a constitutional amendment by which child labor would be prohibited in every part of the United States. It is a pitiful condition that holds one million children between the ages of 10 and 15 years at work in factories during long hours each day. Thus they are employed in a form of servitude that stunts their growth and weakens their health. They are also deprived of the education to which they are entitled so that they grow up in ignorance that endangers the state as well as their own morals. Child labor is most common in the cotton fields and the cotton factories of the south. These children are to be our future citizens and in order to promote their welfare and enlightenment as safeguards of the state, the law should protect them against this system, which is the nearest approach to chattel slavery that has come down to the present time in any part of the this country. It is necessary to protect children against exploitation whether by the greed of the parents or of employers. The settlement of this child labor question would go far toward putting the southern cotton mills on the same basis as those of the north. The amendment should be adopted as soon as possible. Other methods adopted by congress have failed to stand the test of constitutionality.

THE WORLD NO GOOD?

It was a Lynn man arrested for drunkenness who tried to hang himself in his cell and who when revived at the point of death said "the world is no good and I want to get out of it."

It is noticeable that the man was arrested for being intoxicated. He probably had been drinking hooch, which makes the ordinary person almost crazy. Nothing that a man may say in such a condition is surprising. If the world seems dark and friendless to any particular individual, the fault lies with the individual, not with the world. Our world has its joys and sorrows, its ups and downs, its prosperity and adversity; but the man who finds only sorrow, suffering and adversity in the world has nobody but himself to blame. The morose and pessimistic look upon the dark side of things, refusing to see the silver lining to every cloud. The man who abuses his health and his mental faculties by drinking strong or even poisonous liquor is doing perhaps the one thing most likely to bring him into trouble and to land him in prison. Those who lead law-abiding lives and make the best use of their faculties in grasping the opportunities that surround them will seldom have cause to complain of the world or the opportunities its offers.

He who can thus despise the world or himself as does the Lynn man, must have a very vague idea of the world and of his own relation to the Supreme Being on whom he must place his dependence. If he tries to live according to the dictates of virtue and right reason, he will find unfailing sources of cheerfulness and joy and will never sink into the slough of despond, nor regard life as a burden nor the world as a perpetual prison.

ERADICATING RADICALS

"Eradicate the radical" is the advice of Rev. Jones I. J. Corrigan, S.J., in speaking before the Old South Forum in Boston, and this, he says, is what the conservative labor unions are doing in order to prevent the radicals from boring from the inside.

Speaking on the "Aims and Claims of Labor" he gave some very plain and logical statements not only as to the rights of labor, but as to the means of preserving industrial peace. This, he says, will come only from giving labor a part in profit-sharing and management so that labor will have an interest in production as well as the employer. It is undoubtedly a practical plan, but it cannot be applied while employers adopt the attitude of Bourbon reactionaries. This distinguished authority on economics says that this plan would also overcome radicalism and communism which are but quack remedies for existing conditions.

There are conflicting news despatches from Europe at present such as were common during the war. Those who wish to avoid deception can judge of the sources from which the news comes. Much of it is propaganda favoring one side of the other so that these colored appeals will have to be taken with a grain of salt.

BIG RAILROAD CASE

The courts at Chicago are to try an interesting case in the near future that will be almost without precedent, as it brings for the first time a test case as to the validity of the decision of the Railroad Labor board. It will be remembered that this board ruled that the railroads under the transportation act had no right to contract with outside firms for the operation of its shops or in making equipment repairs. That decision has greatly hampered the railroads that have since settled with the strikers for the reason that they are not allowed to have their work done by contract in outside shops. The action now instituted will involve five parties, namely, the United States Labor board, the National Union of Shopworkers, several railroad companies, contractors engaged by the railroad companies to operate their shops, and the employes of the shop contractor organized in a non-profit labor corporation entitled the Associated Employes of Beach Grove, Inc. The case will be watched with considerable interest as the decision will have a far-reaching effect.

LOCAL WINTER SPORTS

Fort Hill park offers exceptional opportunities for arranging winter sports. The steep declivities of its sides leading down to winding valleys offer an opportunity for long toboggan slides and ample room for ski jumping and other winter sports. No effort has been made to develop such sports on Fort Hill in the past, with the exception of one year in which a toboggan slide was constructed by the park department and proved very popular. Thus far coasting has been the principal winter sport on the park; and the boys and girls have managed to have a fine coasting route from the summit of the park to the Concord river on Rogers street which is over one-eighth of a mile in length. Slides of equal length might be made available on the east side of the park; but it will require the attention of a committee skilled in winter sports to lay out such courses with a view to convenience and the minimum risk of accidents. Winter sports are becoming very common in New England and Lowell should have a share in the fun.

STAND BY FRANCE

Russia is assuming a threatening attitude, probably as an aid to Germany in trying to defeat France. Lenine is never able to maintain control or show that he can conduct the government in peace unless he is spreading a scare against the danger from outside sources. He wants the aid of Germany and if he had it, he would set out to capture Poland. It is difficult to say what will result from the present situation in Europe, but in all fairness the allies should support France in her effort to compel Germany to pay a reasonable indemnity. If Germany gets any sympathy in her refusal, the trouble may result in war. The allies made the mistake in the first place that they did not seize sufficient German territory to induce her to pay the indemnity on condition that it would be released when the payment was completed.

THE AUTO SHOW

The automobile show at the Kasino offers an opportunity to all those interested to see the latest models and the various kinds of cars sold in Lowell. It may be stated too, that all the best makes of cars are sold here by the enterprising dealers. The exhibition indicates the progress made in this direction by the automobile dealers who have been steadily building up the business from year to year.

The Reverend Doctor Grant, Episcopal clergyman of New York, refuses to recant and will therefore undoubtedly be given the freedom he may want outside the denomination merely to rant, rant, rant! The decent way for Rev. Mr. Grant would have been to resign when he found he could no longer accept the doctrines he professed in his ordination.

The United Textile council has called upon the American Woolen company to grant an increase of wages. The Woolen company has been showing unusual prosperity and will doubtless comply with this demand. It is expected to restore the scale in force in 1920, which should be quite fair now.

Municipal ownership of the railways has been a great success in Detroit and it is hinted that it might be an equal success in New York city. It certainly might be if the system were placed under the supervision of a man as well qualified as ex-mayor Cousens, now United States senator.

A Thought

The two sentiments which most inspire men to good deeds are love and hope. Religion should give freer and more rational play to these two sentiments than the world has hitherto witnessed; and the love and hope will be thoroughly grounded in and on efficient, serviceable, visible, actual and concrete deeds of conduct.—Charles W. Eliot.

A Family Affair

Judge Willet of Cedar Rapids, Ia., has granted a divorce to twin sisters, Norah May Bricker and Bernice Bricker. The sisters were married at a double wedding ceremony, were separated from their husbands the same day and each wife brought suit accusing her husband of beating her. Both sisters engaged the same attorney and both husbands tried to hire him. Each wife testified for the other and both received their decrees at the same time.

Commuters

It's dark by five; the little station lights
Blow cheerful, yellow bubbles through the black
Sweep of a flying landscape; in the cars
They sit, hemmed in, worn from the weary day.
Laden with bundles; in their listless hands
The evening papers, with their thick, black smell
Of printer's ink.
Beyond the windows lie
Cool hills of snow, topped starkly with great trees.
And ice-fast pools of water, shining out,
Beneath the silve riorches of the stars
Long roads twist by, deep-rutted; houses gleam
In homely splendor, briefly glimpsed and passed;
And sleigh bells sound like elfin laughter; all
Rooted most serenely, by the wide night sky.
Thus they come back; each to his bit of land,
Each to the arms that welcome; to the shout
Of rosy youngsters, racing to the door;
Each to that spark of fire upon his hearth—
The flame that lights an answer and a dream
Within his soul. Thus they come back to peace,
By snow-soft footways to The Open Door—
The humble door, the guardian door of Home.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It will become necessary for this year's city council to give careful consideration to a number of projects, each important in its own right, but which, in bulk, total many thousands of dollars. Not only will careful consideration be necessary, but, also, the sifting process will be a requisite, for the city's borrowing capacity will not allow all of them to become realities. Among a number of propositions for permanent improvements already advanced there stand out prominently: 1, a new fire alarm signal system; 2, a new school in the South End district; 3, a new fire house in the Oaklands, for which land already has been acquired, and 4, a combination police, fire and ambulance headquarters on the present Washington Tavern site.

These four propositions are accompanied by a number of others, including new park and playground areas in Pawtucketville and a drill ground opposite the new high school, not to mention permanent street improvements. A new fire alarm system and a new school to replace the present Edson building would just about take up all the money available and therefore, sifting will be necessary before any loans are authorized. This is a year of retrenchment, city fathers say, and with so many propositions already advanced, some will have to give way. It is thought that a new fire alarm signal system will receive first consideration, inasmuch as it is receiving daily agitation and seems a real necessity from the standpoint of public safety.

A fire alarm signal box of the vintage of 1871, more than half a century old and made when fire boxes were few and far between and the present system was a thing of wonderment, still is in use and is situated on the wall of the Branch street engine house. Its number is 37. Of course it has been subject to considerable change and adjustment during its 50 odd years of life, but withall, it is the same box that was placed in operation in 1871. This fact was but one of several interesting statements anent the present fire alarm system related by Capt. Tom Conway last week at the conference between the city council and underwriters and Gamewell system representatives and only served to accentuate the crying necessity of a new system.

Chicken is the favorite American food, with ham and cabbage second. So discovers Mrs. Mary C. Pickett of New York's Hotel McAlpin, after checking up by mail, hotels, clubs and restaurants all over the country. A minority favored roast beef, turkey and ice cream. Apple pie, once indisputably the national dish, seems to be fallen on evil days. Probably that's because part of the core usually shows up in the pie. I am rather surprised that Mrs. Pickett did not mention "hot dogs."

Maybe we shouldn't crow so loudly about the efficiency of the postoffice in carrying letters for the cheap price, two cents. Part of the cost is invisible. The senate passes the postoffice appropriation bill for 655 million dollars, or $5.30 a year for each American, $21.20 for a family of four. Lowell, I understand, is to get part of this amount for a new building so that we shall not complain.

A prize of $10,000 awaits you if you invent a way to slaughter, more humanely, animals for food purposes. The prize is offered by the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, of New York. Why not run them into a room where they'd be put to sleep by non-poisonous gas and then electrocuted? It might cost a few more cents a head than slitting a hog's throat or stunning a steer with a sledge hammer. But it would eliminate pain. And such elimination is cheap at any price.

Our country is so big, and its activities so varied, that none of us has more than a faint idea of what's going on at any time. This is illustrated in a report showing that a billion cocoanuts a year are grown under the American flag, most of them in our island colonies. Nine cocoanuts a year for each of us. United States and China are the only countries in the world with a "balanced exchange"—self-supporting, able to get along without imports in a pinch.

I learn that the United Women's Wear league is agitating for a way to prevent incompetents from going into business. It might work, in the nature of an advisory board. Such boards already exist, to determine whether or not a new business shall be granted credit. These organizations are known as mercantile agencies as a rule. France once had a law, by which a government officer advised all persons planning to enter business. He also passed on their competency and financial ability. Anyone with common-sense will consult experts, for counsel, before paddling out in his own canoe. The league has others in mind. If some law or rule of this kind were established, there would be fewer short-lived business ventures. But the incompetent man can do what he pleases with his money, as otherwise he would be deprived of equal opportunity with others.

Old timers who have known Maggie Cline at the old Music Hall will regret to learn that she is battling with what is supposed to be a fatal illness at Red Bank, N. J. Some twenty five years ago she was a star attraction in Lowell, always drawing an uproarious house. A native of Haverhill she always liked to give her best in that and the neighboring cities of Lawrence and Lowell.

INTERESTING LECTURE AT NORMAL SCHOOL

A very interesting lecture was given at Normal school yesterday afternoon by Mr. Edwin A. Hoadley of the faculty on the subject, "How I Learned to Draw." This lecture was the fourth of a series of ten lectures of "Personal Development" and was very interesting.

Mr. Hoadley spoke of the difficulties to be overcome in the learning of the art of drawing, of the unjust criticisms and the indifference of others that often discourages the artist, and he told how many a promising artist has had his future killed by these causes. He told how he had learned to draw, from the stage where he just made "a few marks on paper" up to the present time, and stated that all that was necessary was practice. "Masters are born, I believe," he said, "but anyone can draw, and will, after practice, be able to bring out their idea."

He spoke of the great help that good books are to anyone, the experiences of a lifetime put down in concise form for our study, and all that we need to do to benefit by these experiences is to read the books.

For teaching, Mr. Hoadley emphasized the fact that gentleness was absolutely necessary to get good results from children and that the success of the students at the Normal school, the future teachers, would be great if they followed this rule.

Mr. Hoadley illustrated his lectures in crayon, using only three colors, black, white and blue. His drawing comprised scenes from many lands; including the following: a scene on the Florida Keys, a Venetian scene along the Grand canal, Roman helmets and swords, Sinbad, Brownies, the genii of Aladdin arising from the lamp, a storm at sea, and one of this locality with the moon brightly shining on the river.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

FLAWS

On the whole my table manners aren't so bad,
I am silent in consuming consomme,
At an early time of life I quit eating with my knife
And I think I use my fork the proper way.
I don't ever cut my salad, I don't stoop
To inhale my coffee audibly as some.
But—I like to crumble crackers in my soup
And I like to peel an orange with my thumb,
I vum
I'd rather peel an orange with my thumb!

I spill very few potatoes on my vest,
I drop very little gravy in my lap,
And mother's teaching lingers so I do not lick my fingers,
Nor get pumpkin pie, regardless, on my map;
By experience my manners have become
Quite refined enough for almost any group,
Still—I like to peel an orange with my thumb
And I like to crumble crackers in my soup
Poor dupe
I like to crumble crackers in my soup!

There are things that social training cannot cure,
There are vulgar tastes that cannot be denied,
And though otherwise in terror of the slightest social error,
Here's a case where all conventions are defied,
Though it wreck my whole career beyond recoup,
Though my hostesses and hosts look very glum,
I shall always crumble crackers in my soup,
I shall always peel an orange with my thumb,
Ho hum,
I just love to peel an orange with my thumb!

TENNIS CHAMP IN NEW ROLE

No, gentle reader, this is not a peek into the private life of William T. Tilden, international tennis champion, but merely a view into the rehearsal of "Duley." Tilden will appear in the play when it is given in Philadelphia for the benefit of the Germantown Academy. The young "lady" is George Demitson, a very charming "Duley."

SOUTH END CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Members of the South End Social and Athletic club held a largely attended meeting Sunday. The officers were reelected for the ensuing term, routine business was transacted and the following committee was appointed to act jointly with the Lowell Advertising club in conducting the winter carnival at Fort Hill park this week. William McGreevey, Thomas O'Day, Bernard Conners and William McDermott. It was voted to conduct a ladies' night on January 31. At the close of the meeting baseball was discussed and the following committee was appointed to organize a baseball team for next summer; Frank Roane, John Cordingly and Thomas Hickey.

THE BOSTON AUTO SUPPLY COMPANY

One of the busiest automobile supply marts in or near Lowell, with a record of nine years' activity in local fields of supplying accessories of all kinds, is the establishment known as the Boston Auto Supply Co., located with headquarters at 96 Bridge street and branch department quarters at 73 Bridge st., Centralville.

The names of Joseph M. McGarry and Owen McGarry are familiar to the auto world hereabouts, and, in fact, all over New England, for the Boston Auto Supply depot on Bridge street has become known for miles around as famous for its service, convenience and splendid management.

All desired parts for standard cars are carried at the central station on Bridge street, which is also headquarters for the famous Pennsylvania vacuum and the Diamond automobile tires for passenger cars and the Goodrich and Kelley-Springfield "solids" for automobile trucks. Tires have advanced in prices this month, and rumors have reached Lowell auto marts that another advance is due Feb. 1.

As special inducements for this week only—auto show week—customers of the Boston Auto Supply store will be allowed to purchase best quality tires of all descriptions at the old prices in effect before the first January advance. Those who want tires but cannot pay for them or do not want them right away, may leave deposits and the tires desired will be saved for them. The prices all the week, whether tires are simply held for customers' acceptance or bought outright for cash will be the old prices that ruled last fall and early winter before the crude rubber prices arose and compelled the tire manufacturers to get more for their products. The crude rubber market is still reported to be short, with no prospects for more of the raw material coming in to supply the 1923 demands at the present time. Prices of best tires today are from 10 to 15 per cent. higher, but old prices will remain for this week at the "B.A.S.C."

The Boston Supply is now carrying a fresh carload of Pennsylvania and Diamond tires this week, and all are now in stock for inspection at the Bridge street service station and store. The company makes a specialty of repairing, supplying batteries, valves, grinding valves, etc. More than 12,000 different piston rings are also carried in stock regularly to fill all demands which vary greatly in and out of season.

The Boston supply is now carrying many special lines for renewing used automobiles and general equipment. No orders are too big, none too small, and where required parts are not on hand, orders are sent for them promptly and quick service usually given in all cases where supplies are desired in automotive quarters.

The concern is now carrying cylinder head gaskets, all sizes of brake lining, even up to the very wide five-inch sizes for the largest trucks made. It is safe to say that the Boston company supplies fully 50 per cent. of the big trucks of Lowell and vicinity with their largest tires and other wants, the location on Bridge street being handy for local as well as through Boston-Lowell-Lawrence traffic.

BORAH FLAYS FRENCH POLICY

Invasion of Ruhr "Ruthless Militarism" and "Offense Against Humanity"

Denounces State Department for Its Policy of Silence and Inactivity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—French policy in the Ruhr was attacked as "ruthless militarism," a violation of the armistice terms and the treaty of Versailles and an "offense against humanity" in a statement issued last night by Senator Borah, of Idaho, a republican member of the senate foreign relations committee. Senator Borah also criticized the state department in what he said, was its policy of silence and inactivity and declared the United States should at least declare its attitude by formally protesting against the French policy.

"This is a situation," said Senator Borah," in which the United States cannot with honor remain silent."

"The first duty of a nation is to protect its life when assailed and its highest honor and glory in victory is to be just to a fallen foe. It is this rule, which distinguishes the savage from the civilized nation.

"It was American principles announced by President Wilson upon which the armistice was signed and it was upon these principles that Germany laid down her arms.

"It was our soldiers that made possible the defeat and disarming of Germany.

"According to these announcements and principles we declared officially and many times that with the German people, as a people, we had no quarrel but a feeling of sympathy and friendship. In other words, we furnished the soldiers, the principles upon which the armistice was based which resulted in disarming and rendering Germany helpless, and we also made definite and certain pledges as to the treatment of Germany. After all that takes place and at a time when Germany has been disarmed, and rendered powerless, her territory is invaded, military rule is established, all of which will bring in its wake indescribable suffering and untold misery to the German people, as a people, and in addition to that, great financial and economic loss to our own people.

"In other words we see the German people turned over to the most destructive and ruthless method of militarism, of arbitrary power, and we do not so much even as record our protest. Certainly we cannot be silent under such circumstances."

IMPORTANT COURSE FOR AUTO OWNERS

Safe driving is one of the aims of the university extension course for automobile owners which will have its first meeting at the Lowell High school on Wednesday, January 24, at 7.30 o'clock. Statistics compiled by the state registrar of motor vehicles, Frank W. Goodwin, indicate that not all accidents occur from carelessness, but that many result from the lack of knowledge on the part of the operator about the mechanism and construction of the car. The purpose of the present course is to eliminate that type of accident as well as to add to the comfort and security of drivers who are already generally capable of handling their cars.

John J. Gildee of Lowell, a recognized automobile expert and experienced lecturer, has been designated by the Massachusetts department of education as instructor of the class. In the ten lectures of the course he will make use of a set of colored charts showing outside views and cross-sections of automobile engines and frames. The various types of cars, the principles of operation, proper care and methods of making road repairs will be discussed in the course. Emphasis will be laid upon the danger and expense arising from the neglect of worn and broken parts.

Plans have also been completed for the offering of a course in English composition in Lowell. The first meeting of this class will also be held at the Lowell High school on Wednesday afternoon, January 24, at 4.15.

This course includes instruction in theory and principles of English composition. The theory is taught by means of written lectures, text-books and the analysis of masterpieces of English art. Practice in application of theory is gained by the writing of expository, biographical and descriptive themes. Mr. Robert B. Masterson of Boston has been designated by the Massachusetts department of education as the instructor of this course.

Membership in both classes is open to residents of Lowell and vicinity. Interested persons may enroll at the first meeting of the classes or previously at the office of Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools.

WATCH FOR THE ORANGE CARDS

THE STORY OF THE SINGLE SIX

The Packard Single Six expresses at last in material form an ideal nearly as old as the Packard organization itself. Almost from the beginning officials of Packard have had the vision of a light car which should have all the qualities possible in an automobile, except those which go with weight and large size. They have demanded a car that should be the maximum in staunchness and reliability, that should insure comfort for driver and passengers alike, be silent and free from vibration, have the ability to travel at sustained high speed over average roads, be as nearly as possible free from weaknesses which require repairs or service over a long period of years, and have the utmost in quiet smartness and elegance of appearance.

The Single Six also sets a new standard for ease in keeping the car in condition, a feature which makes it particularly desirable and delightful for the owner-driver. In every particular the utmost pains have been taken to make a car that will need the fewest possible repairs and adjustments. In addition the parts are so designed and arranged that if trouble does arise every working part can be reached with the greatest ease, and without disturbing other assemblies.

Another great advantage is in the fine balance which makes the Single-Six ideal for a general purpose car. Every car must be a compromise; greatest speed and great economy cannot possibly be built into the same engine. In the new Packard these compromise have been so worked out that the car will meet all the needs of ordinary driving, and still have reserves left. So not only the individual excellencies of the car, but the combination and balance of these excellencies, join to give the Single-Six a general serviceability that is a revelation.

The car is also a triumph in economy. With average gasoline consumption of only one gallon for 17 miles, with the ability to run 2000 miles on a single gallon of oil, and with tire mileage running from 15,000 to 25,000 miles, the car is incomparable in anything like its class.

BROADWAYS WIN FIRST OF SERIES

Butlers, Recent Conquerors of Cadets, Go Down to Defeat by Score of 20 to 16

Great Rally by Upper Gorham Street Boys in Final Period, Feature of Game

Despite a whirlwind rally in a determined last-ditch fight the Butlers went down to defeat before the Broadways in the first of a five-game series before a large crowd at the Crescent rink last night by the score of 20 to 16.

Going into the last period with the count 12 to 4 against them and with few but their most sanguine admirers giving them an outside chance to even half the Broadway onslaught, the Butlers by another demonstration of their ability to fight hardest when the odds are greatest, launched a bewildering attack that brought them within hailing distance of their opponents.

Only for the time lead established by the Broadways in the first and second periods, when they completely outclassed the upper Gorham street aggregation, the rally might have been productive of victory. The great finish made by the Butlers came about with the injection of Jimmie Keenan and Lake Loucraft into the lineup. They had been on the sidelines during the early part of the game. Both were nursing injuries and did not intend to play.

But with their team facing a severe trouncing, the spirit that has made the Butlers famous in athletic competition proved too much for them, and they made way for the dressing rooms, donned their uniforms and got into the battle. Their presence served as a tonic to the other players and stimulated all to greater endeavors.

In the first and second periods the Broadways scored 12 points, with the Butlers negotiating just four points. In the third stanza, or the final 15 minutes of play, the Butlers scored 12 points, or as many as their opponents registered in the first two periods, while the Broadways scored eight points, or four more than were secured by the Butlers, in the first and second sessions.

The advantage of getting the jump, an important factor in any athletic contest, was responsible for the Broadway victory. At the sound of the first whistle the Acre lads went at it hammer and tongs, and a substantial lead was the result. The team work of the Broadways was a treat to look upon. Johnny Randall, Joe Foley, Lockwood and Keyes, veteran lyceum players, who had worked together on many occasions, revived the old combination activity in expert fasion. Dan O'Connor of the Cadets, who has joined the Broadways for the series, fitted into the combination nicely, and contributed his bit to the success of the team. Twohey and J. Connors, other Broadway players, also worked well with the veterans.

Randall's work throughout the game proved a repetition of splendid performances of previous years. He was the high scorer of the night with four baskets to his credit. Joe Foley, the star shooter of former Acre teams, and Lockwood, another veteran, were conspicuous in the scoring line.

The Butlers plugged along earnestly in the early stages, but the team work so conspicuous in the series with the Cadets, was not in evidence until the final period. The team appeared like a ship without a rudder without Keenan and Loucraft in the lineup. The players worked as hard individually as they did collectively later, but the advantages of co-ordination were absence. Billy Maguire and Eddie Donnellan assumed the bulk of the offensive at the outset, and both players did well. Donnellan was the Butlers' high scorer, three from the floor being his contribution. The feature goal of the night, however, was negotiated by Maguire. It was a one-handed toss from the centre of the floor and in successfully negotiating the thrilling stunt the little fellow brought down the house. He also scored another basket. Loucraft, who jumped into the breach in the last session, landed a brace, and Chase was the other Butler to count. Keenan did not score, but he played a whale of a game, and his effective passing figured in several baskets. Dan O'Connor played Keenan, and Keenan played O'Connor. It was some exhibition of coaching, but at that both showed flashes of their well known brilliancy. Mullin, McMahon, E. Foley and Purtell, other Butler players, worked well during their stay in the game.

Three baskets by Randall, with one by Maguire and another by Chase, brough about a 6 to 4 score in the first period. The second found the Broadways traveling at a bewildering clip, putting it all over their opponents. The Butlers were unable to penetrate the Broadways's defense during the entire 15 minutes of play, while the Acre quintet added three baskets to their total. Connors was the first to score and his contribution was a lumber. Twohey and Randall were the other Broadway contributors. The period ended 12 to 4 in favor of the Broadways.

Not a chance for the Butlers was the view expressed by the Broadway followers. Butler rooters looked forward with hope in their charges pulling another one of their garrison finishes. Keenan had hopped into the game just before the second period ended. He was greeted with a vigorous outburst of applause. When the teams came on for the final session Keenan and Loucraft were in the Butler lineup. Their presence instilled confidence into their fellow players as well as their admirers, and shortly after the session got underway the improvement noted in the Butlers' play threw consternation into the Broadway camp. Both teams fought hard for every point and while the Butler offensive was better executed, the Broadways would not be denied and they managed to maintain their lead to the finish. Goals came thick and fast and enthusiasm ran high. Joe Foley was first to break through. Donnellan soon nullified it. Keyes followed with one for the Broadways. Here the Butlers made a determined stand. Three in a row resulted with Loucraft, Donnellan and Maguire scoring in order. The Broadways rallied with a brace by Foley and Lockwood. The Butlers still fighting hard came through with two, one by Donnellan and the other by Loucraft. Both teams were battling furiously, but the big horn sounded, and the teams left the floor amid tumultuous applause.

Gridiron Star Wins Fame as Impersonator of Female Roles

THIS IS NOT HALSEY AND FIANCEE BUT TWO POSES OF DARTMOUTH'S FOOTBALL STAR, ON LEFT, MILLS IN GRIDIRON ATTIRE, ON RIGHT, MILLS MADE UP FOR STAGE.

Julian Eltinge, famous impersonator of female roles, has also won considerable fame in the ring. He is a very clever amateur boxer.

The famous Eltinge, however, has nothing on Halsey Mills, Dartmouth college quarterback, when it comes to the impersonation stuff.

Eltinge first won fame as a boxer, then became the leading impersonator of female roles on the stage.

Mills, in college life, first won recognition on the stage, then came the glory of the gridiron.

Mills for three years has been a college hero at Dartmouth—not because of his athletic prowess, but as a singer, eccentric dancer and impersonator of female roles in the annual college dramatics.

Now he is basking in a double spotlight, that of the gridiron as well as the stage.

Mills' rise to football fame is one of the sensations of the past season. At present he stands as the most picturesque figure in the football world.

Although devoting most of his time to the musical and dramatic activities at Dartmouth, each fall he has reported for football practice and labored faithfully as a scrub—a mere buffer for the varsity players.

Never until last season has he approached the varsity heights. Sent into the Vermont game because there really was no other quarterback available he played as though inspired. The following week he played the entire game against Harvard. The Crimson was hard pressed to win, 12 to 3, in a game featured by the playing of Mills.

His football fame coming at the very close of his career has dwarfed his stage popularity. It is fitting that a valiant scrub for three years should win such recognition from the Dartmouth student body.

WORCESTER TIGERS PLAY IN LOWELL TONIGHT

The Worcester Tigers, led by the inimitable Fred Jean, who are now setting the pace in the National Roller polo league, will come to town tonight, to play the Lowell team at the Crescent rink.

The Tigers have been out in front for two weeks and have been gradually increasing their advantage. The other teams realize that in order to keep in the running they must halt the Jean-led crew.

Capt. Harkins, of the Lowell Five, is out to put a dent in the pennant ambitions of the team from the heart of the commonwealth. He is elated over his team's success in winning over the great Providence team in the Rhode Island city Saturday night, and declares a continuance of the brilliant work which featured that game will soon bring Lowell right up the ladder.

Kid Williams, the Lowell star, who according to the last averages published, was but two goals behind "Wild Bill" Duggan, the leader, is out to displace the Whaler this week. He will travel fast tonight. In an endeavor to increase his average Tonight's lineups will be as follows:

LOWELL		WORCESTER
K. William, lr		lr, E. Pierce
Harkins, 2r		2r, S. Pierce
Hardy, c		c, Jean
Morrison, lb		lb, Mulrhead
Lovegreen, g		g, Conley

A large delegation from the Bon Marche store will attend tonight's game.

ATHLETICS WERE FIRST IN HOME RUNS

If leading the league in making home runs is any consolation to a seventh place team, then the Philadelphia Athletics have rightful claim to that rather meager honor. For Connie Mack's gang topped the American loop in circuit smashes in 1922, campiling 111 of these blows.

"Tillie" Walker and "Ring" Miller were the pace setters for the Quakertown entry, the former crashing out 37 four-ply knocks, and the latter, 21. Then followed Dykes with 12, Welch 11, Hauser 9, Galloway 8, Perkins 6, Scheer 5, and Hasty Naylor, Young, Johnston and McGowan with one each. Of this cluster, Walker ranked second to Kenneth Williams for the league premiership and Miller tied with Hellmann for fourth place. Dykes came in eighth, dividing the honors with Burns of Boston and Falk of the White Sox.

The St. Louis Browns landed in second place in the home-run department, scoring 97 such blows, while New York, aided and abetted by "Babe" Ruth and "Bob" Meusel, was third with 85. Cleveland brought up the rear, making 32 "around-the-sacks" smashes, of which Tris Speaker got over one-third or 11 of them. Much of the success of the Athletics in driving out circuit smashes is due to the layout of the park. Left field is rather short, and the low barrier in front of the bleachers made a home-run wallop only an ordinary hit.

This fault, however, is being remedied. The wall in front of the left-field stands is being made some four feet higher. It will take a much longer drive to drop into the left-field bleachers at Philly this year.

HAS SPLENDID RECORD

Gene Delmont Has Boxed Leonard, Dundee, Tendler and Other Notables

Gene Delmont, the crack Memphis lightweight, came out of his bout with Tony Julian without a scratch and is in excellent condition for his scrap with Johnny Darcy of New York, which will be the feature event at the Moody A. C. show in the Crescent rink Thursday night. The boys will travel over the 10-round journey.

Delmont made such a big hit in Brockton against Julian that Matchmaker Billy Goodrich of the Brockton A. C. has matched him to box Oscar Deschamps, Canadian lightweight champion for the feature bout in two weeks.

Delmont is a legitimate lightweight. He scaled 133 pounds while Julian, who was considered a lightweight, weighed 142 pounds. This is a great disadvantage and was the only thing that defeated Delmont.

Delmont and Darcy met before and a sensational contest resulted. It was a no-decision affair and both boys claimed a victory, although the newspapers declared the mill a draw. Both boys have agreed to enter the ring at 135 pounds ringside.

The Memphis lightweight has established a remarkable record. He has boxed two 10-round fights with Benny Leonard, lightweight champion; Johnny Dundee, Vincent Martin, K. O. George Chaney, Harry Kid Brown, Joe Tiplitz, Andy Chaney, Matt Brock, Lew Tendler, Frankie Britt, Irish Patsey Cline, Johnny Darcy, Kid Kaplan, Babe Herman and many other stars too numerous to mention.

Delmont is one of the very few boys to defeat Joe Tiplitz and Harry Kid Brown in Philadelphia.

Kid Lewis Wins Again

LAWRENCE, Jan. 23.—Kid Lewis won the decision over Barney Burke in the main bout of the Economy club show here last night. Martin Flaherty of Lowell was the referee.

In the semi-final Young Portell of Lowell won the award over Ray Rancourt of Lawrence. The Lowell boy nearly scoring a knockout in the ninth frame.

In the other bouts, Young Gosselin won over Frankie Mack, both local boys. Jack O'Brien beat Joe Delmont.

HUGHEY JENNINGS OFFERS ADVICE TO BABE RUTH

What ails Babe Ruth? Have the pitchers discovered his weakness? Can Ruth come back? What is his biggest problem?

Can Ruth come back with the old-time wallop?

That is the big question in baseball, particularly from a New York standpoint.

Hughey Jennings, who assists John McGraw in managing the New York Giants, has a system which he believes would soon make Ruth the most-feared batter in the majors.

"Pitchers now realize that pitching fast and on the inside to Ruth is fatal. His terrific swing and his stance at the plate makes such a style soft picking," says Jennings.

"Incidentally, the infield so shifts on Ruth that many a baseblt is gobbled up on him that under ordinary conditions would go safe.

"Ruth cannot hit effectively pitchers who have a good change of pace. This is due to his position at the plate and the fact that he takes a free swing at every pitch.

"What Ruth should do is to mix them up on the pitcher. If I were he I would bug the plate and choke up on the bat. That would make it an easy matter to drop a lot of Texas leaguers into left field, which is entirely vacant because of the way the outfielders shift on him. An occasional bunt would also keep the infield guessing.

"Nothing will help Ruth back into his stride any quicker than fear on the part of the pitchers. Ruth can bring this about if he will forget home runs for a time and content himself with singles and doubles.

"The pitchers now have a decided edge on Ruth, because of his stance at the plate and the fact that he is a free swinger. He should change his style—mix 'em up."

COAST LEAGUE PRESIDENT WILL FIGHT MAJORS

By N.E.A. Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Despite the calm now existing, all is not well between the majors and minors.

Leading the cause of the minor leagues is "Billy" McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast league.

The minors can't see the draft as proposed by the majors. No league has profited more by the sale of players to the majors than the Coast league. So it is no wonder McCarthy can't see the draft idea.

PRESIDENT WM. McCARTHY

New York paid $75,000 for O'Connell, Chicago coughed up $100,000 for Kamm and so on down the line. In the last two or three years the Coast league has profited to the extent of about $200,000 in the sale of players.

The draft price would be about $7500 for a player, which is a lot different from $75,000 and $100,000.

The majors, in order to beat the minors at their own game, have made it permissible to send out 15 players to the minors on option. This would make it possible to develop promising recruits without losing title to them.

President McCarthy says the Pacific Coast league will fight the latest proposal to a finish.

As a matter of fact, McCarthy is just about convinced that the Coast league is entitled to big league consideration.

COUE'S THEORY NOT NEW IN WORLD OF SPORT

Dr. Coue's theory of autosuggestion is far from being new in the world of sport.

The slogan of the Princeton football team of last year was, "Think nothing but victory, then execute it." That is just what the Tigers did.

"Fight, fight, fight," has for years been the watchword of most college teams in all branches of sport.

However, to the late Mike Murphy, most famous of all college trainers, must be given the credit of first introducing the theories of Dr. Coue into sport.

"A team that won't be licked, can't be licked."

That was the precept that he kept constantly in the minds of the athletes who were under his direction. The fame enjoyed by Mike Murphy and the great success of his teams makes it seems as if there were much in the theory of autosuggestion.

WILLARD HAS NEW ALIBI

By N. E. A. Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—"Jack Dempsey won the title from me on a sneak punch."

That is the latest alibi offered by Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion.

Sounds rather reasonable. The surprising thing is that Jess didn't figure it out sooner.

"Dempsey slammed me on the chin as we were coming out of a clinch, after we had been ordered to break clean. His act was contrary to the rules of the Toledo commission.

"After that sneak punch I was through. I didn't know a thing from then on. I was practically helpless. I had dropped my arms to step back clean, when Dempsey let over the illegal punch that decided the championship in his favor."

Riding Winners Great Sport, Says Champion Jockey Lester Fator

LESTER FATOR ON COLORADO MATT.

By N.E.A. Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—"Sport! Try riding winners some day if you want a thrill."

And Lester Fator should know.

This freckle-faced, clean-cut lad of some 21 years is America's champion jockey. He rode to 183 victories in 1922, and has just been sold for $15,000 to the famous Sam Hildreth stables.

Ti Juana, the track that lies just south of the Mexican line and California border, was the scene of many of his last season victories.

He nosed out Jockey Chick Lang of the New Orleans track by one race. All season long they had been balancing back and forth.

Then, as the season slid to a close, a most spectacular finish faced race fans.

Lang had closed his season with one race to the good, Fator had to win the next two to pass him.

"I had Colorado Matt on the race that would tell the tale," he relates, "and we sure stampeded home."

He is now king of the jockies and says they're going to have a hard time outrunning him.

Fator is an Idaho boy and for a number of years has been coming fast.

NO. 19—THE GREATEST PITCHING I EVER SAW

To Walter Johnson goes the credit of pitching the three greatest consecutive games I ever saw a major league pitcher turn in.

Johnson performed his three remarkable pitching feats on September 4, 5, 7, 1908, against the New York Americans in that city.

All that Johnson did was shut out the Yankees, then known as the Highlanders, in three straight games. The peculiar part of the feat was the more Johnson pitched the better he got.

In those days the single umpire system was in use in the major leagues. It was my very great privilege to be entirely in charge of those three games, which I believe stand unequaled from a pitching point of view.

In the old days of the single umpire system, the arbitrators always welcomed pitchers' battles. Since it is necessary for an umpire to cover every play with the single system in vogue, close games in which the pitchers were masters of the situation, always made the work much easier.

While those three games in which Johnson shut out New York on consecutive days were remarkable pitching feats, they were soft picking from the angle of the umpire.

The reason—New York was helpless before Johnson, while Washington would early assume a lead that would make the game secure with Johnson going at top speed. I didn't have to do much running around the bases in those three games, as mighty few players got on.

The first game was played on Friday, Sept. 4, 1908, Washington winning 3 to 0, Johnson allowing the losers only six hits.

The second game was played Saturday, Sept. 5, 1908, Washington defeating New York 6 to 0. Johnson allowed four hits.

In those days Sunday ball was not permitted in New York, both teams enjoying a day of rest, Monday was Labor day, two games being scheduled. In Monday's papers, Joe Cantillon, the Washington manager, announced that if Johnson shut out New York in the third game he would send Walter right back for the fourth consecutive time.

New York used the great Jack Chesbro against Johnson to break the shut-out epidemic. Johnson turned in the best game of the three, winning 1 to 0, New York making only two measly hits.

In the late innings of the game, Johnson was hit on the right arm by one of Chesbro's fast spitballs. The game was delayed about five minutes while Johnson had the arm massaged. He finished the game, but during the intermission the arm became so sore that Cantillon decided not to risk working Walter in the second game of the day.

Three shut-outs in three consecutive games, allowing 6, 1 and 2 hits in each affair, is to my way of thinking a really wonderful pitching feat.

DEMPSEY EXPECTED AT NEW YORK TODAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—New York's population, recently augmented by an influx of heavyweight boxers, temporarily will go up one more today with the expected arrival of Jack Dempsey, the champion of them all. His manager, Jack Kearns, is expected to come in Dempsey's wake tomorrow or Thursday.

Nothing in a business way is expected of the champion until Kearns' advent. When the latter arrives, however, agreements probably will be made for at least two bouts for the champion this summer, one with Jess Willard, from whom he won the title, and a second, providing he survives the first, with one of the aspirants who never held the crown.

Dempsey's second match of the year may be with the winner of the Luis Firpo-Bill Brennan match, which will be held Mar. 12 and still it may be with the survivor of the Floyd Johnson-Tom Gibbons bout, also planned for next month.

There were reports today that Tex Rickard plans holding a bout between Dempsey and Firpo in Argentine, native land of the Latin challenger.

YOUNG MANTY WINS TITLE FROM SUGGS

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 23.—Charlie Manty of New Bedford is the new featherweight champion of New England. He fought Chick Suggs last night a 10-round battle for the title and won the decision.

Manty carried the fight all the way and gave a wonderful exhibition. Manty used chiefly a straight left jab, which Suggs could not seem to stop.

Suggs caught Manty a hard right swing in the seventh round as Manty was stepping along from a missed swing and the New Bedford fighter went to the mat, but he was up almost as soon as he landed.

GOLF HELPS BUSINESS

Golfer Worth $300 More a Year to Employer Than One Who Doesn't Play

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—A golfer is worth at least $300 more a year to his employer than an employe who does not have the physical and moral benefits of that game, said W. A. Alexander of Chicago, pioneer of golf in America, who preached golf as a business investment, at the annual meeting of the Western Golf association.

He declared that the game had such wonderful influence on the player for integrity, generosity and urbanity that it would be a good investment for every business man to see to it at his own expense, that his employes had opportunity to play golf at least once a week.

Mr. Alexander said that the difference he had found in men who played golf over those who had never taken up the game, convinced him that an employer would be the gainer if he actually expended $300 a year on each employe for golf. The returns in honesty, alertness, frankness and refinement would repay such an investment many times over in some cases, and would at least equal the outlay in the least promising man.

The speaker was particularly urgent that the youth of America have the benefits of golf, and offered a handsome cup for the winner of the western junior championship contested annually by golfers under 20 years of age.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES ELECT OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of the members of the Lowell Goodwill Industries last evening, Dudley L. Page was again elected president. The other officers elected were as follows: Vice-president, Judge John J. Pickman; secretary, Miss Emily M. Skilton; treasurer, Henry O Brooks. The new chairmen of the standing committees are as follows: Relief, Mrs. Mary J. Sleeper; store, Mrs. Adena Cluff; religious work, Mrs. Jessie Swapp; auxiliary, Mrs. Alice Joy.

Judge Pickman presided at the business meeting and the report from local headquarters was read by Rev. Leslie C. Beckes, superintendent of the industries. Yesterday was open house at the institution, and many visitors were entertained and shown through the buildings where the splendid work is being carried on.

In his annual report, Supt. Brooks said that more than 90 square feet of additional floor space is now available for the sorting room and 500 square feet has been added to the area of the receiving room. The sales of goods during the past year have increased 36 per cent, and people of eight different nationalities have been aided.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The popular Douglas MacLean, in the popular picturization of "The Hottentot" is the feature attraction at the new Merrimack Square theatre the first three days of the week. It is a comedy of the highest type, those who have read the story finding real enjoyment in the picture. The plot is laid in the Long Island villa of a wealthy couple whose hobby is horses, not "hobby horses" but horses in the flesh. It happens that Sam Harrington, a friend of this couple, is just as devotedly intent on yachting and extremely timid where horses are concerned. At the invitation of Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Guilford consent to take the members of their house party on a yachting cruise. When the day set for sailing arrives, Harrington goes to the home of the Guilfords only to find that they had completely forgotten about his invitation and were preparing to go riding. He is favored with an introduction to Peggy Fairfax, a charming devotee of horses. She is about to take her departure from the Guilford premises when her horse becomes startled and runs away. Harrington follows in a fast automobile and executes a thrilling and amusing rescue.

Some of the members of the party mistake the hero for a famous steeplechase jockey and one of them in particular insists that he try his skill at riding a stubborn horse known as "Hottentot." This he does—for a very short distance—his equestrian abilities soon finding an outlet to the extent that he is thrown over a stone wall in company with the horse's bridle and mane. It was Peggy Fairfax who exacted of him a promise to ride her gallant steed in the following day's steeplechase, she still thinking him the famous jockey that he was not. Realizing his predicament, Harrington, with the aid of a butler, steals Miss Fairfax's horse and feeds it apples and water until he is proclaimed unfit for service. The heroine is heart-broken over the temporary disability of her favorite animal, so much so in fact, that Harrington purchases the "Hottentot" and resolves to ride it in the race. A steeplechase is always thrilling with its bumps and jumps and dashes and splashes, and so it is in the "Hottentot," a race which Harrington wins after a splendid dash from the rear. His prize is the girl.

Ethel Clayton in "If I Were Queen" is the second feature of the bill and contains many beauty scenes of rare worth. A news reel and a fable complete a most interesting program.

THE RIALTO THEATRE

"Rich Men's Wives," a society drama with House Peters and Claire Windsor in the leading roles, and "The Vengeance Trail," with "Big Boy" Williams and Will Rogers, Jr., as the principal performers, comprise an excellent double feature program which opened a two-day engagement at the Rialto Theatre yesterday afternoon. It is one of the best balanced programs of the entire season and introduces a contrast of screen talent that is really entertaining. Other attractions on the bill include Round 2 of "The Leather Pushers," also a snappy Christie comedy and the Rialto News Review.

"Rich Men's Wives," is a picture of society life just as the name implies. It follows the life of a college girl from the time she graduates from college, through an irresponsible marriage and much more irresponsible life. Natural folly, produced by an idle mind and created through an atmosphere of house parties and wild socials tends to wreck the home provided for her by a conservative husband and a parting between the pair results.

Claire is declared the debutante of the season at a horse show and she is thrown in the way of House Peters, a conservative fellow whose love for horses exceeds any other hobby of his.

He immediately falls in love with the young college girl and a marriage is arranged. Everything in the home is placed at the disposal of the young bride but she, trained to irresponsibility and frivolity by foolish parents, cares little for the worldly affairs he has to offer. She is the centre of a social whirlwind and despite the solemn warning of the fretful husband she gradually slips from his grasp into the alluring net laid by a wily schemer. A separation ensues between the couple and it is then that the woman realizes the mistake she has made in throwing up a home life that was worth while. Both see the folly of their life and after a series of explanations and promises everything is patched up to the satisfaction of husband, his wife and their baby boy.

"The Vengeance Trail" concerns a band of ingenious highwaymen who have been taken into custody through the efficient work of "Big Boy" Bronson, depicted by Williams. It is a thrilling story of western life in its wildest phase and brims all over with red blooded action.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Down the merry line of melody, burlesque and dancing acts, with novelty skits in quantity and instrumentalists of high order, come the Keith big wheel performers this week straight to Bridge street, with specially featured acts from top to bottom of an excellent January bill.

It was an eager audience last night with many regulars on hand to extend greetings to our mellow old-time friend, Lew Hawkins, still young and finest of the older vintages of blackface comedians still tripping the vaudeville boards. The Chesterfield of minstrelsy, who brought back memories of Dockstader, West, Skelly and Primrose—with just a touch of Ben Butler and his negro "coon tatters"—was at his best last night in front of an uproarious crowd of friends, old and new. Hawkins has a method of singing odd, ragged ditties unsurpassed, with a touch of levee flavor, but actually Memphis quality where canes and high collars rule in the best colored set. Lew is a welcome visitor this week. May he return again when the wheel moves around once more.

"Tunes and Steps" proved to be an engaging combination of ultra-snappy music, pretty girls in the lineup and some smashing good instrumental music that rang true. The act features a clever company, including the Misses Isabelle, Lillian and Alice; Frances Sylvester, Emmet Paul and Billy Farrell. The band is a real one, with instrumental music of excellent harmony. Late melodies, clever dances with Billy in centre of stage and parading his best, please Keith patrons and provided numerous musical surprises. The dancing is an important part of this act.

Olive Briscoe and Al Rauh, "something of the dance, something of song and something of comedy," came along next in a titled skit, "The Brave Coward." Miss Briscoe stars high, with Rauh very effective in his own peculiar style of entertaining.

Mark Twain sainted "Huckleberry Finn," or Mark's friends were responsible, whichever way you want to put it, at anyhow Charles Keating has taken this familiar character of the boyhood books and pinned it back of the footlights with a setting that makes a genuine appeal. And the Keating presentment is not a caricature, but a real character that takes you by the hand and most appealingly and leads you down the old, old trail back to the summer days down by the mill. Keating has an able feminine assistant to complete the pastoral scene.

A clever playlet, giving Bryan Lee and Mary Cranston something to do and doing it mighty well, comes next. There is music running through the sketch, much of it written by old Will Hough, known on all the big-time circuits for his catchy melodies and fine rhythms, and for just such acts as these handled by the capable and the sympathetic. Miss Cranston, 1922 national prize beauty winner, too, makes a delightful appearance and Lee shines in straight light comedy. "The Honeymoon House" occupies a leading position on this week's Keith offering list.

The well known "Bachelors of Music," William Young and Charles Wheeler, are top-notchers in piano and violin melody refined and also just unrefined enough to be termed jazzy, and Frank Work and company have a good substantial offering in "Three O'Clock in the Morning." Frank's tumbling and agility in freak dancing called for more applause than he received.

THE STRAND THEATRE

"Grandma's Boy," Harold Lloyd's latest comedy, is the headliner at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. It is one of the best productions of his kind shown in this city in a long time and if one is to judge by the reception it was given at both performances yesterday, it is bound to make a hit in Lowell. It is a fun-producing vehicle, which keeps the audience in good humor from start to finish.

"Grandma's Boy" deals with a young man, who since childhood has been dominated by fear, and whose most daring episode up to a certain time was to sing loud in the church choir. While a boy he is being abused by all his schoolmates, and he grows up with fear in his heart and even when he has attained the age of maturity he is the soft-picking of every one in his town. His grandmother, who has watched his steps since his boyhood, realizes that something must be done to rid him of his weakness, and tells him of his grandfather, who likewise suffered from fear in his youth, but overcame it through the use of a charm and later proved his worth during the Civil war. She gives the boy the charm, which has its magic effect with the result that the young man captures single-handed a tramp, who for some time had raised havoc in the town. Having driven the fear out of his heart and being imbued with what he believed to be extraordinary strength, the young man sets out and gives the town bully a bad thrashing. He wins the hand of the girl he loves and all ends well. The play is well worth seeing for those who enjoy comedy.

"Another Man's Shoes," is a melodrama of vital interest. It features Herbert Rawlinson in a duel role and unfurls a story that is appreciated. It deals with a young American who is being held responsible for the murder of a European monarch. He discovers a plot by which he is to be killed, so in order to escape death he hires his cousin to impersonate him. Dodging assassins is the greatest pastime for the impersonator and to appreciate how he manages to evade the traps being set for him one must see the picture.

There is also a pleasing comedy as well as pictures of current events that are very entertaining. "Fun From the Press" is as enjoyable as ever, while the musical selections add greatly to the success of the program.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Al. Luttringer's stock company made an auspicious opening last night at the Opera House when they played "East is West" to a large and very appreciative audience.

Mr. Luttringer, in choosing "East is West" for his opening in Lowell, chose a play that is extremely difficult. A play that could easily be overdone and made into a burlesque by extreme accentuation of the character parts. He evidently was certain of the calibre of his company for they succeeded in giving to those present an entertainment of the highest order, the character parts being played exceptionally well.

The story of the play is simple. The prologue is a scene on a love boat on the Yang Tse river, and it is to this boat that Ming Toy is brought by her erstwhile father to be sold. It is here also that Billy Benson is brought by Lo Sang Kee, a merchant of San Francisco, who is conducting Billy through China. When Billy sees Ming Toy about to be sold to an ugly customer he steps in and induces Lo Sang Kee to buy her and smuggle her into America. The first act brings us back to Lo Sang Kee's house one year after the love boat episode. Lo Sang Kee is notified by James Potter, of the mission, and also a suitor to the hand of Mildred Benson, Billy's sister, that he must get rid of Ming Toy. Lo Sang Kee agrees to this and sells her to Charlie Young, conceited chop-suey merchant. Before he gets her, however, Billy Benson returns and with James Potter's assistance gets Ming Toy to his house where she works as maid to Mildred. When the Bensons awake to the fact that Billy is deeply in love with Ming Toy they decide to send her away. Charlie Young visits them at this time and tells them of his purchase and promises to marry her immediately. To prevent this, Billy announces his engagement to Ming Toy. Charlie Young, to avenge himself on Ming Toy, brings two of his tong men to kidnap her and kill Billy. One of these men is the supposed father of Ming Toy and he refuses to kill Billy on the grounds that Ming Toy is not his daughter but is the daughter of white missionaries from whom he kidnapped her. When this news is told to the rest of the Bensons all objections to her marriage to Billy are removed. As the love affair of James Potter and Mildred has, during the last act, been brought to a successful conclusion, all live happily ever after.

Mary Ann Dentler, as Ming Toy, was charming. She was called upon to act every minute and her performance left nothing to be desired. Her costumes were beautiful, and in her acting she was vivid and sincere. Her smiling pathos being exceptionally well done. Arthur Delord, as Billy Benson, played his part well, making a pleasing leading man to a charming leading lady. He was absolutely sure of his part and his lines were clearly spoken.

Richard Morgan playing the part of the villain, Charlie Young, was the outstanding character of the play. Every time he appeared on the stage brought down the applause of the house. The more we see of him in suitable casts the better we will be pleased.

The company is most decidedly one of the best ever seen on the stage in Lowell and if Mr. Luttringer succeeds in selling plays of the calibre of "East is West" for them he deserves the support that is necessary to make his venture a success.

The scenery was delightfully done, everything clean and fresh and showing the work of a master hand. Mr. H. H. Fish as scenic artist did much to keep the play where it should be. his scenery for the love boat was remarkable, and the house settings in the other acts were well done.

During the first intermission Mr. L. B. Barbydt introduced the general manager, Mr. Al. Luttringer. He told the audience of his plans for the company, and of his experiences in the field of drama for the past 26 years. He also asked them and the public in general for their support in this venture and promised only the best and cleanest plays for their enjoyment.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGLEMANN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N.Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Englemann.

You should give it a fair trial now.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Mr. Allen in his report took occasion to refer to the two special grand juries which he had convened, each of which he discharged without allowing a formal report, alleging irregularities in each instance. ICE CUTTING ON RIVER BLOCKED BY SNOW

All ready but—just waiting.

That covers briefly the situation on the ice runs above the Pawtucket dam opposite the Daniel Gage ice barns today.

The snow that fell during the past 10 days, still remains, or most of it. Not a man or horse or machine has been moved out onto the big chessboard and put to work yet.

Today the field where cutting will begin soon if the weather holds cold enough during the next week, was barren of humans, and only footprints on shore told of the presence now and then of icemen "looking it over."

The qualit, of the ice is good enough on the river stretches, the gang leader: say, but it varies in thickness. In some places on the river runs the ice is 17 inches thick and possibly a little more. In many other spots the thickness varies down to three and four inches and around nine and ten.

In other words, you can't depend upon it being uniform in thickness at any one point without "spotting it," and that would take a week of hard work, with poor results undoubtedly in the end.

Icemen say it has been really unfortunate to think of the quality of ice and that excellent thickness that was to be found a wee or two ago just before the big blizzards came down and choked up all preparations for the cutting. The Gage people were practically ready to harvest one of the finest crops, when the storms interfered.

Word comes today that ice dealers all through Middlesex county are wondering also how they are going to harvest their ice this winter. Here it is nearly February 1, when most of the best ice should be inside the sheds and packed away in sawdust. Yet vast fields of excellent ice that were apparently ready for harvesting two or three weeks ago and which were covered up and buried deeply by the frequent snowstorms, have now become so weak from "rotting" under the thick white blankets that in many fields, like the Merrimack river, it will not hold up the weight of a horse in many places.

A pair of horses went through "rotten" ice of this kind in Billerica last Saturday. Ice dealers say that only a genuine thaw and then a rain and then more cold weather again can save the ice situation on many large waters.

The Gage operations at Beaver Brook continue unabated, with ice averaging around 17 inches in thickness and fine quality. Today hundreds of tons of the Beaver Brook product was hauled to the Gage barns in Pawtucketville for distribution to Lowell customers by pung and wagon.

No ice-cutting has been started at either Hart pond in South Chelmsford or Forge Village. Repairs on the latter ice barns are still in progress to keep the men busy.

The remainder of these employes, according to the French, are of socialistic or communistic tendencies and look upon the French occupation, if not with favor at least without antagonism.

Says Rum Ships Off New York Armed

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The rum fleet anchored off the entrance to New York harbor for nearly two weeks carries arms. This was learned today when the liner Orbita made port after losing five hours picking her way through the liquor squadron in the fog. The first inkling that Captain Clarke had that the fleet was lying off this port came at 2 a. m., when he suddenly heard the firing of rifles, ringing of bells and tooting of horns. Once he had to reverse his engines to avoid running down a small vessel directly in his course. Captain Clarke judged from the noise and flares that the fleet was an imposing one, but he only saw two craft at close range.

Hospital for People of Moderate Means

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—People who cannot afford to pay full prices for hospital treatment but who dislike to enter a hospital as charity patients are to be provided for in this city. At a legislative hearing today directors of the Massachusetts General hospital announced their intention of erecting a new building with 200 beds for the accommodation of such patients, who would pay a moderate sum for treatment. Robert Homans, one of the directors, said it was persons in very moderate circumstances who were most in need of service under existing conditions, as both the rich and the very poor could get all the attention they required.

Jack Daw on Icicle Isle. Chapter 12

Jack worked but a few minutes longer and then, turning to the band of snow men watching him, he said, "There you are! Your snow man friend is just as good as before the sun melted him." The snow men were all so glad that they formed a circle around Jack and gave him three cheers.

"And now," shouted the snow man who had been repaired, "I think we should take our friend and his dog on a trip to Frost Town." And with that, he again summoned the Snow Village Bus and Jack and Flip were soon on their way. "We have to cross a snow mountain," announced the snow man to Jack.

And almost as he said it, Jack saw the mountain a short distance ahead. "My, but that's a funny looking mountain," said Jack. "What are those funny looking things on the two peaks?" "Why, those are caps," replied the bus driver. "Surely you've heard of snow-capped mountains." (Continued.)

Adventures of The Twins

WALLY IN DREAMLAND

AT THAT MINUTE HE HEARD A PLEASANT VOICE SPEAKING. "HOW DO YOU DO, MR. WOODCHUCK?" IT SAID.

Nancy and Nick and Dusty Coat, the fairy sandman, made another trip around to all the sleeping creatures, tucked away so snugly and warm in their beds.

Ever so quietly they shook more magic powder all around the sleepers and then tip-toed out.

Suddenly a queer thing happened. A little trap-door right underneath Wally Woodchuck Groundhog's mattress flew open with a snap and Wally was tumbled pell-mell down a long tube like a coal chute. He thought the world had come to an end or that there had been an earthquake and that he was sliding through a crack right toward China.

"My goodness!" he cried. "Here I thought I was settled for a nice long winter's sleep and this is what happens!"

Wally hadn't time to say another word, for he landed on his head and then rolled over two or three times and stopped. In spite of all his tumbling and bumping and rolling, he wasn't hurt a speck. In fact it all felt rather comfortable ad he was sorry when he found himself at a standstill.

At that minute he heard a pleasant voice speaking. "How do you do, Mr. Woodchuck?" it said. "Or do you prefer to be called Ground? I am Farmer Hoe Mow, at your service. Dusty Coat, the Dwarf, and his helpers, Nancy and Nick, sent me word to expect you by the underground tunnel, so I've been waiting. You must be hungry after your long trip."

Wally had got to his feet by this time with much grunting and groaning, for he was still fat in spite of his lack of provisions.

"Hungry!" cried Wally, rolling his eyes. "Say, mister, that's my middle name. But it wasn't the trip. No, sir! Food's been scarcer than frogfeathers for more'n a month. Dusty Coat put me to sleep with some magic powder and I kinda wish I'd stayed that way."

"Oh, tut," said Farmer Hoe Mow. "I was just about to tell you. The wheat field is on your right, the corn-field on your left, the orchard in front is at your service, and behind you is the garden. We hope to make you comfortable in Dreamland."

...ing at Haverhill to Fix Responsibility for Attempt to Wreck Factory

New Move to Bring About Cessation of Labor Troubles in Shoe Industry

HAVERHILL, Jan. 23.—Interest among the thousands engaged in shoe manufacturing, the principal industry of this city, was divided today between the latest steps toward bringing about a cessation of labor troubles and the attempt to establish the responsibility for the recent attempt to dynamite the Knipe Brothers factory. A hearing was set in the district court for today in the case of John E. Merrick, arrested late yesterday charged with complicity in the Knipe affair.

Merrick, who the police said, was formerly financial secretary of the local branch of the Communist party, conducts an automobile repair shop. In the shop the police claim to have found parts of a clock which fitted the clock work contrivance found enclosed with dynamite in a suit case placed against the Knipe Brothers' factory on Jan. 4.

The Shoe Workers' Protective union will act some time this week on the question of accepting a two years' wage and working agreement drawn up by a sub-committee representing union and manufacturers and accepted by the Shoe Manufacturers' association last night. The agreement would continue the present wage scale except that it would provide time and a half pay for overtime and would prohibit strikes or lockouts, all disagreements to be settled by arbitration.

SOME IMPROVEMENT IN HARD COAL SITUATION

The hard coal situation is still more or less menacing but some of the local dealers are inclined to be somewhat optimistic. During the last few days several cars of hard coal have been received here and are being delivered as fast as possible, orders filled from the waiting list as they were received. Several of the dealers have cars on the way and as soon as they are received the situation will be much brighter, but rail transportation is very unreliable and the cars may not be in for weeks.

There is enough soft coal on hand to keep those who use boilers supplied over the emergency, and if all that had steam and hot-water heating plants would use this soft coal it would leave the hard coal for those who cannot use anything else.

The delivering of coal is the main item with those who have any on hand, one dealer reporting that he is using 19 horses and 6 trucks but is unable to deliver but half what this equipment would usually deliver. Deliveries are slowed up owing to the fact that in many cases it is necessary for the drivers to shovel out walks leading to the coal bin window and to shovel out around the window itself. If the people who order coal would see to it that everything is in readiness for the men when they come, the deliveries would be speeded up considerably.

Insofar as coal delivery is concerned, Centralville is practically cut off from the rest of Lowell. Sleighs loaded with coal cannot get through the downtown streets and across the square and trucks can only go as far as the car tracks go. They cannot leave the tracks because the roads not plowed are impassable.

Mr. D. T. Sullivan of the coal company of that name states that the only way that coal could be delivered there would be to make two deliveries, send the coal on a truck as far as the truck could go and the transfer it onto a sleigh and have the sleigh deliver it. The cost of doing this would be almost prohibitive. If the people of this section who must have coal would get a pung or a light truck and go up to the coal yards they could get the four or five bags necessary to tide them over until conditions are better for regular deliveries.

MAYOR AND CITY MARSHAL QUIT

Resignations at Harrison, Ark., Follow Week of Control by Citizens' Committee

Latter Organized to Halt Burnings and Other Depredations Along Railroad

HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 23.—Conditions along the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad today were more firmly in the grip of citizens openly opposed to striking workmen on that road after the resignations here last night of J. L. Clute, mayor; George Minicus, city alderman, and William Parr, city marshal, and endorsement of the work of the "citizens' committee" here by a mass meeting at Eureka Springs. Armed volunteers continued to patrol Harrison street and the roads leading into the city.

Mayor Clute's resignation will become effective Feb. 5, while immediate successors to Minicus and Parr were selected by a meeting of the city council.

The resignations follow a week of virtual control here by a "citizens' committee" selected last Monday night by armed men from points along the railroad with the announced purpose of stopping burnings and other depredations which have tied up service along the line.

At Eureka Springs a committee of 12 was selected to call before it any person suspected of having any connection with attempts to hinder operation of the railroad. A resolution was adopted which commended the action of the "citizens' committee" which met in Harrison; rebuked all "utterances in sympathy with the continuance of the strike" and requested each citizen to pledge his support to the M. & N. A.

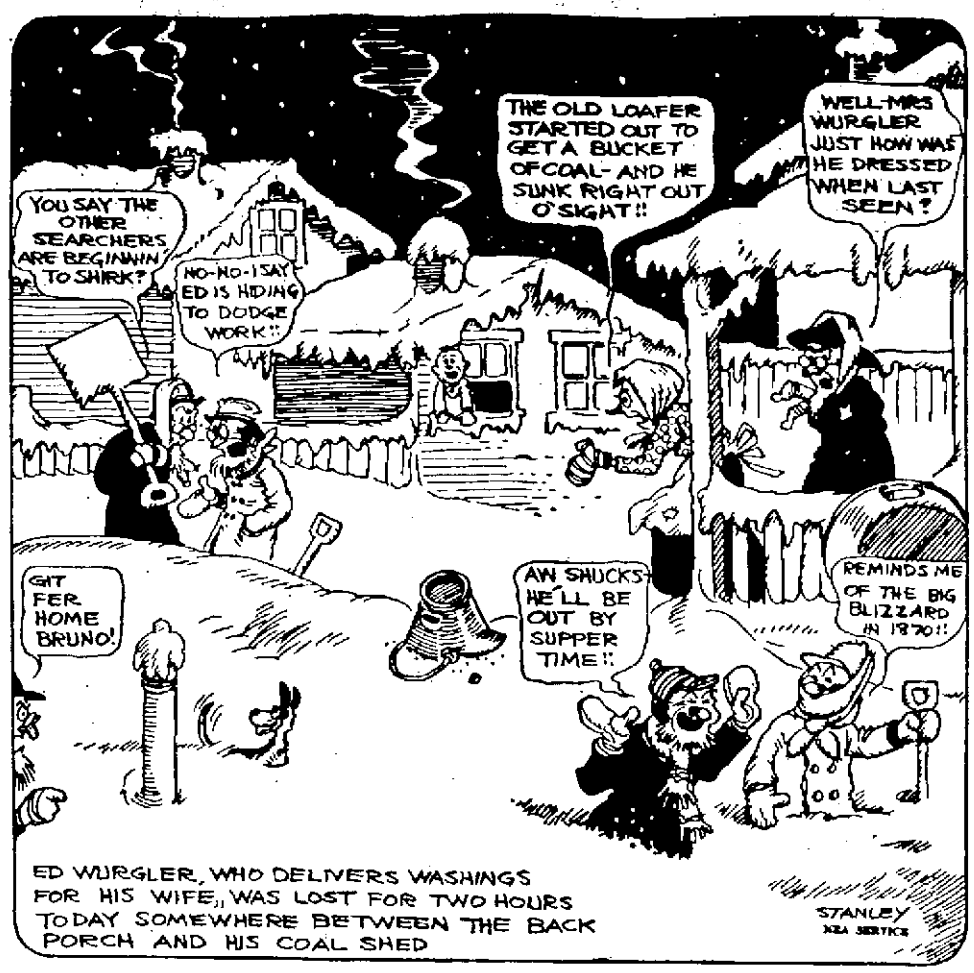

OVERSEERS' MEETING IN LIBERTY HALL

The first of the seven meetings of Lowell overseers, to be held in Liberty hall, Memorial Auditorium, is announced for this evening, at 7.30 o'clock, to discuss subjects that should be of interest to every man holding a responsible position in the textile industry of Lowell. Arrangements for these meetings were made by the Lowell Textile school, Massachusetts Safety council and the Associated Industries of Massachusetts.

Tonight, the first lecture by Mr. A. Stanley Llewellyn, will be upon the subject, "What Can We Do to Promote Good Will Among Our Operatives?" Mr. Llewellyn is service manager in the Lancaster mills, Clinton.

On Tuesday evening, February 6, at 7.30 o'clock, Frank E. Morris, safety engineer of the Liberty Mutual Insurance company, Boston, will lecture in the same hall on the subject: "Simple Ways of Getting Hurt." There will be a movie reel, subject: "Why Are We Careless?"

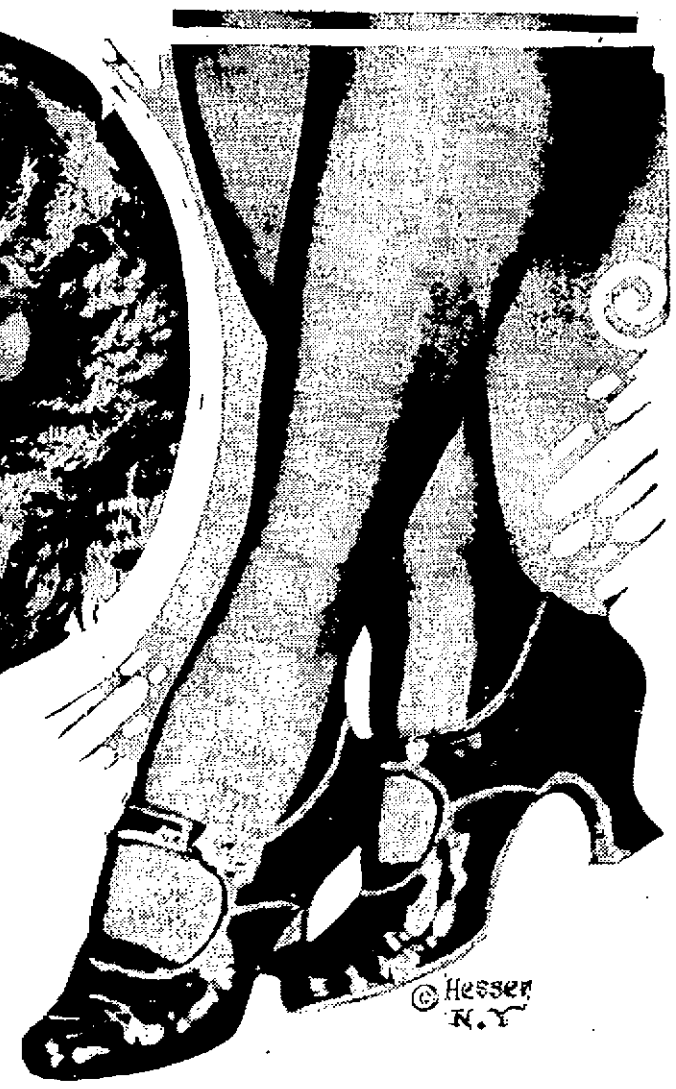

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Slippers and Keith's Theatre Boxes Await Owners of Lowell's Daintiest and Most Shapely Feet

MISS MARY CRANSTON

MISS CRANSTON'S PRIZE WINNING FEET

Through the co-operative efforts of the B. F. Keith theatre management and The Lowell Sun there has come to this city this week the act of Lee & Cranston, presenting "The Honeymoon House," by Will M. Hough. That in itself may not be cause for particular or extended comment, although headlined and of particularly first class, but with the announcement of Miss Cranston's identity and her peculiar claim to prominence in the theatrical and artistic world, the coming of the act to the local vaudeville house takes on most unusual interest.

Miss Mary Cranston, a Chicago girl, who has progressed far in the field of vaudeville and motion picture entertainment during the past few years, has a most charming personality and really it is a pleasure to be privileged to sit with her and discuss the many experiences that naturally come to one who has traveled much and has seen life in its many phases of happiness and woe. But we are drifting somewhat afield from the real reason why Miss Cranston has come to Lowell just at this time.

She has in her possession a sterling silver slipper, presented to her as a prize for having the smallest and most shapely foot in the United States. As to its shapeliness we can vouch, but there is a feeling of skepticism regarding its prize-winning attributes in the matter of size. There are girls in Lowell, we are sure, who have feet upon which the slipper of Cinderella could slip as a friendly glove. Miss Cranston doubts it. Very well. The Sun desires very much to find some substantiation for this feeling of skepticism.

Call it pride in one's native city, if you will, there is, nevertheless, every good reason why Lowell girls and women should have an opportunity to match feet with Miss Cranston. She welcomes competition and why shouldn't she—does she not possess the silver slipper, emblematic of the very last word in the matter of feet.

In an effort to stimulate interest and in view of the fact that other New England cities have been given this same opportunity, The Sun, beginning today and continuing for the balance of the week, will conduct a contest, open to any matured woman in the city, single or married, it makes no difference, which will settle this foot question in Lowell, once and for all. Is there a grown girl or woman in the city with a foot to match Miss Cranston's?

There are prizes to be given, of course—slippers from two of Lowell's best known shoe merchants—and a box at Keith's for any afternoon or evening performance desired. A pair of slippers, the best obtainable and open to choice on the part of the winner, will be presented to the woman who, in the opinion of competent judges, has the smallest foot in Lowell, and another pair of slippers will go to her whose foot is judged the most shapely. In addition, there are the box concessions at the Keith theatre.

The shoe merchants who will present the prizes, throwing their entire stock for selection, are Ira Morse of the Twentieth Century shoe store and E. J. Gilmore of the Bon Marche Co.

When we say the competition is open to all, we mean just that. Of course, it does not apply to children and necessarily from the standpoint of fairness, must be confined to grown-ups.

Herewith is a coupon of directions of how to enter the contest. Fill it in and mail it without delay. Those who enter early naturally will be in line for more consideration than those who put it off until the very last minute. If you wish to tell more about yourself than is possible on the coupon, do so. It will be appreciated. On Friday there will be published a list of possible winners and on Saturday the final winners will be announced brough The Sun and by Miss Cranston from the Keith stage.

Here is the coupon, fill it out. Enter with both feet and watch the novel contest stride along.

DIXON FLAYS KU KLUX KLAN

Author of "The Clansman" Vigorously Condemns Modern Hooded Organization

Declares it Had Stolen the Livery of the Original Order

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Thomas Dixon, author of "The Clansman," vigorously condemned the modern Ku Klux Klan in an address last night and declared it had stolen the livery of the original order. He was one of several speakers called by the American Unity league to discuss ways and means for combatting the hooded organization.

He said that when the modern klan organized a few years ago, he declined an invitation to join, warning organizers that "if they dared to use the disguise in a secret, oath-bound order today, with the courts of law working under a civilized government, the end was sure—riot, anarchy, bloodshed and martial law."

"We have already reached the riot and bloodshed," he said, "and unless the thing is throttled promptly we are in sight of martial law."

The original klan was founded as a weapon against a corrupt and intolerable tyranny by the bravest and noblest men of the south, he said, but the proscription of the negro race by the modern klan is inhuman.

"The klan assault upon the foreigner is the acme of stupidity and inhumanity," he said. "We are all foreigners except the few Indians we have not killed.

"Our fathers blazed the way through the wilderness for the trembling feet of liberty. They built a beacon on these shores, flashing its rays of hope to all the oppressed of the earth. Shall we, their sons, meet the humble immigrant of today with a mask and dagger and push him back into hell? If this is 100 per cent Americanism, I for one, spit on it."

SERGT. WILLIAM DICKEY

Death Claims Another of Lowell's Loved and Honored Grand Army Veterans

Survivors of the Civil war, comrades in blue, who still respond to Grand Army roll-calls, Lowell municipal employes from the mayor down and a host of men and women throughout the city learned this morning of the passing of Sergt. William Dickey, commander of Post 120, G.A.R., at his home, 10 Brickett avenue, after an illness of several weeks.

Sympathy went out to the stricken family in full measure, for during the Grand Army man's last illness, he received the tenderest care from a loving wife and devoted children, who mourn deeply the departure of one who was a patriotic American, war hero and an ideal homemaker.

Comrade Dickey, who recently celebrated his 80th birthday with a reception at his home on Brickett ave., attended by large numbers of friends and comrades, was born Dec. 7, 1842, in Portland, Me. He enlisted in the Civil war from Gray, Cumberland county, Me., Aug. 1, 1862, joining Company C, 25th regiment, Maine Volunteer Infantry, for nine months. He served with honor in all the campaigns in which his command engaged, being recommended for performance of meritorious service. He was honorably discharged at Portland, Me., on July 10, 1863, upon expiration of his service enlistment. His "vacation" lasted but a few days, for he was in this war to the finish, and on Aug. 3, the same year, enlisted for three years "or during the war," becoming first sergeant in Capt. Whitman Sawyer's crack Co. B, 30th Regt., Maine Volunteer Infantry.

The regiment fought hard almost continuously for weeks at a time, one battle lasting for 24 hours at Deep Bottom, for instance. Later the regiment was transported to Washington, marching from there to Harper's Ferry, Va. He also fought with Gen. "Phil" Sheridan in the famous Shenandoah valley.

The Lowell veteran received his final (and honorable) discharge papers at Savannah, Ga., on Aug. 22, 1865.

The veteran served as an employe of the city of Lowell for 25 years and was retired in December, 1920.

Sergt. Dickey is survived by his wife, Susan J. Dickey; one son, William C. Dickey; three stepsons, William T. Davis, Everett H. Davis and Lanville H. White; two daughters, Mrs. Fred A. Lombard and Mrs. Gertrude L. Stouffer; one step-daughter, Mrs. James E. Libby; also ten grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

PROMISE NEW SENSATION

Officials Conducting Hearing at Bastrop, La., Expect to Spring Surprise

Brother of Missing Timekeeper to Testify Today—Hearing Nearing End

BASTROP, La., Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press) Interest in today's session of the open hearing into the operations of the Ku Klux Klan in Morehouse parish centered on the appearance of Clarence Teegerstrom, brother of Harold Teegerstrom, missing time-keeper of the Southern Carbon Co., at Spyker.

The hearing is nearing its conclusion and attaches of the offices of the state attorney-general have said that the few remaining sessions may develop sensational testimony.

Harold Teegerstrom disappeared the night of Dec. 29, and his whereabouts was declared by officials to be unknown to them. His father testified yesterday that Clarence had received a note from Harold on Jan. 12, and Clarence was to be questioned today concerning it.

Rumor was rife here that Harold had been located at Swartz, a station on the Iron Mountain railroad about 10 miles south of here, and that he had been in concealment there since he disappeared from Spyker. A detachment of cavalry returned early today from Swartz without having found any trace of him.

Harold's probable testimony was regarded as vital to the alibi set up for T. Jeff Burnett, whom witnesses have testified they recognized as one of the masked party which on Aug. 21 kidnapped Walt Daniel and T. F. Richard.

Officials conducting the hearing declared they expected to spring a surprise at the opening of the Wednesday afternoon session and intimated that it would eclipse anything previously brought out.

In some quarters it was believed that Harold Teegerstrom would be the surprise witness. Reports persist that he is being held under cover to be brought here to testify.

Assistant Attorney-General Guion assured Teegerstrom's father yesterday while he was on the stand that the state had no evidence whatever that connected his son with a crime.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS WERE VERY ACTIVE

The arrest on Sunday night of two juvenile "breakers and enterers" in the nighttime, aged 13 and 15 years, respectively, whose names are withheld by the police, and the subsequent confessions of the youths to five other breaks in this city, has cleared up a mystery which has puzzled the police since the first of the year. The two boys, who will appear in the juvenile court next Friday morning, admitted, after considerable questioning, that they were responsible for the following breaks: Jan. 4, David Almond's pork store, 136 Gorham street; Jan. 7, Dry Goods store at 113 Gorham street and Co-operative Grocery store, 115 Gorham street; Jan. 11, W. A. Macie Co.; Dec. 31, Depolan Bros., 152 Gorham street, and the latest break in the Lowell Decorating Co., 251 Market street. They were arrested at the last named place by Officer Hessian as they were investigating the contents of the store.

along 'round the corner and came to a stop on Merrimack street for the first time in, lo! these many years.

And that erases the famous Bridge street turmoil and tangle that was ever present at all hours of the day, with cars stopping, delays sometimes long, and passengers surging back and forth running for cars and often missing them, as well as dodging automobiles and trucks, and thanking their Maker that they could win the race without getting scratched up.

The street railway heads have been doing a little "experimenting" around the square corners for several weeks. During the heavy storms the Varnum avenue cars just made the "loop" and returned to Varnum avenue, while Christian Hill cars came down around French street and returned to Beacon street. In this way service was maintained on 20-minute time in fairly good shape, and commuters on both lines benefited. It seemed to be chaior to run two lines in this way rather than send cars way through when conditions were somewhat stormbound.

The decision to eliminate the inward stop on Bridge street in front of the old cash market was made this week, and today the white pole sign was painted out.

Centralville and Christian Hill passengers will still continue to board cars in the usual way on the homeward trips, but when they return to town—and the Dracut cars are included in the list, too—they will not be dumped out on Bridge street any more but on Merrimack, where passenger traffic will be handled better and the cars enabled to make better time with no more congestions on Bridge street side.

Mass. Leads in Revoking Liquor Permits

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Ninety-six permits carrying a total withdrawal privilege of more than 165,000 gallons of alcohol and intoxicating liquor, were revoked in this district in 1922, Elmer C. Potter, federal prohibition director for Massachusetts announced today. Of these 58 were retail druggists, 30 physicians, 12 manufacturers and one permit to legalize possession. Mr. Potter said that the report of the commissioner of internal revenue showed in the fiscal year ended July 1, 1922, in the entire country 159 permits were revoked, of which 46, or 29 per cent, were in Massachusetts.

BIG CROWDS VISIT KASINO ON SECOND DAY OF LOWELL AUTO SHOW

More Than 3000 Men and Women Attended Opening Yesterday Afternoon and Evening—Proceeds of Ticket Sales Today Will Be Turned Over to High School Athletic Field Fund—Tomorrow Will Be "Appreciation Day"

Ideal January weather with northerly winds not too strong or too cold, plenty of sunshine tempering the snappy temperature, made conditions excellent for another outpouring of sightseers, including all the "regulars" and new "automobile fans" galore of both sexes, at the second day's attractive exhibition at the Kasino on Thorndike street.

It is estimated that more than 3000 men and women from city and country attended the opening yesterday afternoon and evening. Today the indications were that this number would be doubled.

Undoubtedly interest was heightened by the selection of this day as "High School Fund Day." Proceeds of the ticket sales will be turned over to the school athletic field fund, and when the receipts are counted late tonight, it is expected that an interesting statement will be made by the merchants' association treasurer.

The naming of today as one in which patrons of the 1923 auto show might distribute their favors to both the Kasino exhibitors for the wonderful show offered for their edification and instruction, and also to the energetic

Entire Gorham Street Section Cut off From Fire Alarm Signal Service When System Again Fails

Lives and Property Hang in Balance While Fire Department Men Make Feverish Effort to Locate Break or "Ground" in Main Cable—No Alarms Possible From 12 Boxes in Congested Districts

The entire Gorham street section of the city, from the postoffice to the corner of Bowden street, the territory in the vicinity of Meadowcroft street and streets adjacent to the South common, are entirely cut off from fire alarm signal service as the result of a break or "ground" somewhere in the 32-wire main cable, condemned eight years ago and at present under a perfect storm of criticism.

Twelve signal boxes, all on the same circuit, are "dead," and it is impossible to send in an alarm over any one of them. In case of fire telephone to fire headquarters, No. 3400.

The boxes out of commission are the following:

218—Appleton and Favor
232—Appleton and Gorham
214—Gorham and Union
215—Highland and South
223—Davis Square
47—Gorham and Moore
46—Moore and Bleachery
48—Gorham and Manchester
49—Gorham and Lundberg
415—Gorham and Bowden
419—Meadowcroft and Bolt
425—Stromquist Ave. and Weed

This sensational announcement was made this morning by fire department officials after every effort had been made to locate the break or trouble in the main cable that was discovered Sunday night when tower bells and traffic gongs sounded all kinds of alarms for about half an hour. Aside from knowing the trouble is located in the main cable, the officials only can guess its exact location and are continuing a feverish hunt for it. When located an attempt to patch it will be made, but Capt. Thomas F. Conway said today the cable is almost past the patching stage.

In case the break is not found very soon the entire circuit will be transferred to another circuit, which may be able to carry it in a hit and miss manner. Every circuit already is overloaded, but the burden would have to be increased if necessity arose.

This is the second big crisis in the antiquated fire alarm system within a week or 10 days. The first was the failure of a box at Chelmsford and Grand streets to sound an alarm for a disastrous garage fire in Chelmsford street. Last Thursday the entire question of a new system was discussed at a conference of council members and fire underwriters and representatives of the Gamewell Alarm Signal System Co., but no action was taken.

Chief Edward F. Saunders will take up the present matter with Mayor John J. Donovan this afternoon and will urge immediate steps be taken toward the installation of a new system.

CARMEN TO DEMAND BETTER WAGES TO MEET LIVING COSTS

Unanimous Demand for Increase in Wages on the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway—Lowell Delegate to Wage Conference Gives Results of Boston Meeting to The Sun and Corrects Statement Relative to Expiration of Present Agreement

THOMAS F. BOYLE,
Lowell Delegate

A unanimous demand backed by every man for increased wages on the Eastern Massachusetts street railway lines is to be made by the employes' unions when negotiations are formally opened sometime in February next for a new wage contract to replace the one which expires May 1, next.

This was agreed upon yesterday at a meeting of the general conference committee of the employes' union, held at 18 Tremont street, Boston.

Thomas F. Boyle, popular Lowell motorman for many years, was present as an active delegate. Eleven members of the general conference committee responded to the meeting call.

Delegate Boyle told The Sun this morning upon his return from Boston, that no program has yet been drawn up for the campaign for better wages. The union representatives have not yet even considered the size of the wage advances that will be asked for, to relieve alleged high cost of living hardships that the street railway men now complain of.

Mr. Boyle said no one knew at this time just what would be asked for. The matter will be decided on or about February 15, however, when the chairmen of the 16 active locals in the "Eastern string" will gather at the

LOWELL MAN GUILTY OF MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE

Homer Noel Admits He Was in on the Killing of Alex Dombrowski for Whose Murder Another Man is Now Serving Life Sentence

Homer Noel, of this city, pleaded guilty of second degree murder yesterday in connection with the slaying of Alex Dombrowski, near Detroit, Mich., last August. Noel, member of a gang of bootleggers, admitted when arrested that Dombrowski had been killed by a member of his gang, but denied having been personally implicated in the crime. His trial opened last week in Detroit before Circuit Judge Dingeman, and at that time Noel pleaded not guilty. The changed plea yesterday was accepted and Noel remanded for sentence.

This unanticipated development in the case will result in the taking of immediate steps toward the release of Leo. Sauerman, now serving a life sentence in Marquette prison for the killing of Dombrowski.

NEW AND DRASTIC MEASURES IF GERMAN RESISTANCE CONTINUES

The coal miners' strike in the Ruhr valley, ordered in opposition to the Franco-Belgian attempt to collect reparations by forceful means, seems far from complete. Duesseldorf reported a majority of the Ruhr miners still working at noon today.

On the other hand Berlin claims 165,000 men have gone on strike in the Thyssen and Stinnes work in the Ruhr.

$50,000 Bank Robbery in Brooklyn

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Four robbers today held up two messengers of the Municipal bank in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn, and escaped with $50,000.

The messengers were taking the money from the main office to a branch bank in an automobile when the four highwaymen, who were in a small car, forced the bank's machine to the curb. Simultaneously, the four robbers jumped from their car, covered the messengers with their pistols and forced them to drive to a secluded spot near the Kings county hospital.

The highwaymen ordered the messengers and the chauffeur out of their car, seized the money and drove away at topspeed in the bank car. The messengers rushed to telephones and informed the police.

But he organized the club anyhow, after many discouraging trials, and from that first "rally" when barely a baker's dozen Lowell citizens appeared to see what was going on, until today, Lester P. Dry Officers Cut in on Operations of "Biggest Bootlegger in New England"

Driver of Truck Escapes But Officers Hope to Run Down Brains of Ring

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Prohibition enforcement officers today cut in on the operations of a man who they described as "the biggest bootlegger of straight whiskey in New England." They seized a three-ton truck loaded with 61 cases of liquor, valued at $7000, after it had been driven into a garage in the Mattapan district. The driver escaped but the prohibition agents said they hoped through the transaction that was involved to run down the man who, they said, was the brains of the bootlegging ring in this city and the biggest operator.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

Your other organs may need attention—but your kidneys should have attention first because their work is most important.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run down condition commence taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, because as soon as your kidneys begin to improve they will help all the other organs to health.

Swamp-Root Is Pleasant to Take

MAX NORDAU, GERMAN AUTHOR, DIES IN PARIS

PARIS, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press)Max Nordau, the famous German author and philosopher, died at his home here yesterday.

Nordau had been ill a long time. At his bedside when death came were his wife and his daughter, Maxa.

Max Simon Nordau was born at Budapest July 29, 1849. His parents were Jews. He practiced medicine in Budapest until 1880, when he took up his residence in Paris. There, in addition to his medical work he studied art, literature and social questions.

Nordau's father was Gabriel Sudfeld, once a rabbi in Prussia, who became a teacher in Budapest. Nordau received his elementary education, including Latin and Greek and Hebrew, from his father. Later he attended the university in his native city. His literary activities were begun when he was a boy of 14. He worked at journalism even when taking his medical course, and was a traveling correspondent later for leading German, Austrian and Hungarian newspapers.

In 1897 Dr. Nordau was called by Dr. Herzl, founder of political Zionism, to aid Herzl in propagating the Zionist idea.

AT THE MIDDLESEX WOMEN'S CLUB

The program of entertainment at the Middlesex Women's club yesterday was arranged by the legislative department, Mrs. George M. Heath, chairman, and was a distinct, but nevertheless interesting departure from the usual custom. Three prominent local men, Judge John C. Legat, Abel R. Campbell and Frederick C. Church, Jr., discussed legal, real estate and insurance questions from unusual standpoints and a purely artistic note was injected by Edward L. Gerry, baritone, now situated in Lowell, who most enjoyably sang a group of songs.

Mr. Gerry first sang the recitative and aria from "The Seasons," by Haydn, a group of three songs by Sellor and others of no little appeal.

BIG MARMON AND DORT EXHIBIT

An exhibit at the Kasino of more than ordinary interest and one that is sure to draw and attract by its very worth is that of the S. H. C. company, local agents for the well known Dort and the famous Marmon cars. Both exhibits are a novelty as it is the first time that the new Dort Six was shown at a public exhibition and, in the case of the Marmon, the first time that the car has ever been exhibited in a Lowell show.

Two of the new Dort Six models are shown, the sedan and the sport. In addition, there are exhibited the Dort cut chassis, showing every working part of the mechanism of the car, making a demonstration that makes for an easy understandable method of seeing and investigating the workings of this popular car.

Speaking of the new Dort Six, James J. Skehan of the S. H. C. Co. claims that Dort engineers have succeeded in making the most economical motor in existence.

INDICATIONS POINT TO BIG NASH YEAR

Nash Motors on Jan. 9, had on hand more orders for delivery this month than were booked in any previous month in the history of the company with the exception of May and June of last year. The year just closed was the greatest twelve months' period in the history of the Nash Motors company. Total sales of Nash passenger cars in 1922 more than doubled shipments made the previous year.

One interesting phase of the 1922 record is that the last six months of the year eclipsed the first half period in point of sales. In other words 1005 more cars were shipped by the factory from July 1, to Dec. 31, than were shipped between January 1 and June 30, which period included of course, the natural spring demand.

January, February and March last year started the breaking of Nash previous records with a volume of sales for that period that exceeded the same 1921 period by more than 51 per cent. Then followed April and May, months that made Nash history. The usual mid-summer let-down had no appreciable effect on the Nash demand with the result that during these months, record after record was broken. In September the automobile industry as a whole fell off 24 per cent. as against August and in that month Nash Motors gained 8 per cent. over August.

Improvements and refinements which began going into Nash cars the latter part of the year and which have been completed for the automobile shows have met with instant approval on the part of the public with the result that for months past the demand has left the factory in an oversold condition. This has resulted in plant extension now in process of completion. Don't miss the Nash at the show.

ADDISON THOMAS DEAD

Quarter of a Century Ago He Was One of Most Widely Known Newspapermen

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Addison C. Thomas, who a quarter of a century ago, was one of the most widely known newspaper men in the United States, died early today after a brief illness. He was 71 years old.

For a long time he was superintendent of the Central division of the Associated Press, with headquarters in Chicago. In developing the present extensive leased wire system of the Associated Press he played an important role, being for years a superintendent of leased wires.

In Chicago in the 50's he first demonstrated the possibility of the use of the typewriter by operators in receiving telegraph news direct from the Morse sounder. This increased the carrying capacity of circuits and immediately added greatly to the volume of news delivered to the newspapers of the country a distinct boon to readers. It also made the fork of telegraphers infinitely easier.

The introduction of the typewriter was brought about only after endless experimenting by Mr. Thomas and long after others had declared the idea impracticable.

The device known as the cyclograph, a duplicating machine used by The Associated Press, was also one of his inventions. It was the first machine to feed ink from the inside of a cylinder, a principle now adopted in mimeographing.

As an executive, Mr. Thomas immediately directed the arrangements for handling the news of many stirring events. He was voted a medal of honor by the board of directors of the Associated Press.

Mr. Thomas, through a warm hearted personality, was known to dozens of the most prominent men of his time.

STRICTER ADHERENCE TO EVENING CLOTHES

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—Stricter adherence on the part of Americans to evening clothes was urged by speakers at the 43rd annual convention of the Merchant Tailor Designers' association which opened here today.

L. C. Tyler, chairman of the fashion committee, declared the average American man's tendency to neglect changing from the tuxedo to the full dress leaves the impression that he has less regard for his feminine companion than has the average Englishman.

Tuxedo or dinner clothes are all right for card parties and dinners, but for balls or other evening functions, they are taboo," Mr. Tyler said.

Comfort, softness and grace will characterize the every day custom clothes to be designed this year as a result of popular demand, continued Tyler, who added that the form-fitting suit is going past coats will have longer waist lines and fit close over the hips while trousers will be fuller, although not peg top.

TO SETTLE $200,000 SUIT OUT OF COURT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Belief that the $200,000 damage action brought by Mrs. Ethel E. Clark as the guardian of her daughter, Dorothy Clark, dancer, against Herbert Rawlinson, motion picture actor, would be settled out of court grew today.

Mrs. Clark charged that the actor attacked the dancer in an apartment in New York in 1920, when the girl was 15 years old. The mother, regarded as an important witness by both sides, was too ill yesterday to appear in court at the opening session of the trial and a continuance was granted until February 23.

Judge J. Perry Wood of the supreme court as a preliminary to granting the continuance, said from the bench: "It would be desirable if a settlement could be reached out of court."

"Trial of the case," he declared, "would only be injurious to everyone concerned."

The dancer was called to the stand to identify a number of letters which she testified the actors had written her.

The dancer, the wife of Karl Elms of Boston, displayed no emotion on the stand.

MORE FOR LUXURIES THAN FOR CHURCH

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Each American spent nearly nine times as much for luxuries in 1922 as the average Methodist Episcopal church member donated for religious purposes, reports emanating from the conference of 200 of the church's leaders declared today.

The annual report of the committee on conservation and advance stated that per capita giving by church members during 1922 was said to be $22.40, while the average American expended about $200 for luxuries.

STANDARD OIL DIVIDENDS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Cash dividend declarations by the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana, from dissolution of the Standard Oil Co., in 1911 to last June 30, amounted to approximately $59,660,000 or about 225 per cent, on the corporation's capital stock, Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana testified today at the senate oil investigation.

WHEN MAILED FIST GRIPS

At every danger point, French machine guns dominate the invaded Ruhr territory. Here is a guard at Sussback to insure protection of territory.

New and Drastic Measures if German Resistance Continues

valley, complete control of the mines, railroad, public utilities and the introduction of new currency to meet the money stringency caused by Germany's withholding cash.

Bearing out this forecast a Dortmund message says French troops already are guarding all exits from the Ruhr, ready to execute the isolation policy if there is a general strike or rioting.

British Avoid Conflict

Conflict between the British and the French over arrests and expulsions by the latter in the Cologne area, was avoided by instructions from London to the British military authorities not to interfere, although not to co-operate.

Fritz Thyssen and the five German industrial magnates arrested with him in the Ruhr will be tried tomorrow by the Mayence court martial, the proceedings having been postponed from today.

French Extend Activities

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press) The anxiety, so widespread here regarding the dangerous situation in the Ruhr, is emphasized by reports that the French are extending their activities to the Cologne area.

The call for withdrawal of the British troops, which was raised in some quarters when the French first went into the Ruhr, again comes into prominence today. Although the demand is not yet general, withdrawal is seriously discussed as among the steps which Great Britain may be forced to take in order to avoid becoming involved in a menacing situation which the majority opinion here insists this nation must keep out of.

The comment thus far has been emphatic in asserting that Great Britain must maintain the neutrality of the "Cologne district, keeping aloof from participation in any arrests or expulsions France may wish to enforce there."

A report that the French had ordered the expulsion of German finance officers in Cologne reached London in an Essen dispatch to the Times. The correspondent asserted that the situation had reached the point where the British must either acquiesce to the French plan or withdraw their troops.

Await Results of Trial

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The Ruhr see-saw halted momentarily today, while Germans and French waited for news from Mayence where Fritz Thyssen and six other industrialists were on trial before a French court-martial charged with refusing to obey the orders of the control commission.

French general headquarters believed that conviction and imprisonment of the magnates might mean the calling of a general strike throughout the Ruhr. Workers in the Thyssen plants at Essen and Muelheim, who recently declared that they would strike if their employer was not released, held up their action until the results of the trial should become known and it was thought that the general temper among the working population of the valley might find expression in a strike if the industrialists received a jail sentence.

The French are ready to reply to a general strike with the complete isolation of the Ruhr and the Rhineland from the rest of Germany. The control commission, it was said, will bend every effort toward getting coal out of the basin and shipping it to France, where it is already needed, leaving the Germans to operate the railroads and feed the miners and the population.

"If Berlin wants the Ruhr to starve, it's her own business," one official of French headquarters told the newspaper correspondents last evening. "If anyone starves in the Ruhr it will not be the French. The Germans have chosen their battlefield; we will fight them to the finish."

Gen. Denvignes expressed the opinion that the Ruhr valley was the scene of the last battle of the war.

"If we win this," he said, "we shall have peace for 50 or 100 years. If we lose, all our sacrifices of men and money during the war will have gone for naught."

The French has seized approximately 200,000 tons of coal in the Ruhr and declare that an extension of the miners' strike would not prevent one-fourth of the basin's normal output from going to France.

Newspaper Suspended

DUESSELDORF, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The newspaper Nachrichten of this city, has been suspended indefinitely by the occupying authorities "for publishing articles threatening the security of the French troops of occupation."

Possibility of League Intervening

LONDON, Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press) The possibility that the League of Nations will endeavor to end the strained situation in the Ruhr is again discussed by a section of the press today, although rather with the hope than with the expectation that such intervention will materialize.

It is now declared that Hjalmar Eranting, the Swedish representative on the league council, will certainly raise the question of the Ruhr at the meeting of that body in Paris on January 29, but the fear is expressed that developments in the meantime, may put the matter beyond the reach of any influence that the league may exert.

German Government Protests

BERLIN, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The German government has instructed its diplomatic representatives at Paris, London and Brussels to protest the recent decrees of the Inter-Allied Rhineland commission regarding the distribution of coal and the confiscation of the coal tax and customs duties.

The note declares that the distribution decree is designed solely to extend to the Rhineland the competence and activities of the new inter-allied commission at Essen, while the other decrees seek to divert German revenues from legitimate creditors to allied powers which are outside the jurisdiction of the Rhineland commission.

The note adds that through its decrees the commission places itself at the disposal of the French and Belgian military authorities.

Maintenance of War-Time Expansion in Export Trade Revealed in Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Maintenance of the war-time expansion in the export trade of a number of industries in the United States was revealed in an analysis of quantity figures covering the first nine months of 1922 and the same period in 1913, made public today. Gains in imports in the first nine months of 1922 compared to the same period in 1921, also are analyzed and are attributed partly to shipments in anticipation of tariff rate increases.

REDOUBLED EFFORTS TO SOLVE DEATH MYSTERY

NEWPORT, R. I. Jan. 23.—While preparations were made for a double funeral from Emmanuel Episcopal church this afternoon, the police redoubled their efforts to solve the mystery surrounding the death of J. A. Fraser McLeish and his wife. The second autopsy performed late yesterday gave them little additional information, although it did establish that the primary cause of McLeish's death was suffocation resulting when fire swept the lodge on the Paul Fitz Simons' estate, Harbourview, where the man was employed as a gardener.

The medical examiners could explain the wounds on McLeish's head which fractured his skull only as having been caused "by violence by an unknown person." In the case of Mrs. McLeish their verdict remained "external violence." Her head was crushed and there was no smoke in her lungs.

Introduced Soda Fountain in Europe

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Noel W. Stiles, said to have been the first to introduce the American soda fountain into Europe, died suddenly last night at his home in the Allston district in his 79th year. He engaged in the manufacture of soda fountains in England 35 years ago, and carried on business in that country for 15 years. A native of Watertown, N. Y., Mr. Stiles began his career as a druggist in Appleton, Wis., and later conducted drug stores in Postville, Ia., Batavia, N. Y., Boston, Old Orchard, Me., and Brookline. He sold out his business in the latter town to embark on his pioneer enterprise in England.

How To Get a Good Photograph

By IRA L. HILL

1. Your hair is the most important thing. Have it shampooed, and, if necessary, waved the day before visiting the photographer.
2. Dress your hair yourself (don't go to a hairdresser) as you usually wear it, and without a net.
3. Use an ordinary street make-up but spare the rouge. Red photographs black.
4. Don't look "dolled up" or consciously pretty.
5. Wear a gown with good lines that you've worn several times before, and are used to. If in doubt take several and let the photographer decide.
6. Don't wear spangles or try to look theatrical.
7. Have your picture taken at the time of day you feel best. With some women it's morning, with others afternoon.
8. Don't have anything unusual in the way of massage or face treatment.
9. In a full-length picture, don't wear suede or buckskin shoes; they make the feet look large and thick.
10. Don't dictate to the photographer.

By PIRIE MacDONALD

1. Choose your photographer more carefully than your tailor.
2. If you want to look decorative go to a photographer who specializes in women's pictures.
3. If you want to look like a man with lots of fight and "go" in you, select a photographer who can at least match you in physical strength and give you a bodily as well as a mental challenge.
4. Don't expect a good picture from a photographer who can't arouse your interest and draw you into a controversy.
5. Don't take your wife with you.
6. Don't be photographed unless you are feeling fit.
7. Don't expect "stunt" photography or freak efforts to impress men who may see your picture.
8. Don't dress up for a photograph; look just as you ordinarily do.
9. Don't think how you are going to look.
10. Don't insist that your photograph must look exactly as you really do look. If you do you'll be disappointed.

Can you look into a camera and await the result with equanimity? Or have you made up your mind that there's no use trying—you can't "take a good photograph?"

Most people belong in the latter classification.

Now, is it a fact that even a tiptop photographer can't do certain sitters justice?

Ira L. Hill and Pirie MacDonald have something to say on the subject.

The former has photographed most of the women of New York's "400" and thousands of stars of the stage and screen with equal success.

The latter specializes on men as sitters. He says they're harder to "take;" therefore, in his opinion, more interesting. He has photographed nearly every masculine notability who has visited Manhattan in two decades.

"A woman," says Mr. Hill, "may not be beautiful, but she wants her photograph to suggest beauty, to bring out all she has. Few women want photographs of their souls or their clothes. They want their faces—at their best.

"A woman is most beautiful in good clothes, and among beautiful surroundings. So I try to make my studio a place of beauty. With fine paintings, hangings and music, I induce the mood most propitious to beauty."

"Men," says Mr. MacDonald, "want their photographs to reflect strength.

"To bring out this characteristic in my sitters I keep myself in physical trim, so that I fling a challenge at each of them.

IRISH NAT'L FORESTERS

Branches O'Neil-Crowley and St. Elizabeth Hold Joint Installation

A joint installation of the recently elected officers of Branch O'Neil Crowley and Branch St. Elizabeth, Irish National Foresters, took place Sunday afternoon at a largely attended meeting held in A.O.H. hall, Middle street. The exercises, which were most impressive, were ably conducted by Chief Organizer Joseph L. Handley and the officers inducted into office were as follows:

Branch O'Neil Crowley—Edward J. Cromey, chief ranger; Christy Mitchell, sub chief ranger; Michael J. Mitchell, treasurer; Thomas J. Nevin, financial secretary; Michael J. Frain, recording secretary; Thomas J. Dunleavy, senior woodward; Patrick Tumulty, junior woodward; Michael Nugent, senior beadle; John Carney, junior beadle; P. W. Moran, Thomas Costello and Patrick Linehan, board of trustees; Dr. Thos. B. Delaney, physician.

Branch St. Elizabeth—Margaret McInnis, chief ranger; Mary Pelletier, sub chief ranger; Nellie Howard, treasurer; Bessie McHugh, financial secretary; Mary A. Dillon, recording secretary; Annie Shaughnessy, senior woodward; Catherine Nagle, junior woodward; Mary Handley, senior beadle; Elizabeth Maloney, junior beadle; Maria J. Markham, Mary McGovern and Katherine McMahon, board of trustees; Dr. Thos. B. Delaney, physician.

At the close of the installation a public entertainment was conducted, those participating being Thomas Costello, John O'Connor, Kathleen Aubrey, Annie Shaughnessy, Little Miss Anna McGovern, Thomas Horan, James McCreedy.

A pleasant incident in connection with the installation was the presentation of a hand bag to Miss Margaret McInnis, chief ranger of the ladies' branch, which was made by Organizer Handley.

COULD NOT SLEEP OR EAT FOR DAYS

WINCARNIS Was the Only Thing That Seemed to Do Mrs. Hueston Good

"Before taking Wincarnis, I was completely run down. My nerves were in an awful state. I also had indigestion so badly that gas would form around my heart, causing it to palpitate. I could neither eat nor sleep for days at a time. I took a small bottle of Wincarnis and it seemed to do me good, so I bought a large one and within a week I began to feel much better. I started to sleep and eat much better, and my nerves quieted down. After taking three bottles, I felt better than I had for years. Wincarnis is certainly a wonderful tonic."

high school athletic field boosters, was indeed a happy idea on the part of the automobile show management.

It proved a magnetic drawing card for the Kasino exhibit as well as giving many Lowell people who have not yet contributed to the school athletic fund, a good opportunity to support it and at the same time enjoy a high class exposition well worth visiting, whether one owns a car or not.

Schoolboys and Girls

This afternoon, following the closing of the schools for the day, there were special receptions at the Kasino for the schoolboys and girls, many of whom had an opportunity to visit the show and learn something new about favorite cars, for few school children nowadays are without some personal knowledge of automobiles.

Today there was an opportunity given to every boy and girl to see one of the best exhibitions of America's finest cars ever exhibited within the city limits, and the pupils of many of the schools besides the high school took ample advantage of the chance to add to their book of auto knowledge.

Tomorrow the Kasino exhibitors will call it "Appreciation Day," as a tribute to those thousands of people from city and country districts who have so loyally each year supported and patronized Lowell automobile merchants' exhibitions.

Mayor John J. Donovan was unable to be present at last night's formal opening, but was represented by one of his secretaries, Harry C. Glasheen, who told of the mayor's interest in the success of the 1923 automobile show and declared that the association was one composed of able business men with splendid ideals. Mr. Glasheen was introduced by Dan O'Dea. He said the absent mayor appreciates the value of good roads.

Was Favorably Impressed

Among the guests last evening was John Hart Taylor, wholesale agent of the Linscott Motor Co., which has the New England agency for the Reo automobile, represented in Lowell by Daniel E. McQuade. He expressed surprise at the size of the Kasino show and declared that it was as fine an exhibition throughout as he had ever attended in a city the size of Lowell.

There are 62 cars displayed today at the Kasino—33 different makes. If the Kasino were twice as large, there would still be a genuine lack of sufficient room to adequately display all the cars that local dealers would like to show.

Arthur A. Armstrong, representing the Bay State A.A., and who was an interested sojourner in Lowell for the purpose of taking in the automobile show and visiting several Lowell auto enthusiasts, announced that instead of a mid-winter outing to the mountains in February, the Bay Staters will hold a dinner dance at the Hotel Somerset, Boston, on Monday evening, Feb. 12, just before Lent begins. There will be an excellent vaudeville program. Dancing will wind up at 1 a. m. Lowell automobile merchants figure extensively in B.A.A. affairs each year and plan to attend the February "rout."

DEPARTMENT ESTIMATES NOT YET READY

Although yesterday was the time for transmission of departmental estimates for 1923 to the city auditor, only a few budget schedules were ready, comprising smaller departments. More came in today, but the bulk and particularly the larger ones, are not expected before tomorrow.

The largest individual budget, that of the school department, will be taken up at a meeting of the school committee tonight, but it is probable that several appropriation sessions will be necessary before a schedule of estimates is completed.

Mayor Donovan has asked for retrenchment in the matter of estimates wherever possible, thus obviating the necessity for "slicing" by the budget and audit commission and himself.

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin said today he will call a meeting of the budget commission at the first opportunity to go over the estimates. Last year the budget commission greatly decreased the figures submitted by departments and with but few exceptions these figures were adopted by the mayor.

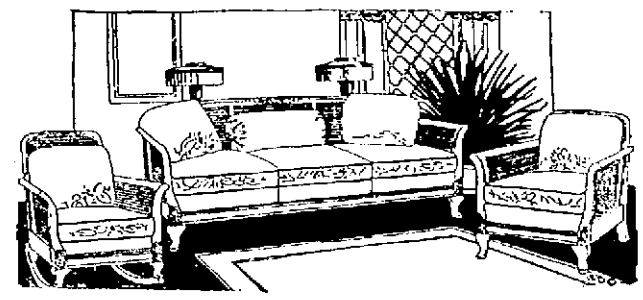

A NEW ARRIVAL

OUT OUR WAY

BY MARIAN HALE

Women have prohibition to thank for opening to them the biggest business field yet discovered—

The tea room, in all its variations.

So says Helen M. Woods, head of the first school ever established to teach tea-room management exclusively.

The tea room's popularity, Miss Woods holds, is just in its infancy. She is confident there is a great future before it.

"Before prohibition," she points out, "a woman couldn't hope to compete with big hotels and roadhouses where drinks were sold, and a self-respecting woman couldn't serve in a place where there was a bar.

Want Plain Food

"Now, since people can't buy drinks openly, they are paying more attention to their food. They're tired of fancy, indigestible French cooking. They want good plain American dishes.

"That's where tea rooms come in.

"The woman who runs a tea room is capitalizing her sex's generations of training in home making. The tea room is essentially a feminine enterprise.

"Thousands of women already are managing tea rooms or automobile inns, connected with their own homes. What's more, they're raising mortgages, educating their children, making themselves financially independent without loss of social position or subjecting themselves to the grind and sacrifices of the wage earner's life.

BLOOD WAS THIN STOMACH UPSET

Tonic Treatment Banished the Symptoms and Brought Complete Health

Dyspeptics are always pale. Perhaps we should say that pale people generally have stomach trouble which would be the right way of putting it because in a very large number of cases thin blood is the cause of the indigestion.

The entire economy of the body depends upon a supply of rich red blood and like the rest of the human machine the stomach depends on this blood stream. When the blood is thin the nerves are undernourished and the digestion impaired.

"For eighteen months I suffered from nervous breakdown and general debility," says Mrs. L. J. Leviker of No. 7 Park Avenue, Lowville, N. Y., "and my doctor told me that my blood was thin. My stomach was upset all the time, I felt light headed, my spine was sore in every joint and my limbs ached.

"I saw two specialists and took several kinds of treatment without benefit until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which I had read about in the papers. In a couple of weeks I noticed that they were helping me and I took them until I was well. All the symptoms have disappeared and I gladly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to others."

A booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," which tell about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box.—Adv.

France Leads in Aviation

BY MILTON BRONNER,
N.E.A. Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Supremacy in the air is one of the things that has given France confidence to proceed in invading the Ruhr in the attempt to collect German reparations.

Since the close of the World war she has been developing her aviation forces—both military and civil. New planes have been built, mechanics trained and overland services open, until now France is convinced that she is supreme.

This belief has become part of the national pride. The cry taken up at the great aviation exhibition held in the Grand Palais here, is being echoed throughout the land, along the Rhine and across the sea to Morocco where 10 airplane squadrons are stationed at Rabat.

Aviation Forces Formidable

In military aviation France already has a formidable army. She has pursuits regiments, special planes for night bombing, squadrons for observation purposes, balloon and dirigible units at strategic points in France, along the Rhine and in northern Africa.

Her total military aviation forces comprise 1350 officers and 32,000 men headed by Marshal Fayolle, inspector general of aeronautics. The naval aviation groups consist of 50 airplanes and the cruiser Bearn stationed at Rochefort as an airplane carrier.

In civil aviation France also leads Europe. There are regular passenger, mail and light freight services between Paris and London, Brussels, and Constantinople via Strasbourg, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Belgrade and Bucharest. There is also a line between Toulouse and Casablanca, in Morocco, and between Paris and Lausanne, Switzerland.

France probably has more factories for the manufacture of airplanes, motors and accessories than any other nation. She not only has been aspiring to be in a position to meet all her peace and wartime needs, but has tried to be able to sell to other nations. She has already supplied Poland, Rumania and several lesser nations with their military planes.

U. S. Ranks Second

The United States is credited here with being the world's second greatest military air power, and leader in the mail aviation service.

Great Britain ranks third, and Italy, handicapped by poor finances, is a poor fourth.

Although Germany is not allowed to have any military airplanes, the French are a bit fearful of the German interests in factories in Switzerland, Holland and Russia.

That seems to be one of the main reasons for France's determination to remain mistress of the air.

LEADING AVIATION POWERS

France More than 33,000 in military aviation; extensive civil service.

United States—Leads in mail aviation; but has only 15,000 in military aviation, according to latest available figures.

Great Britain—Approximately 20,000 men in military aviation.

Italy—Twenty-four military squadrons with 6500 men and officers.

Germany—Military planes barred; has 15 commercial lines with 108 machines.

Rumania—Three thousand men and 150 machines.

Czecho-Slovakia — Approximately 2000 in its military aviation forces.

Japan—Reported as having 300 men and officers in its forces.

Poland—Seven hundred and fifty men and officers.

Belgium—About 300 in military aviation.

SEQUEL TO ACTION OF IRISH HIERARCHY

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press.) The action of the Roman Catholic hierarchy of Ireland in issuing a pastoral letter to the priests and people on October 10 last, condemning the revolt and guerilla warfare against the Free State government has had a striking sequel in the formation of a Catholic appeal committee. This committee sent a number of delegates to Rome to present an appeal to the Vatican from the decisions of the Irish hierarchy, and the Freeman's Journal understands they have returned to Dublin after completing their mission.

The delegates are reported to have had three interviews with Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, who received their appeal and had it entered in the Vatican records. The delegates also were received in audience by Pope Pius.

At their last interview with Cardinal Gasparri, according to the newspaper, they were informed that their appeal had been forwarded to Cardinal Logue, primate of all Ireland, for reply on behalf of the Irish hierarchy, and that on receipt of this the matter would be duty considered by the Sacred Congregation whose function it is to deal with such questions, which would then report to the pope.

The pastoral letter, issued at a full meeting of the Catholic hierarchy at St. Patrick's college, Maynooth, October 10, said in part:

"The guerilla warfare now carried on by the Irregulars is without moral sanction and therefore the killing of national soldiers is murder before God, the seizing of public or private property is robbery, the breaking of roads, bridges and railways is criminal destruction, and the invasion of the home and the molestation of citizens is a most grave crime.

"All who in contravention of Catholic teaching participate in such crimes are guilty of the gravest sins and may not be absolved in confession or admitted to holy communion."

STRIKE STILL ON AT SACO-LOWELL SHOPS

With the exception of about 12 men who returned to their jobs this morning, the strikers of the pickle house of the Saco-Lowell shops, who left their work yesterday morning because of an alleged grievance with the company, are still out, and it was announced at the office of the company this forenoon that if the strikers do not return to work within a few days their places will be filled.

The men left their work yesterday because of the refusal of the company to place them under a flat wage scale agreement. The employes of that particular department have been working for some time under a sliding wage scale with pay according to the length of service with the company, but that did not prove satisfactory to the men, who requested that the agreement be changed.

One of the officials of the company stated today that the work performed by the strikers is the second operation in the company's industry and requires no skill. "We are willing to take back all our employes," he continued, "providing they return within a few days, but if they fail to do so we shall fill their places. We can operate some time without that department as we have plenty of castings ahead."

A committee of strikers called at The Sun office this noon and a young man who acted as spokesman for the committee stated that the men went out on strike because Supt. Greenwood, whom they interviewed yesterday morning, refused them an increase in wages. The strikers claimed they were being paid from 32 to 35 cents an hour and they asked for a uniform pay of 45 cents an hour for all employes of the pickling department. "We also protested against the action of the company in hiring men at 32 cents an hour with the promise that after two weeks they would receive 35 cents an hour, and not making the promise good," he continued. "We have 17 of our workers who were hired under that agreement and although they have been on the company's payroll two months, they are still receiving but 32 cents an hour. We will not return to work until our demands are granted."

LEAVES HOSPITAL AGAINST ADVICE

LAWRENCE, Jan. 23.—Angelo De Gloria, who was injured when he jumped from a third story window at a tenement house fire last Saturday morning when eight lives were lost, left the Lawrence General hospital today to go to the home of friends. It had been determined that his back was not broken as at first feared. Hospital authorities said that the man left the hospital against the advice of doctors, and that his name was still on the dangerous list when he left.

An inquest was started today to determine the cause of the fire.

PLAN MEMORIAL TO EX-AMBASSADOR PAGE

LONDON, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—An appeal for funds for a permanent memorial to the late Walter Hines Page, former American ambassador to Great Britain, will be issued within a few days over the signatures of Prime Minister Bonar Law, the Earl of Balfour, Herbert H. Asquith, David Lloyd George and Lord Grey—the five British ministers with who mthe late ambassador was brought into closest contact.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR RELIEF OF POOR

The Salvation Army in its work to aid the suffering and help the poor has expended all of the Christmas money collected and now is using its general fund to support this work. In order to get more money for this good and absolutely necessary work an entertainment is to be held at headquarters February 27th. Tickets for this entertainment will be on sale shortly and the better the sale the more needy cases assisted.

To those accustomed to charity work cases of unbelievable suffering and poverty are every-day occurrences, but Adjutant Arnold ran across one that he believes the saddest in the city. A man, who up to a year ago had always been able to support himself and his wife and family of five, is now confined at home, unable to work, with what is believed an incurable disease. During the past year his little savings have been used up and now his family is without fuel, food or clothes. The household furnishings have been sold, little by little, until only a few are left. They have one bed only for the whole family. Various relief organizations have helped to keep them in food but have not been able to give them beds or bedding. If anyone in the city has an old bed or bedding that is not in use and would notify the Salvation Army they will see to it that this feature of the case is remedied immediately.

LOWELL REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE

The next meeting of the members of the Lowell real estate exchange will be held at the Richardson hotel on the evening of February 6. Supper will be served at 6.15 o'clock and the repast will be followed by a brief business meeting after which there will be a general discussion of bills now before the state legislature, which have to do with real estate. There will be no speaker at the meeting as it is felt that a general discussion of legislative matters would be more beneficial to the members at the present time. The arrangements for the meeting are in charge of the officers of the organization.

convenient point, probably Boston, and draw up their formal new wage demands.

Contrary to general opinion, Mr. Boyle said today that the agreement on wages with the Eastern corporation does not expire on March 31 next, as reported this morning in another newspaper, but May 1, instead.

The company and the unions, however, have an agreement whereby when new wage scales are sought, the company is to have formal 30-days' notice from the unions containing new wage schedule demands and explaining why they are desired. The unions grant the company thirty days in which to make answer. That is why reports were current this morning that the wage question was about to come to a head on March 31, but the actual date of the expiration of the present agreement is May 1.

The general conference committee, of which Delegate Boyle is a member and which was attended by the Lowell man yesterday, is composed of 11 members, who represent more than 2,000 employes of the Eastern lines.

"Increased cost of living, and housing, high tariffs and the coal situation with its stupendous increase in cost to the consumer," were advanced by the delegates yesterday as reasons for the desired increase in wages.

Mr. Boyle said today that the men have formulated no plans of any kind as to what a decent increase in wage schedule figures would actually call for. There is always a difference in opinion as to what men employed on different divisions desire or believe they should have.

The general conference committee members yesterday, however, agreed that the Eastern Massachusetts employes are underpaid in comparison with employes in the same industry in other nearby localities. Members of the railway unions are emphatic in saying that many operators of electric cars on Eastern lines have had to draw money out of small bank accounts during the past winter in order to purchase common necessities of life.

The fact that wages in street railway circles have not advanced in line with numerous other active industries in other parts of the country, leads the Eastern employes to feel that they ought to be dealt with a little better each week when they call for their pay envelopes in the future.

Men at yesterday's Boston meeting emphasized the fact that several street railway corporations in other states, including New York, Pennsylvania and even in Rhode Island, are paying their employes all down the line more money each week than the men right here in Lowell are receiving for the same, if not more arduous work.

That is one reason why the Eastern employes are preparing to line up solidly for a real wage increase when their present agreement with the Eastern corporation expires on May 1.

The fact that nearly all Eastern street railway men are underpaid in comparison with employes in the same industry in other nearby localities, was brought out strongly at yesterday's meeting, but no official action was taken to tabulate or publish comparative figures at this time. The real work will be done between now and Feb. 15, when the delegates meet again to announce their first real campaign program and present actual and convincing figures of the expenditures made by members of the carmen's unions in meeting their present living expenses.

The conference committee has organized with these officers:

George E. Keegan, Lawrence, chairman; John R. Machardo, Fall River, vice-chairman; Robert J. Egan, Quincy, recording secretary; Charles A. Taylor, Reading, secretary-treasurer and business agent.

Thomas F. Boyle of this city, John J. O'Neil of Dedham, Rufus Kennedy of Haverhill were elected auditors.

The conference committee, before adjoining yesterday, considered the question of the excise tax levied by the state on street railways. This tax was roundly condemned as a burden on the roads and a resolution was adopted by the general conference committee requesting the legislature to permanently drop the tax.

WAS FINED $25 FOR ASSAULTING HIS WIFE

Irritated and aggravated by the alleged refusal of his wife to provide his meals for him, Anthony Piper resorted to a forceful method of revenge last Friday evening, beating her severely with a stove poker and otherwise treating her inhumanly. As a result, he appeared in the district court this morning and paid a $25 fine for assault and battery. The story as told by the wife and her two minor daughters was to the effect that Anthony, who works nights in a local mill, came home on the particular morning in question and when the breakfast table failed to reveal any eatables Mrs. Piper was subjected to a hard beating with the poker. She attempted to retaliate by means of a pitcher, which was unceremoniously dashed from her hand to the floor.

The couple have been married about three years, and testimony was offered to show that they had lived in harmony for about three months. Both have been married before and have children by former unions. The husband, in his testimony, said that the wife "shipped" everything he purchased to her mother, including bread, pies and other foodstuffs. The court could find no justification for assault in this fact, however, and ordered the imposition of the fine.

Another assault and battery case, which consumed a considerable portion of this morning's session, involved Natalina Beaksa, who paid a fine of $12 on a finding of guilty to the complaint. She is alleged to have battered her landlady with her clenched fist and to have inflicted severe punishment on her face and body. The landlady testified that the assault resulted from her resenting the accusation of Natalina that the landlady was responsible for having Mrs. Beaksa's husband sent to jail for illegal keeping.

John O'Connor of Concord, N. H., was given a sentence of four months to the house of correction, suspended for a year. He pleaded guilty to drunkenness. James Burns pleaded guilty to drunkenness and not guilty to assault and battery. He is being held in bonds of $500 until tomorrow.

Charles and Mary Abdullah, charged with illegal sale, will appear before the court on Jan. 27, at which time the result of the analysis of the seized liquor will be made known.

GUILTY OF MURDER

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 23.—John W. Hudson, Jr., Whitehaven, Tenn., dairyman, was found guilty today of murder in the first degree in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Hattie B. Ferguson of Memphis, with whom Hudson was alleged to have been infatuated.

The verdict returned after deliberation of little more than an hour, carried with it a death sentence.

14 Sought in Death of Fritzi Mann Missing

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—Detectives from San Diego, here to search for clues to the slayer of Fritzi Mann, dancer, learned today that all the fourteen persons they wished to interview were out of town. Cards bearing the names of the 14 were found in the girl's vanity case when her body was found on the beach at Torrey Pines.

WAS TAXED $100 FOR CARRYING A GUN

Carrying a .32 calibre revolver cost Paul Moodarian $100 in the district court before Judge Enright this morning. Moodarian told the court he had purchased the implement in Egypt while engaged with the Armenian forces in that territory. The revolver, which was fully loaded, bore a United States trademark and was evidently new. His appearance in court today resulted from a complaint, preferred against him by his uncle, Paul Lapan, who testified that Moodarian has been paying undue attentions to his wife, and has become a constant source of annoyance to the latter. When cautioned to discontinue his actions in this respect, Moodarian is alleged to have threatened self destruction.

JOHNNY WILSON OUT TO WIN WAGER

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Johnny Wilson, world middleweight boxing champion, is out to win a wager of $500 on his ability to climb stairs.

There's a series of long flights of steps at 210th street and Edgehill terrace—30 flights in all—and Wilson has made a bet with a sportsman that he can make two round trips in 20 minutes. The last person who tried to negotiate the steps in a given time, made one trip in 13 minutes and gave up. The test will be held Thursday.

SENATE ORDERS PROBE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Investigation of the calcium arsenate industry by the federal trade commission was ordered today by the senate in adopting a resolution by Senator Fletcher, democrat, Florida. The commission was directed to report whether there was any violation of the anti-trust laws in the manufacture or distribution of calcium-arsenate used in fighting the cotton boll weevil.

TO PREVENT HASTY AND FOOLISH MARRIAGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—A bill designed to "prevent hasty and foolish marriages and to make divorce more difficult," sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was introduced today by Capper, republican, Kansas, together with a resolution proposing a constitutional amendment to legalize federal marriage and divorce laws.

Marriage licenses would have to be applied for and posted in court two weeks ahead of the ceremony, under the bill, and applicants would have to present certificates of health and normal mentality. Girls under 16 and boys under 18 would be prohibited from marriage without parental consent, and the marriage of feeble-minded persons or of those closely related or of different races, would be barred.

Divorce under the bill could be obtained only for misconduct, physical or mental cruelty, abandonment or non-support for one year, incurable insanity or commission of felony. No divorce would be effective for a year.

"The idea is not to make divorce easier," said Senator Capper in explaining his bill, "but only to make marriage safer for the young, to insure children of the future better health and heredity and to prevent hasty and ill-considered marriages."

Uniformity of marriage and divorce laws also is an object of the bill which would not become effective until after adoption of the accompanying constitutional amendment. This, Senator Capper said, is to be pressed in the various states by women's organizations.

Actress Tells Secret

Tell How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture

Julcey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture:

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ½ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.—Adv.

$150,000 LOSS In BOSTON FIRE

Greater Part of City's Fire Fighting Resources Taxed for Many Hours

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Fire that threatened to destroy a block of six-story loft buildings in the heart of the shoe and leather district was brought under control early today after the greater part of the city's fire-fighting resources had been taxed for many hours. The McDonald building on Lincoln street was swept by flames, and adjoining buildings were damaged. The loss was estimated at $150,000.

The dense fumes of burning leather hampered the firemen, and explosions of hot air routed them in many attempts to reach the sixth floor of the building where the fire originated. Two firemen were injured, one struck on the head by a falling brick, the other cut by flying glass.

The chief loss was sustained by R. E. McDonald & Co., and A. Shapiro, both wholesale shoe dealers.

Isaac F. Marcosson Says No Peace Can Come to Europe Until German Reparations Question is Entirely Settled—Interesting Story of German Collapse and World Security—Speaker Frank and Blunt in Declarations

Declaring the French invasion of the Ruhr the biggest act of international folly since Germany plunged the whole world into war, and that no peace, territorially or economically, can come to Europe until the German reparations question is entirely settled, Isaac F. Marcosson, correspondent and writer of world-wide repute, told an intensely interesting story of German collapse and world security at the Memorial Auditorium last evening, where he appeared as a speaker in the Moses Greeley Parker fund of lectures and entertainments.

He had been secured for two lectures in this year's course, the first to be upon the subject, "The Changing East," but events in Europe have approached the crisis stage so rapidly during the past fortnight that he asked permission to discuss that question rather than the topic originally decided upon and it met with instant and hearty approval.

That Europe's present chaotic condition—the most serious state of affairs since the invasion of Belgium—is entirely due to the blunders of the politicians who drew up the treaty of Versailles; that there is a continuous ring of hate on the continent today; that England has withdrawn all support of France in her latest move to force the reparations issue; that Germany's morale is disrupted almost to the point of racial disintegration and that unless France obtains some economic relief from her invasion of the Ruhr her standard of currency will drop to the level of the mark and the ruble, were but a few of the startling assertions made by Mr. Marcosson in his vivid picturization of present-day events.

It was not a pleasing picture painted by the famous writer. It did not possess any highlights of peace and happiness or contentment, but rather was filled in with ever deepening shadows—shadows of distrust and fear, shadows of contempt for human life, shadows of hunger, of low morality standards and depleted treasuries and worthless currency. Mr. Marcosson was frank and blunt in his declarations and told the story of the Europe of today from the standpoint of hard, uncompromising economic facts.

"The world today needs solvency and sanity," were the closing words of the speaker, but they summed up a legion of facts and statements tending to show the low economic ebb of European life.

"The invasion of the Ruhr may be approached from two points," he said, "from the standpoint of sentiment and from the standpoint of economics. You, doubtless, will say with me that France is justified in her action, that this is her day of vengeance and that she simply is giving to Germany what that country gave to her in such fearful measure during four long years of war. France suffered horribly during the war. One million, two hundred thousand of the flower of her manhood paid with their life blood and we feel she has the right to take by force what Germany refuses to pay in dollars and cents as reparations. That is one side of the question, the sentimental side.

"But there is another side which must be discussed with all sentiment forgotten. It is the brass-tacks angle, the cold facts side, the economic aspects of the invasion. From this standpoint, then, let us discuss it, and hear me when I say it is the biggest act of international folly since the day Germany plunged the world into bloody warfare. For what has it done? It has stirred up smouldering hate and fanned it into living monsters; it has unified the German people as they have not been united since the day of armistice and it has awakened in the Hungarians a desire to pay back Rumania for wrongs perpetrated in other years.

"France has gone into the Ruhr 'on her own.' England is against it because of a fear of losing German trade, perhaps, but nevertheless, against it. And what can France hope to win by this invasion? Unless she is able to replenish her money vaults she faces economic ruin and will see the franc slide down below zero and seek the level of the mark and the ruble."

Before attempting to discuss the Ruhr invasion, Mr. Marcosson gave many intimate thumb-nail sketches of great European and English statesmen who have played prominent roles in the after-war period—Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Orlando, the assassinated Rathenau and of Hugo Stinnes, German financier, who he characterized as a combination of Morgans, Harrimans and Ryans and the second richest man in the world today.

"I was born in the state of Kentucky," said the lecturer "and was brought up at the feet of one of the greatest groups of silver-tongued orators this country has ever seen or heard. I have listened to all the famous speakers of my time, but all pale before the witchery and the compelling voice of Lloyd-George. He is the greatest orator, in my opinion, of all time, the greatest salesman the world ever has known—he could sell fur coats in the heart of Africa without half trying. He is a politician for all that and I would not want to have him deliberate or pass upon a treaty which vitally would affect my personal welfare.

"That was the trouble with the treaty of Versailles," he continued. "It was written by politicians, who make a chopping block of Europe and set up boundaries of hate or suspicion. The Austrian empire is a fair example. What used to be one state, now is seven or eight and not one is able to finance itself or live properly. Why? Because each has no standard of economic relations with the other.

"What is going on today in Germany? There is at the head of the so-called German republic a man named Ebert. He has a fat stomach, growing larger every day and his training to become president was gained through punching holes in leather. He was a harness maker. I have lived in the heart of Africa with savage tribes where human life is held in no regard whatsoever, but I have never seen such a low standard of morals as there is in Germany today. A human life there is snuffed out by a gunman for 25 cents in United States currency and since the armistice there have been more than 649 assassinations of men prominent in the country. Rathenau was just one and he was the one man who might have pulled his country out of the slough of despond in which it now wallows.

"I wish I might say with Coue that the world is growing better, but I have seen it, have lived in it for the past four years almost continuously, and it is not growing better, day by day, in every way it is growing worse," he said in conclusion. "We need solvency and sanity, but the former cannot come until the latter attribute of character is practised by those men who control the destinies of the world."

HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

IT is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board.

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds; and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

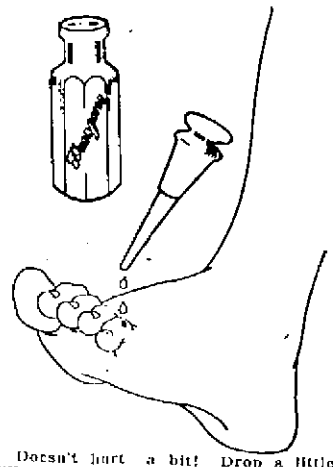

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

ELECTION COMMISSION BILL

Before the legislature at the present time is a bill submitted by the chairman of the Lowell election board and providing for a new system of listing the polls in this city. It provides that the work be done under the direction of the commission and superintendent of police. It is understood that the police officers will do that work within the time allowed for the purpose. That would undoubtedly call for an increase at least temporarily in the supernumerary force and might cost more than the present method of doing the work. Thus far it does not appear that there has been any dissatisfaction with the system that has been in force, either on the ground of accuracy or of expense. We doubt whether the work will be better done if placed in charge of the police officials. It might, however, give the police a better insight to the affairs of the people and make them acquainted with conditions which should require their attention in their police capacity. There is also in the bill a provision for an increase of salary, but it would seem that this matter should be left entirely to the city council.

In some cities this work is done by the police and done well, it is said. After a time, the system might work well here also. If the same officers, as far as possible, were called upon to do the work every year, in time they would become proficient and gain a valuable knowledge of the people of the city. If this knowledge could be drawn upon to aid in the collection of poll taxes from those who fail to pay, the system might eventually prove preferable to the other.

AGAINST CHILD LABOR

Child labor day inaugurated in 1906 has been observed every year since on the last Sunday of January. This year, it will be a three-day event. On Saturday, 27th instant, it will be observed by the Jewish Synagogues, on Sunday, 28th, in the Christian churches; and on Monday, 29th, in the schools of some states. This year an effort will be made to impress upon the lawmakers of the country and the public in general the necessity of a constitutional amendment by which child labor would be prohibited in every part of the United States. It is a pitiful condition that holds one million children between the ages of 10 and 15 years at work in factories during long hours each day. Thus they are employed in a form of servitude that stunts their growth and weakens their health. They are also deprived of the education to which they are entitled so that they grow up in ignorance that endangers the state as well as their own morals. Child labor is most common in the cotton fields and the cotton factories of the south. These children are to be our future citizens and in order to promote their welfare and enlightenment as safeguards of the state, the law should protect them against this system, which is the nearest approach to chattel slavery that has come down to the present time in any part of the this country. It is necessary to protect children against exploitation whether by the greed of the parents or of employers. The settlement of this child labor question would go far toward putting the southern cotton mills on the same basis as those at the north. The amendment should be adopted as soon as possible. Other methods adopted by congress have failed to stand the test of constitutionality.

THE WORLD NO GOOD?

It was a Lynn man arrested for drunkenness who tried to hang himself in his cell and who when revived at the point of death said "the world is no good and I want to get out of it."

It is noticeable that the man was arrested for being intoxicated. He probably had been drinking booch, which makes the ordinary person almost crazy. Nothing that a man may say in such a condition is surprising. If the world seems dark and friendless to any particular individual, the fault lies with the individual, not with the world. Our world has its joys and sorrows, its ups and downs, its prosperity and adversity; but the man who finds only sorrow, suffering and adversity in the world has nobody but himself to blame. The morose and pessimistic look upon the dark side of things, refusing to see the silver lining to every cloud. The man who abuses his health and his mental faculties by drinking strong or even poisonous liquor is doing perhaps the one thing most likely to bring him into trouble and to land him in prison. Those who lead law-abiding lives and make the best use of their faculties in grasping the opportunities that surround them will seldom have cause to complain of the world or the opportunities it offers.

He who can thus despise the world or himself as does the Lynn man, must have a very vague idea of the world and of his own relation to the Supreme Being on whom he must place his dependance. If he tries to live according to the dictates of virtue and right reason, he will find unfailing sources of cheerfulness and joy and will never sink into the slough of despond, nor regard life as a burden nor the world as a perpetual prison.

ERADICATING RADICALS

"Eradicate the radical" is the advice of Rev. Jones I. J. Corrigan, S.J., in speaking before the Old South Forum in Boston, and this, he says, is what the conservative labor unions are doing in order to prevent the radicals from boring from the inside.

Speaking on the "Aims and Claims of Labor" he gave some very plain and logical statements not only as to the rights of labor, but as to the means of preserving industrial peace. This, he says, will come only from giving labor a part in profit-sharing and management so that labor will have an interest in production as well as the employer. It is undoubtedly a practical plan, but it cannot be applied while employers adopt the attitude of Bourbon reactionaries. This distinguished authority on economics says that this plan would also overcome radicalism and communism which are but quack remedies for existing conditions.

There are conflicting news despatches from Europe at present such as were common during the war. Those who wish to avoid deception can judge of the sources from which the news comes. Much of it is propaganda favoring one side of the other so that these colored appeals will have to be taken with a grain of salt.

BIG RAILROAD CASE

The courts at Chicago are to try an interesting case in the near future that will be almost without precedent, as it brings for the first time a test case as to the validity of the decision of the Railroad Labor board. It will be remembered that this board ruled that the railroads under the transportation act had no right to contract with outside firms for the operation of its shops or in making equipment repairs. That decision has greatly hampered the railroads that have since settled with the strikers for the reason that they are not allowed to have their work done by contract in outside shops. The action now instituted will involve five parties, namely, the United States Labor board, the National Union of Shopworkers, several railroad companies, contractors engaged by the railroad companies to operate their shops, and the employes of the shop contractor organized in a non-profit labor corporation entitled the Associated Employes of Beach Grove, Inc. The case will be watched with considerable interest as the decision will have a far-reaching effect.

LOCAL WINTER SPORTS

Fort Hill park offers exceptional opportunities for arranging winter sports. The steep declivities of its sides leading down to winding valleys offer an opportunity for long toboggan slides and ample room for ski jumping and other winter sports. No effort has been made to develop such sports on Fort Hill in the past, with the exception of one year in which a toboggan slide was constructed by the park department and proved very popular. Thus far coasting has been the principal winter sport on the park; and the boys and girls have managed to have a fine coasting route from the summit of the park to the Concord river on Rogers street which is over one-eighth of a mile in length. Slides of equal length might be made available on the east side of the park; but it will require the attention of a committee skilled in winter sports to lay out such courses with a view to convenience and the minimum risk of accidents. Winter sports are becoming very common in New England and Lowell should have a share in the fun.

STAND BY FRANCE

Russia is assuming a threatening attitude, probably as an aid to Germany in trying to defeat France. Lenine is never able to maintain control or show that he can conduct the government in peace unless he is spreading a scare against the danger from outside sources. He wants the aid of Germany and if he had it, he would set out to capture Poland. It is difficult to say what will result from the present situation in Europe, but in all fairness the allies should support France in her effort to compel Germany to pay a reasonable indemnity. If Germany gets any sympathy in her refusal, the trouble may result in war. The allies made the mistake in the first place that they did not seize sufficient German territory to induce her to pay the indemnity on condition that it would be released when the payment was completed.

THE AUTO SHOW

The automobile show at the Kasino offers an opportunity to all those interested to see the latest models and the various kinds of cars sold in Lowell. It may be stated too, that all the best makes of cars are sold here by the enterprising dealers. The exhibition indicates the progress made in this direction by the automobile dealers who have been steadily building up the business from year to year.

The Reverend Doctor Grant, Episcopal clergyman of New York, refuses to recant and will therefore undoubtedly be given the freedom he may want outside the denomination merely to rant, rant, rant! The decent way for Rev. Mr. Grant would have been to resign when he found he could no longer accept the doctrines he professed in his ordination.

The United Textile council has called upon the American Woolen company to grant an increase of wages. The Woolen company has been showing unusual prosperity and will doubtless comply with this demand. It is expected to restore the scale in force in 1920, which should be quite fair now.

Municipal ownership of the railways has been a great success in Detroit and it is hinted that it might be an equal success in New York city. It certainly might be if the system were placed under the supervision of a man as well qualified as ex-mayor Cousens, now United States senator.

A Thought

The two sentiments which most inspire men to good deeds are love and hope. Religion should give freer and more rational play to these two sentiments than the world has hitherto witnessed; and the love and hope will be thoroughly grounded in and on efficient, serviceable, visible, actual and concrete deeds of conduct.—Charles W. Eliot.

A Family Affair

Judge Willet of Cedar Rapids, Ia., has granted a divorce to twin sisters, Norah May Bricker and Bernice Bricker. The sisters were married at a double wedding ceremony, were separated from their husbands the same day and each wife brought suit accusing her husband of beating her. Both sisters engaged the same attorney and both husbands tried to hire him. Each wife testified for the other and both received their decrees at the same time.

Commuters

It's dark by five; the little station lights
Blow cheerful, yellow bubbles through the black
Sweep of a flying landscape; in the cars
They sit, hemmed in, worn from the weary day,
Laden with bundles; in their listless hands
The evening papers, with their thick, black smell
Of printer's ink.
Beyond the windows lie
Cool hills of snow, topped starkly with great trees,
And ice-fast pools of water, shining out,
Beneath the silver torches of the stars
Long roads twist by, deep-rutted; houses gleam
In homely splendor, briefly glimpsed and passed;
And sleigh bells sound like elfin laughter; all
Roofed most serenely, by the wide night sky,
Thus they come back; each to his bit of land,
Each to the arms that welcome; to the shout
Of rosy youngsters, racing to the door;
Each to that spark of fire upon his hearth—
The flame that lights an answer and a dream
Within his soul. Thus they come back to peace,
By snow-soft footways to The Open Door—
The humble door, the guardian door of Home.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It will become necessary for this year's city council to give careful consideration to a number of projects, each important in its own right, but which, in bulk, total many thousands of dollars. Not only will careful consideration be necessary, but, also, the sifting process will be a requisite, for the city's borrowing capacity will not allow all of them to become realities. Among a number of propositions for permanent improvements already advanced there stand out prominently: 1, a new fire alarm signal system; 2, a new school in the South End district; 3, a new fire house in the Oaklands, for which land already has been acquired, and 4, a combination police, fire and ambulance headquarters on the present Washington Tavern site.

These four propositions are accompanied by a number of others, including new park and playground areas in Pawtucketville and a drill ground opposite the new high school, not to mention permanent street improvements. A new fire alarm system and a new school to replace the present Edson building would just about take up all the money available and therefore, sifting will be necessary before any loans are authorized. This is a year of retrenchment, city fathers say, and with so many propositions already advanced, some will have to give way. It is thought that a new fire alarm signal system will receive first consideration, inasmuch as it is receiving daily agitation and seems a real necessity from the standpoint of public safety.

A fire alarm signal box of the vintage of 1871, more than half a century old and made when fire boxes were few and far between and the present system was a thing of wonderment, still is in use and is situated on the wall of the Branch street engine house. Its number is 31. Of course it has been subject to considerable change and adjustment during its 50 odd years of life, but withall, it is the same box that was placed in operation in 1871. This fact was but one of several interesting statements anent the present fire alarm system related by Capt. Tom Conway last week at the conference between the city council and underwriters and Gamewell system representatives and only served to accentuate the crying necessity of a new system.

Chicken is the favorite American food, with ham and cabbage second. So discovers Mrs. Mary C. Pickett of New York's Hotel McAlpin, after checking up by mail, hotels, clubs and restaurants all over the country. A minority favored roast beef, turkey and ice cream. Apple pie, once indisputably the national dish, seems to be fallen on evil days. Probably that's because part of the core usually shows up in the pie. I am rather surprised that Mrs. Pickett did not mention "hot dogs."

Maybe we shouldn't crow so loudly about the efficiency of the postoffice in carrying letters for the cheap price, two cents. Part of the cost is invisible. The senate passes the postoffice appropriation bill for 585 million dollars, or $5.30 a year for each American, $21.20 for a family of four. Lowell, I understand, is to get part of this amount for a new building so that we shall not complain.

A prize of $10,000 awaits you if you invent a way to slaughter, more humanely, animals for food purposes. The prize is offered by the American Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, of New York. Why not run them into a room where they'd be put to sleep by non-poisonous gas and then electrocuted? It might cost a few more cents a head than slitting a hog's throat or stunning a steer with a sledge hammer. But it would eliminate pain. And such elimination is cheap at any price.

Our country is so big, and its activities so varied, that none of us has more than a faint idea of what's going on at any time. This is illustrated in a report showing that a billion cocoanuts a year are grown under the American flag, most of them in our island colonies. Nine cocoanuts a year for each of us. United States and China are the only countries in the world with a "balanced exchange"—self-supporting, able to get along without imports in a pinch.

I learn that the United Women's Wear league is agitating for a way to prevent incompetents from going into business. It might work, in the nature of an advisory board. Such boards already exist, to determine whether or not a new business shall be granted credit. These organizations are known as mercantile agencies as a rule. France once had a law, by which a government officer advised all persons planning to enter business. He also passed on their competency and financial ability. Anyone with common-sense will consult experts, for counsel, before paddling out in his own canoe. The league has others in mind. If some law or rule of this kind were established, there would be fewer short-lived business ventures. But the incompetent man can do what he pleases with his money, as otherwise he would be deprived of equal opportunity with others.

Old timers who have known Maggie Cline at the old Music Hall will regret to learn that she is battling with what is supposed to be a fatal illness at Red Bank, N. J. Some twenty five years ago she was a star attraction in Lowell, always drawing an uproarious house. A native of Haverhill she always liked to give her best in that and the neighboring cities of Lawrence and Lowell.

INTERESTING LECTURE AT NORMAL SCHOOL

A very interesting lecture was given at Normal school yesterday afternoon by Mr. Edwin A. Hoadley of the faculty on the subject, "How I Learned to Draw." This lecture was the fourth of a series of ten lectures of "Personal Development" and was very interesting.

Mr. Hoadley spoke of the difficulties to be overcome in the learning of the art of drawing, of the unjust criticisms and the indifference of others that often discourages the artist, and he told how many a promising artist has had his future killed by these causes. He told how he had learned to draw, from the stage where he just made "a few marks on paper" up to the present time, and stated that all that was necessary was practice. "Masters are born, I believe," he said, "but anyone can draw, and will, after practice, be able to bring out their idea."

He spoke of the great help that good books are to anyone, the experiences of a lifetime put down in concise form for our study, and all that we need to do to benefit by these experiences is to read the books.

For teaching, Mr. Hoadley emphasized the fact that gentleness was absolutely necessary to get good results from children and that the success of the students at the Normal school, the future teachers, would be great if they followed this rule.

Mr. Hoadley illustrated his lectures in crayon, using only three colors, black, white and blue. His drawing comprised scenes from many lands; including the following: a scene on the Florida Keys, a Venetian scene along the Grand canal, Roman helmets and swords, Sinbad, Brownies, the genii of Aladdin arising from the lamp, a storm at sea, and one of this locality with the moon brightly shining on the river.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

FLAWS

On the whole my table manners aren't so bad,
I am silent in consuming consomme,
At an early time of life I quit eating with my knife
And I think I use my fork the proper way.
I don't ever cut my salad, I don't stoop
To inhale my coffee audibly as some.
But—I like to crumble crackers in my soup
And I like to peel an orange with my thumb,
I vum
I'd rather peel an orange with my thumb!

I spill very few potatoes on my vest,
I drop very little gravy in my lap,
And mother's teaching fingers so I do not lick my fingers,
Nor get pumpkin pie, regardless, on my map;
By experience my manners have become
Quite refined enough for almost any group,
Still—I like to peel an orange with my thumb
And I like to crumble crackers in my soup
Poor dupe
I like to crumble crackers in my soup!

There are things that social training cannot cure,
There are vulgar tastes that cannot be denied,
And though otherwise in terror of the slightest social error,
Here's a case where all conventions are defied,
Though it wreck my whole career beyond recoup,
Though my hostesses and hosts look very glum,
I shall always crumble crackers in my soup,
I shall always peel an orange with my thumb,
Ho hum,
I just love to peel an orange with my thumb!

TENNIS CHAMP IN NEW ROLE

No, gentle reader, this is not a peek into the private life of William T. Tilden, international tennis champion, but merely a view into the rehearsal of "Duley." Tilden will appear in the play when it is given in Philadelphia for the benefit of the Germantown Academy. The young "lady" is George Demitson, a very charming "Duley."

SOUTH END CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Members of the South End Social and Athletic club held a largely attended meeting Sunday. The officers were reelected for the ensuing term, routine business was transacted and the following committee was appointed to act jointly with the Lowell Advertising club in conducting the winter carnival at Fort Hill park this week: William McGreevey, Thomas O'Day, Bernard Connors and William McDermott. It was voted to conduct a ladies' night on January 31. At the close of the meeting baseball was discussed and the following committee was appointed to organize a baseball team for next summer: Frank Rome, John Cordingly and Thomas Hickey.

THE BOSTON AUTO SUPPLY COMPANY

One of the busiest automobile supply marts in or near Lowell, with a record of nine years' activity in local fields of supplying necessories of all kinds, is the establishment known as the Boston Auto Supply Co., located with headquarters at 96 Bridge street and branch department quarters at 73 Bridge st., Centralville.

The names of Joseph M. McGarry and Owen McGarry are familiar to the auto world hereabouts, and, in fact, all over New England, for the Boston Auto Supply depot on Bridge street has become known for miles around as famous for its service, convenience and splendid management.

All desired parts for standard cars are carried at the central station on Bridge street, which is also headquarters for the famous Pennsylvania vacuum and the Diamond automobile tires for passenger cars and the Goodrich and Kelley-Springfield "solids" for automobile trucks. Tires have advanced in prices this month, and rumors have reached Lowell auto marts that another advance is due Feb. 1.

As special inducements for this week only—auto show week—customers of the Boston Auto Supply store will be allowed to purchase best quality tires of all descriptions at the old prices in effect before the first January advance. Those who want tires but cannot pay for them or do not want them right away, may leave deposits and the tires desired will be saved for them. The prices all the week, whether tires are simply held for customers' acceptance or bought outright for cash will be the old prices that ruled last fall and early winter before the crude rubber prices arose and compelled the tire manufacturers to get more for their products. The crude rubber market is still reported to be short, with no prospects for more of the raw material coming in to supply the 1923 demands at the present time. Prices of best tires today are from 10 to 15 per cent. higher, but old prices will remain for this week at the "B.A.S.C."

The Boston Supply is now carrying a fresh carload of Pennsylvania and Diamond tires this week, and all are now in stock for inspection at the Bridge street service station and store. The company makes a specialty of repairing, supplying batteries, valves, grinding valves, etc. More than 12,000 different piston rings are also carried in stock regularly to fill all demands which vary greatly in and out of season.

The Boston supply is now carrying many special lines for renewing used automobiles and general equipment. No orders are too big, none too small, and where required parts are not on hand, orders are sent for them promptly and quick service usually given in all cases where supplies are desired in automotive quarters.

The concern is now carrying cylinder head gaskets, all sizes of brake lining, even up to the very wide five-inch sizes for the largest trucks made. It is safe to say that the Boston company supplies fully 50 per cent. of the big trucks of Lowell and vicinity with their largest tires and other wants, the location on Bridge street being handy for local as well as through Boston-Lowell-Lawrence traffic.

BORAH FLAYS FRENCH POLICY

Denounces State Department for Its Policy of Silence and Inactivity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—French policy in the Ruhr was attacked as "ruthless militarism," a violation of the armistice terms and the treaty of Versailles and an "offense against humanity" in a statement issued last night by Senator Borah, of Idaho, a republican member of the senate foreign relations committee. Senator Borah also criticized the state department in what he said, was its policy of silence and inactivity and declared the United States should at least declare its attitude by formally protesting against the French policy.

"This is a situation," said Senator Borah," in which the United States cannot with honor remain silent."

"The first duty of a nation is to protect its life when assailed and its highest honor and glory in victory is to be just to a fallen foe. It is this rule, which distinguishes the savage from the civilized nation.

"It was American principles announced by President Wilson upon which the armistice was signed and it was upon these principles that Germany laid down her arms.

"It was our soldiers that made possible the defeat and disarming of Germany.

"According to these announcements and principles we declared officially and many times that with the German people, as a people, we had no quarrel but a feeling of sympathy and friendship. In other words, we furnished the soldiers, the principles upon which the armistice was based which resulted in disarming and rendering Germany helpless, and we also made definite and certain pledges as to the treatment of Germany. After all that takes place and at a time when Germany has been disarmed, and rendered powerless, her territory is invaded, military rule is established, all of which will bring in its wake indescribable suffering and untold misery to the German people, as a people, and in addition to that, great financial and economic loss to our own people.

"In other words we see the German people turned over to the most destructive and ruthless method of militarism, of arbitrary power, and we do not so much even as record our protest. Certainly we cannot be silent under such circumstances."

IMPORTANT COURSE FOR AUTO OWNERS

Safe driving is one of the aims of the university extension course for automobile owners which will have its first meeting at the Lowell High school on Wednesday, January 24, at 7.30 o'clock. Statistics compiled by the state registrar of motor vehicles, Frank W. Goodwin, indicate that not all accidents occur from carelessness, but that many result from the lack of knowledge on the part of the operator about the mechanism and construction of the car. The purpose of the present course is to eliminate that type of accident as well as to add to the comfort and security of drivers who are already generally capable of handling their cars.

John J. Gildea of Lowell, a recognized automobile expert and experienced lecturer, has been designated by the Massachusetts department of education as instructor of the class. In the ten lectures of the course he will make use of a set of colored charts showing outside views and cross-sections of automobile engines and frames. The various types of cars, the principles of operation, proper care and methods of making road repairs will be discussed in the course. Emphasis will be laid upon the danger and expense arising from the neglect of worn and broken parts.

Plans have also been completed for the offering of a course in English composition in Lowell. The first meeting of this class will also be held at the Lowell High school on Wednesday afternoon, January 24, at 4.15.

This course includes instruction in theory and principles of English composition. The theory is taught by means of written lectures, text-books and the analysis of masterpieces of English art. Practice in application of theory is gained by the writing of expository, biographical and descriptive themes. Mr. Robert B. Masterson of Boston has been designated by the Massachusetts department of education as the instructor of this course.

Membership in both classes is open to residents of Lowell and vicinity. Interested persons may enroll at the first meeting of the classes or previously at the office of Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools.

WATCH FOR THE ORANGE CARDS

THE STORY OF THE SINGLE SIX

The Packard Single Six expresses at last in material form an ideal nearly as old as the Packard organization itself. Almost from the beginning officials of Packard have had the vision of a light car which should have all the qualities possible in an automobile, except those which go with weight and large size. They have demanded a car that should be the maximum in staunchness and reliability, that should insure comfort for driver and passengers alike, be silent and free from vibration, have the ability to travel at sustained high speed over average roads, be as nearly as possible free from weaknesses which require repairs or service over a long period of years, and have the utmost in quiet smartness and elegance of appearance.

The Single Six also sets a new standard for ease in keeping the car in condition, a feature which makes it particularly desirable and delightful for the owner-driver. In every particular the utmost pains have been taken to make a car that will need the fewest possible repairs and adjustments. In addition the parts are so designed and arranged that if trouble does arise every working part can be reached with the greatest ease, and without disturbing other assemblies.

Another great advantage is in the fine balance which makes the Single-Six ideal for a general purpose car. Every car must be a compromise; greatest speed and great economy cannot possibly be built into the same engine. In the new Packard these compromise have been so worked out that the car will meet all the needs of ordinary driving, and still have reserves left. So not only the individual excellencies of the car, but the combination and balance of these excellencies, join to give the Single Six a general serviceability that is a revelation.

The car is also a triumph in economy. With average gasoline consumption of only one gallon for 17 miles, with the ability to run 2000 miles on a single gallon of oil, and with tire mileage running from 15,000 to 25,000 miles, the car is incomparable in anything like its class.

BROADWAYS WIN FIRST OF SERIES

Great Rally by Upper Gorham Street Boys in Final Period, Feature of Game

Despite a whirlwind rally in a determined last-ditch fight the Butlers went down to defeat before the Broadways in the first of a five-game series before a large crowd at the Crescent rink last night by the score of 20 to 16.

Going into the last period with the count 12 to 4 against them and with few but their most sanguine admirers giving them an outside chance to even halt the Broadway onslaught, the Butlers by another demonstration of their ability to fight hardest when the odds are greatest, launched a bewildering attack that brought them within hailing distance of their opponents.

Only for the five lead established by the Broadways in the first and second periods, when they completely outclassed the upper Gorham street aggregation, the rally might have been productive of victory. The great finish made by the Butlers came about with the injection of Jimmie Keenan and Luke Lowcraft into the lineup. They had been on the sidelines during the early part of the game. Both were nursing injuries and did not intend to play.

But with their team facing a severe trouncing, the spirit that has made the Butlers famous in athletic competition proved too much for them, and they made way for the dressing rooms, donned their uniforms and got into the battle. Their presence served as a tonic to the other players and stimulated all to greater endeavors.

In the first and second periods the Broadways scored 12 points, with the Butlers negotiating just four points. In the third stanza, or the final 15 minutes of play, the Butlers scored 12 points, or as many as their opponents registered in the first two periods, while the Broadways scored eight points, or four more than were secured by the Butlers, in the first and second sessions.

The advantage of getting the jump, an important factor in any athletic contest, was responsible for the Broadway victory. At the sound of the first whistle the Acre lads went at it hammer and tongs, and a substantial lead was the result. The team work of the Broadways was a treat to look upon. Johnny Randall, Joe Foley, Lockwood and Keyes, veteran lyceum players, who had worked together on many occasions, revived the old combination activity in expert fashion. Dan O'Connor of the Cadets, who has joined the Broadways for the series, fitted into the combination nicely, and contributed his bit to the success of the team. Twohey and J. Connors, other Broadway players, also worked well with the veterans.

Randall's work throughout the game proved a repetition of splendid performances of previous years. He was the high scorer of the night with four baskets to his credit. Joe Foley, the star shooter of former Acre teams, and Lockwood, another veteran, were conspicuous in the scoring line.

The Butlers, plugged along earnestly in the early stages, but the team work, so conspicuous in the series with the Cadets, was not in evidence until the final period. The team appeared like a ship without a rudder without Keenan and Lowcraft in the lineup. The players worked as hard individually as they did collectively later, but the advantages of co-ordination were absence. Billy Maguire and Eddie Donnellan assumed the bulk of the offensive at the outset, and both players did well. Donnellan was the Butlers' high scorer, three from the floor being his contribution. The feature goal of the night, however, was negotiated by Maguire. It was a one-handed toss from the centre of the floor and in successfully negotiating the thrilling stunt the little fellow brought down the house. He also scored another basket. Lowcraft, who jumped into the breach in the last session, landed a brace, and Chase was the other Butler to count. Keenan did not score, but he played a whale of a game, and his effective passing figured in several baskets. Dan O'Connor played Keenan, and Keenan played O'Connor. It was some exhibition of covering, but at that both showed flashes of their well known brilliancy. Mullin, McMahon, R. Foley and Purtell, other Butler players, worked well during their stay in the game.

Three baskets by Randall, with one by Maguire and another by Chase, brough about a 6 to 4 score in the first period. The second found the Broadways travelling at a bewildering clip, putting all over their opponents. The Butlers were unable to penetrate the Broadway's defense during the entire 15 minutes of play, while the Acre quintet added three baskets to their total. Connors was the first to score and his contribution was a hummer. Twohey and Randall were the other Broadway contributors. The period ended 12 to 4 in favor of the Broadways.

Not a chance for the Butlers was the view expressed by the Broadway followers. Butler rooters looked forward with hope in their charges pulling another one of their garrison finishes. Keenan had hopped into the cage just before the second period ended. He was greeted with a vigorous outburst of applause. When the teams came on for the final session Keenan and Lowcraft were in the Butler lineup. Their presence instilled confidence into their fellow players as well as their admirers, and shortly after the session got underway the improvement noted in the Butlers' play threw consternation into the Broadway camp. Both teams fought hard for every point and while the Butler offensive was better executed, the Broadways would not be denied and they managed to maintain their lead to the finish. Goals came thick and fast and enthusiasm ran high. Joe Foley was first to break through. Donnellan soon nullified it. Keyes followed with one for the Broadways. Here the Butlers made a determined stand. Three in a row resulted with Lowcraft, Donnellan and Maguire scoring in order. The Broadways rallied with a brace by Foley and Lockwood. The Butlers still fighting hard came through with two, one by Donnellan and the other by Lowcraft. Both teams were battling furiously, but the big horn sounded, and the teams left the floor amid tumultuous applause.

Gridiron Star Wins Fame as Impersonator of Female Roles

THIS IS NOT HALSEY AND FIANCEE BUT TWO POSES OF DARTMOUTH'S FOOTBALL STAR, ON LEFT, MILLS IN GRIDIRON ATTIRE, ON RIGHT, MILLS MADE UP FOR STAGE.

Julian Eltinge, famous impersonator of female roles, has also won considerable fame in the ring. He is a very clever amateur boxer.

The famous Eltinge, however, has nothing on Halsey Mills, Dartmouth college quarterback, when it comes to the impersonation stuff.

Eltinge first won fame as a boxer, then became the leading impersonator of female roles on the stage.

Mills, in college life, first won recognition on the stage, then came the glory of the gridiron.

Mills for three years has been a college hero at Dartmouth—not because of his athletic prowess, but as a singer, eccentric dancer and impersonator of female roles in the annual college dramatics.

Now he is basking in a double spotlight, that of the gridiron as well as the stage.

Mills' rise to football fame is one of the sensations of the past season. At present he stands as the most picturesque figure in the football world.

Although devoting most of his time to the musical and dramatic activities at Dartmouth, each fall he has reported for football practice and labored faithfully as a scrub—a mere buffer for the varsity players.

Never until last season has he approached the varsity heights. Sent into the Vermont game because there really was no other quarterback available he played as though inspired. The following week he played the entire game against Harvard. The Crimson was hard pressed to win, 12 to 3, in a game featured by the playing of Mills.

His football fame coming at the very close of his career has dwarfed his stage popularity. It is fitting that a valiant scrub for three years should win such recognition from the Dartmouth student body.

COAST LEAGUE PRESIDENT WILL FIGHT MAJORS

By N.E.A. Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Despite the calm now existing, all is not well between the majors and minors.

Leading the cause of the minor leagues is "Billy" McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast league.

The minors can't see the draft as proposed by the majors. No league has profited more by the sale of players to the majors than the Coast league. So it is no wonder McCarthy can't see the draft idea.

New York paid $75,000 for O'Connell, Chicago coughed up $100,000 for Kamm and so on down the line. In the last two or three years the Coast league has profited to the extent of about $200,000 in the sale of players. The draft price would be about $7500 for a player, which is a lot different from $75,000 and $100,000.

The majors, in order to beat the minors at their own game, have made it permissible to send out 15 players to the minors on option. This would make it possible to develop promising recruits without losing title to them.

President McCarthy says the Pacific Coast league will fight the latest proposal to a finish.

As a matter of fact, McCarthy is just about convinced that the Coast league is entitled to big league consideration.

Riding Winners Great Sport, Says Champion Jockey Lester Fator

LESTER FATOR ON COLORADO MATT.

By N.E.A. Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—"Sport! Try riding winners some day if you want a thrill."

And Lester Fator should know.

This freckle-faced, clean-cut lad of some 21 years is America's champion jockey. He rode to 182 victories in 1922, and has just been sold for $15,000 to the famous Sam Hildreth stables.

Tijuana, the track that lies just south of the Mexican line and California border, was the scene of many of his last season victories.

He nosed out Jockey Chick Lang of the New Orleans track by one race. All season long they had been balancing back and forth.

Then, as the season slid to a close, a most spectacular finish faced race fans.

Lang had closed his season with one race to the good. Fator had to win the next two to pass him.

"I had Colorado Matt on the race that would tell the tale," he relates, "and we were stampeded home."

He is now king of the jockies and says they're going to have a hard time unthroning him.

Fator is an Idaho boy and for a number of years has been coming fast.

Golfer Worth $300 More a Year to Employer Than One Who Doesn't Play

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—A golfer is worth at least $300 more a year to his employer than an employe who does not have the physical and moral benefits of that game, said W. A. Alexander of Chicago, pioneer of golf in America, who preached golf as a business investment, at the annual meeting of the Western Golf association.

He declared that the game had such wonderful influence on the player for integrity, generosity and urbanity that it would be a good investment for every business man to see to it at his own expense, that his employes had opportunity to play golf at least once a week.

Mr. Alexander said that the difference he had found in men who played golf over those who had never taken up the game, convinced him that an employer would be the gainer if he actually expended $500 a year on each employe for golf. The returns in honesty, alertness, frankness and refinement would repay such an investment many times over in some cases, and would at least equal the outlay in the least promising man.

The speaker was particularly urgent that the youth of America have the benefits of golf, and offered a handsome cup for the winner of the western junior championship contested annually by golfers under 20 years of age.

NO. 19—THE GREATEST PITCHING I EVER SAW

To Walter Johnson goes the credit of pitching the three greatest consecutive games I ever saw a major league pitcher turn in.

Johnson performed his three remarkable pitching feats on September 4, 6, 7, 1908, against the New York Americans in that city.

All that Johnson did was shut out the Yankees, then known as the Highlanders, in three straight games. The peculiar part of the feat was the more Johnson pitched the better he got.

In those days the single umpire system was in use in the major leagues. It was my very great privilege to be entirely in charge of those three games, which I believe stand unequaled from a pitching point of view.

In the old days of the single umpire system, the arbitrators always welcomed pitchers' battles. Since it is necessary for an umpire to cover every play with the single system in vogue, close games in which the pitchers were masters of the situation, always made the work much easier.

While those three games in which Johnson shut out New York on consecutive days were remarkable pitching feats, they were soft picking from the angle of the umpire.

The reason—New York was helpless before Johnson, while Washington would early assume a lead that would make the game secure with Johnson going at top speed. I didn't have to do much running around the bases in those three games, as mighty few players got on.

The first game was played on Friday, Sept. 4, 1908, Washington winning 3 to 0, Johnson allowing the losers only six hits.

The second game was played Saturday, Sept. 5, 1908, Washington defeating New York 6 to 0. Johnson allowed four hits.

In those days Sunday ball was not permitted in New York, both teams enjoying a day of rest. Monday was Labor day, two games being scheduled. In Monday's papers, Joe Cantillon, the Washington manager, announced that if Johnson shut out New York in the third game he would send Walter right back for the fourth consecutive time.

New York used the great Jack Chesbro against Johnson to break the shutout epidemic. Johnson turned in the best game of the three, winning 1 to 0. New York making only two measly hits.

In the late innings of the game, Johnson was hit on the right arm by one of Chesbro's fast spitballs. The game was delayed about five minutes while Johnson had the arm massaged. He finished the game, but during the intermission the arm became so sore that Cantillon decided not to risk working Walter in the second game of the day.

Three shut-outs in three consecutive games, allowing 6, 4 and 2 hits in each affair, is to my way of thinking a really wonderful pitching feat.

WORCESTER TIGERS PLAY IN LOWELL TONIGHT

The Worcester Tigers, led by the inimitable Fred Jean, who are now setting the pace in the National Roller polo league, will come to town tonight, to play the Lowell team at the Crescent rink.

The Tigers have been out in front for two weeks and have been gradually increasing their advantage. The other teams realize that in order to keep in the running they must halt the Jean-led crew.

Capt. Harkins, of the Lowell Five, is out to put a dent in the pennant ambitions of the team from the heart of the commonwealth. He is elated over his team's success in winning over the rival Providence team in the Rhode Island city Saturday night, and declares a continuance of the brilliant work which featured that game will soon bring Lowell right up the ladder.

Kid Williams, the Lowell star, who according to the last averages published, was but two goals behind "Wild Bill" Duggan, the leader, is out to displace the Whaler this week. He will travel fast tonight. In an endeavor to increase his average. Tonight's lineups will be as follows:

LOWELL		WORCESTER
K. William, lr	lr, lb	Pierce
Harkins, rr	rr, S.	Pierce
Hardy, c	c	Jean
Morrison, hb	hb,	Muirhead
Lovegreen, g	g	Conley

A large delegation from the Ten Marche store will attend tonight's game.

ATHLETICS WERE FIRST IN HOME RUNS

If leading the league in making home runs is any consolation to a seventh place team, then the Philadelphia Athletics have rightful claim to that rather meager honor. For Connie Mack's gang topped the American loop in circuit smashes in 1922, compiling 111 of these blows.

"Tillie" Walker and "Bing" Miller were the pace setters for the Quakertown entry, the former crashing out 37 four-ply knocks, and the latter, 21. Then followed Dykes with 12, Welch 11, Hauser 9, Galloway 6, Perkins 6, Scheer 4, and Hasty Naylor, Young, Johnston and McGowan with one each. Of this cluster, Walker ranked second to Kenneth Williams for the league premiership and Miller tied with Heilmann for fourth place. Dykes came in eighth, dividing the honors with Burns of Boston and Falk of the White Sox.

The St. Louis Browns landed in second place in the home-run department, accruing 97 such blows, while New York, aided and abetted by "Babe" Ruth and "Bob" Meusel, was third with 95. Cleveland brought up the rear, making 32 "around-the-sacks" smashes, of which Tris Speaker got over one-third or 11 of them. Much of the success of the Athletics in driving out circuit smashes is due to the layout of the park. Left field is rather short, and the low barrier in front of the bleachers made a home-run wallop only an ordinary hit.

This fault, however, is being remedied. The wall in front of the left-field stands is being made some four feet higher. It will take a much longer drive to drop into the left-field bleachers at Philly this year.

HAS SPLENDID RECORD

Gene Delmont Has Boxed Leonard, Dundee, Tendler and Other Notables

Gene Delmont, the crack Memphis lightweight, came out of his bout with Tony Julian without a scratch and is in excellent condition for his scrap with Johnny Darcy of New York, which will be the feature event at the Moody A. C. show in the Crescent rink Thursday night. The boys will travel over the 10-round journey.

Delmont made such a big hit in Brockton against Julian that Matchmaker Billy Goodrich of the Brockton A. C. has matched him to box Oscar Deschamps, Canadian lightweight champion for the feature bout in two weeks.

Delmont is a legitimate lightweight. He scaled 133 pounds while Julian, who was considered a lightweight, weighed 142 pounds. This is a great disadvantage and was the only thing that defeated Delmont.

Delmont and Darcy met before and a sensational contest resulted. It was a no-decision affair and both boys claimed a victory, although the newspapers declared the mill a draw. Both boys have agreed to enter the ring at 135 pounds ringside.

The Memph's lightweight has established a remarkable record. He has boxed two 10-round fights with Benny Leonard, lightweight champion; Johnny Dundee, Vincent Martin, K. O. George Chaney, Harry Kid Brown, Joe Tiplitz, Andy Chaney, Matt Brock, Lew Tendler, Frankie Britt, Irish Patsey Cline, Johnny Darcy, Kid Kaplan, Babe Herman and many other stars too numerous to mention.

Delmont is one of the very few boys to defeat Joe Tiplitz and Harry Kid Brown in Philadelphia.

Kid Lewis Wins Again

LAWRENCE, Jan. 23.—Kid Lewis won the decision over Barney Burke in the main bout of the Economy club show here last night. Martin Flaherty of Lowell was the referee.

In the semi-final Young Purtell of Lowell won the award over Ray Rancourt of Lawrence, the Lowell boy nearly scoring a knockout in the ninth frame.

In the other bouts, Young Gosselin won over Frankie Mack, both local boys. Jack O'Brien beat Joe Delmont.

HUGHEY JENNINGS OFFERS ADVICE TO BABE RUTH

What ails Babe Ruth? Have the pitchers discovered his weakness? Can Ruth come back? What is his biggest problem?

Can Ruth come back with the old-time wallop?

That is the big question in baseball, particularly from a New York standpoint.

Hughey Jennings, who assists John McGraw in managing the New York Giants, has a system which he believes would soon make Ruth the most-feared batter in the majors.

"Pitchers now realize that pitching fast and on the inside to Ruth is fatal. His terrific swing and his stance at the plate makes such a style soft picking," says Jennings.

"Incidentally, the infield so shifts on Ruth that many a baseball is gobbled up on him that under ordinary conditions would go safe.

"Ruth cannot hit effectively pitchers who have a good change of pace. This is due to his position at the plate and the fact that he takes a free swing at every pitch.

"What Ruth should do is to mix them up on the pitcher. If I were he I would hug the plate and choke up on the bat. That would make it an easy matter to drop a lot of Texas leaguers into left field, which is entirely vacant because of the way the outfielders shift on him. An occasional bunt would also keep the infield guessing.

"Nothing will help Ruth back into his stride any quicker than fear on the part of the pitchers. Ruth can bring this about if he will forget home runs for a time and content himself with singles and doubles.

"The pitchers now have a decided edge on Ruth, because of his stance at the plate and the fact that he is a free swinger. He should change his style—mix 'em up."

COUE'S THEORY NOT NEW IN WORLD OF SPORT

Dr. Coue's theory of autosuggestion is far from being new in the world of sport.

The slogan of the Princeton football team of last year was, "think nothing but victory, then execute it." That is just what the Tigers did.

"Fight, fight, fight," has for years been the watchword of most college teams in all branches of sport.

However, to the late Mike Murphy, most famous of all college trainers, must be given the credit of first introducing the theories of Dr. Coué into sport.

"A team that won't be licked, can't be licked."

That was the precept that he kept constantly in the minds of the athletes who were under his direction. The fame enjoyed by Mike Murphy and the great success of his teams, makes it seems as if there were much in the theory of autosuggestion.

WILLARD HAS NEW ALIBI

By N. E. A. Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—"Jack Dempsey won the title from me on a sneak punch."

That is the latest alibi offered by Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion.

Sounds rather reasonable. The surprising thing is that Jess didn't figure it out sooner.

"Dempsy stammied me on the chin as we were coming out of a clinch, after we had been ordered to break clean. His act was contrary to the rules of the Toledo commission.

"After that sneak punch I was through. I didn't know a thing from then on. I was practically helpless. I had dropped my arms to step back clean, when Dempsey put over the illegal punch that decided the championship in his favor."

BUTLER SEconds WIN

The Butler Seconds were too strong for the Mysteries in the preliminary to the big game in Crescent rink last night, and won by the score of 32 to 25. The Seconds challenge the Y.M.H.A. Juniors to one or a series of games for the 125-pound championship of the city. Last night's lineups:

BUTLERS SECONDS		MYSTERIES
Connors, lf	lb	Sharkey, Lawler
Chase, rf	lb	Carroll
Griffin, c	c	Emerson
Ouellette, lb	rf,	Eaton
Perry, rb	lf	Sullivan

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Team 11 of Division A, Class 2, was the winner over Team 10 in the first of the games in the Freshman Basketball league at the high school yesterday. The score was 7 to 4. In Division B of the same class, Team 11 was a two to one favorite over Team 10 at 16 to 8. Elevens were rolling true to form in the league yesterday, Team 11 of Class 3 winning over Team 4 by a 6 to 3 count. Team 10 of Class 3 scored a shutout over Team 2 by the score of 5 to 0. In Class 1, Team 5 was good enough to defeat Team 7 at 5 to 1.

SUCCESSOR TO BUCK O'NEILL

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Three athletic committees of Columbia university will discuss appointment of a successor to Football Coach Buck O'Neill at a joint meeting today, but a definite decision is not expected. O'Neill resigned at the end of the last season.

NEW BEDFORD MAN HONORED

LISBON, Jan. 23.—The Order of Christ has been conferred by the government upon Arthur Teixera and Guilherme Achado of New Bedford, Mass.

DEMPSEY EXPECTED AT NEW YORK TODAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—New York's population, recently augmented by an influx of heavyweight boxers, temporarily will go up one more today with the expected arrival of Jack Dempsey, the champion of them all. His manager, Jack Kearns, is expected to come in Dempsey's wake tomorrow or Thursday.

Nothing in a business way is expected of the champion until Kearns' advent. When the latter arrives however, agreements probably will be made for at least two bouts for the champion this summer, one with Jess Willard, from whom he won the title, and a second, providing he survives the first, with one of the aspirants who never held the crown.

Dempsey's second match of the year may be with the winner of the Luis Firpo-Bill Brennan match, which will be held Mar. 12 and still it may be with the survivor of the Floyd Johnson-Tom Gibbons bout, also planned for next month.

There were reports today that Tex Rickard plans holding a bout between Dempsey and Firpo in Argentine, native land of the Latin challenger.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Americans announced today that he had signed John W. Heard, a southpaw pitcher who played last season with Erskine college, Due West, S. C.

YOUNG MANTY WINS TITLE FROM SUGGS

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 23.—Charlie Manty of New Bedford is the new featherweight champion of New England. He fought Chick Suggs last night a 10-round battle for the title and won the decision.

Manty carried the fight all the way and gave a wonderful exhibition. Manty used chiefly a straight left jab, which Suggs could not seem to stop.

Suggs caught Manty a hard right swing in the seventh round as Manty was stepping along from a missed swing and the New Bedford fighter went to the mat, but he was up almost as soon as he landed.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The popular Douglas MacLean, in the popular picturization of "The Hottentot" is the feature attraction at the new Merrimack Square theatre the first three days of the week. It is a comedy of the highest type, those who have read the story finding real enjoyment in the picture. The plot is laid in the Long Island villa of a wealthy couple whose hobby is horses, not "hobby horses" but horses in the flesh. It happens that Sam Harrington, a friend of this couple, is just as devotedly intent on yachting and extremely timid where horses are concerned. At the invitation of Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Guilford consent to take the members of their house party on a yachting cruise. When the day set for sailing arrives, Harrington goes to the home of the Guilfords only to find that they had completely forgotten about his invitation and were preparing to go riding. He is favored with an introduction to Peggy Fairfax, a charming devotee of horses. She is about to take her departure from the Guilford premises when her horse becomes startled and runs away. Harrington follows in a fast automobile and executes a thrilling and amusing rescue.

Some of the members of the party mistake the hero for a famous steeplechase jockey and one of them in particular insists that he try his skill at riding a stubborn horse known as "Hottentot." This he does—for a very short distance—his equestrian abilities soon finding an outlet to the extent that he is thrown over a stone wall in company with the horse's bridle and mane. It was Peggy Fairfax who exacted of him a promise to ride her gallant steed in the following day's steeplechase, she still thinking him the famous jockey that he was not. Realizing his predicament, Harrington, with the aid of a butler, steals Miss Fairfax's horse and feeds it apples and water until he is proclaimed unfit for service. The heroine is heart-broken over the temporary disability of her favorite animal, so much so in fact, that Harrington purchases the "Hottentot" and resolves to ride it in the race. A steeplechase is always thrilling, with its bumps and jumps and dashes and splashes, and so it is in the "Hottentot," a race which Harrington wins after a splendid dash from the rear. His prize is the girl.

Ethel Clayton in "If I Were Queen" is the second feature of the bill and contains many beauty scenes of rare worth. A news reel and a fable complete a most interesting program.

THE RIALTO THEATRE

"Rich Men's Wives," a society drama with House Peters and Claire Windsor in the leading roles, and "The Vengeance Trail," with "Big Boy" Williams and Will Rogers, Jr., as the principal performers, comprise an excellent double feature program which opened a two-day engagement at the Rialto Theatre yesterday afternoon. It is one of the best balanced programs of the entire season and introduces a contrast of screen talent that is really entertaining. Other attractions on the bill include Round 2 of "The Leather Pushers," also a snappy Christie comedy and the Rialto News Review.

"Rich Men's Wives," is a picture of society life just as the name implies. It follows the life of a college girl from the time she graduates from college, through an irresponsible marriage and much more irresponsible life. Natural folly, produced by an idle mind and created through an atmosphere of house parties and wild socials tends to wreck the home provided for her by a conservative husband and a parting between the pair results.

Claire is declared the debutante of the season at a horse show and she is thrown in the way of House Peters, a conservative fellow whose love for horses exceeds any other hobby of his.

He immediately falls in love with the young college girl and a marriage is arranged. Everything in the home is placed at the disposal of the young bride but she, trained to irresponsibility and frivolity by foolish parents, cares little for the worldly affairs he has to offer. She is the centre of a social whirlwind and despite the solemn warning of the fretful husband she gradually slips from his grasp into the alluring net laid by a wily schemer. A separation ensues between the couple and it is then that the woman realizes the mistake she has made in throwing up a home life that was worth while. Both see the folly of their life and after a series of explanations and promises everything is patched up to the satisfaction of husband, his wife and their baby boy.

"The Vengeance Trail" concerns a band of ingenious highwaymen who have been taken into custody through the efficient work of "Big Boy" Bronson, depicted by Williams. It is a thrilling story of western life in its wildest phase and brims all over with red blooded action.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Down the merry line of melody, burlesque and dancing acts, with novelty skits in quantity and instrumentalists of high order, come the Keith big wheel performers this week straight to Bridge street, with specially featured acts from top to bottom of an excellent January bill.

It was an eager audience last night with many regulars on hand to extend greetings to our mellow old-time friend, Lew Hawkins, still young and finest of the older vintages of black-face comedians, still tripping the vaudeville boards. The Chesterfield of minstrelsy, who brought back memories of Dockstader, West, Skelly and Primrose—with just a touch of Ben Butler and his negro "coon tatlers"—was at his best last night in front of an uproarious crowd of friends, old and new. Hawkins has a method of singing odd, ragged ditties unsurpassed, with a touch of levee flavor, but actually Memphis quality where canes and high collars rule in the best colored set. Lew is a welcome visitor this week. May he return again when the wheel moves around once more.

"Tunes and Steps" proved to be an engaging combination of ultra-snappy music, pretty girls in the lineup and some smashing good instrumental music that rang true. The act features a clever company, including the Misses Isabelle, Lillian and Alice; Frances Sylvester, Emma Paul and Billy Farrell. The band is real one, with instrumental music of excellent harmony. Late melodies, clever dances with Billy in centre of stage and parading his best, please Keith patrons and provided numerous musical surprises. The dancing is an important part of this act.

Olive Briscoe and Al Rauh, "something of the dance, something of song and something of comedy," came along next in a titled skit, "The Brave Coward." Miss Briscoe stars high, with Rauh very effective in his own peculiar style of entertaining.

Mark Twain painted "Huckleberry Finn," or Mark's friends were responsible, whichever way you want to put it, at anyhow Charles Keating has taken this familiar character of the boyhood books and placed it back of the footlights with a setting that makes a genuine appeal. And the Keating presentment is not a caricature, but a real character that takes you by the hand most appealingly and leads you down the old, old trail back to the summer days down by the mill. Keating has an able feminine assistant to complete the pastoral scene.

A clever playlet, giving Bryan Lee and Mary Cranston something to do and doing it mighty well, comes next. There is music running through the sketch, much of it written by old Will Hough, known on all the big-time circuits for his catchy melodies and fine rythms, and for just such acts as these handled by the capable and the sympathetic Miss Cranston, 1922 national prize beauty winner, too, makes a delightful appearance and Lee shines in straight light comedy. "The Honeymoon House" occupies a leading position on this week's Keith offering list.

The well known "Bachelors of Music," William Young and Charles Wheeler, are top-notchers in piano and violin melody refined and also just unrefined enough to be termed jazzy, and Frank Work and company have a good substantial offering in "Three O'Clock in the Morning." Frank's tumbling and agility in freak dancing called for more applause than he received.

THE STRAND THEATRE

"Grandma's Boy," Harold Lloyd's latest comedy, is the headliner at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. It is one of the best productions of its kind shown in this city in a long time and if one is to judge by the reception it was given at both performances yesterday, it is bound to make a hit in Lowell. It is a fun-producing vehicle, which keeps the audience in good humor from start to finish.

"Grandma's Boy" deals with a young man, who since childhood has been dominated by fear, and whose most darling episode up to a certain time was to sing loud in the church choir. While a boy he is being abused by all his schoolmates, and he grows up with fear in his heart and even when he has attained the age of maturity he is the soft-picking of every one in his town. His grandmother, who has watched his steps since his boyhood, realizes that something must be done to rid him of his weakness, and tells him of his grandfather, who likewise suffered from fear in his youth, but overcame it through the use of a charm and later proved his worth during the Civil war. She gives the boy the charm, which has its magic effect with the result that the young man captures single-handed a trump, who for some time had raised havoc in the town. Having driven the fear out of his heart and being imbued with what he believed to be extraordinary strength, the young man sets out and gives the town bully a bad thrashing. He wins the hand of the girl he loves and all ends well. The play is well worth seeing for those who enjoy comedy.

"Another Man's Shoes," is a melodrama of vital interest. It features Herbert Rawlinson in a duel role and unfurls a story that is appreciated. It deals with a young American who is being held responsible for the murder of a European monarch. He discovers a plot by which he is to be killed, so in order to escape death he hires his cousin to impersonate him. Dodging assassins is the greatest pastime for the impersonator and to appreciate how he manages to evade the traps being set for him one must see the picture.

There is also a pleasing comedy as well as pictures of current events that are very entertaining. "Fun From the Press" is as enjoyable as ever, while the musical selections add greatly to the success of the program.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Al. Luttringer's stock company made an auspicious opening last night at the Opera House when they played "East is West" to a large and very appreciative audience.

Mr. Luttringer, in choosing "East is West" for his opening in Lowell, chose a play that is extremely difficult. A play that could easily be overdone and made into a burlesque by extreme accentuation of the character parts. He evidently was certain of the calibre of his company for they succeeded in giving to those present an entertainment of the highest order, the character parts being played exceptionally well.

The story of the play is simple. The prologue is a scene on a love boat on the Yang Tse river, and it is to this boat that Ming Toy is brought by her erstwhile father to be sold. It is here also that Billy Benson is brought by Lo Sang Kee, a merchant of San Francisco, who is conducting Billy through China. When Billy sees Ming Toy about to be sold to an ugly customer he steps in and induces Lo Sang Kee to buy her and smuggle her into America. The first act brings us back to Lo Sang Kee's house one year after the love boat episode. Lo Sang Kee is notified by James Potter, of the mission, and also a suitor to the hand of Mildred Benson, Billy's sister, that he must get rid of Ming Toy. Lo Sang Kee agrees to this and sells her to Charlie Young, concelited chop-suey merchant. Before he gets her, however, Billy Benson returns and with James Potter's assistance gets Ming Toy to his house where she works as maid to Mildred. When the Bensons awake to the fact that Billy is deeply in love with Ming Toy they decide to send her away. Charlie Young visits them at this time and tells them of his purchase and promises to marry her immediately. To prevent this, Billy announces his engagement to Ming Toy. Charlie Young, to avenge himself on Ming Toy, brings two of his tong men to kidnap her and kill Billy. One of these men is the supposed father of Ming Toy and he refuses to kill Billy on the grounds that Ming Toy is not his daughter but is the daughter of white missionaries from whom he kidnapped her. When this news is told to the rest of the Bensons all objections to her marriage to Billy are removed. As the love affair of James Potter and Mildred has, during the last act, been brought to a successful conclusion, all live happily ever after.

Mary Ann Dentler, as Ming Toy, was charming. She was called upon to act every minute and her performance left nothing to be desired. Her costumes were beautiful, and in her acting she was vivid and sincere, her smiling pathos being exceptionally well done. Arthur DeLord, as Billy Benson, played his part well, making a pleasing leading man to a charming leading lady. He was absolutely sure of his part and his lines were clearly spoken.

Richard Morgan playing the part of the villain, Charlie Young, was the outstanding character of the play. Every time he appeared on the stage brought down the applause of the house. The more we see of him in suitable casts the better we will be pleased.

The company is most decidedly one of the best ever seen on the stage in Lowell and if Mr. Luttringer succeeds in getting plays of the calibre of "East is West" for them he deserves the support that is necessary to make his venture a success.

The scenery was delightfully done, everything clean and fresh and showing the work of a master hand. Mr. H. H. Fish as scenic artist did much to keep the play where it should be, his scenery for the love boat was remarkable, and the house settings in the other acts were well done.

During the first intermission Mr. L. R. Barhydt introduced the general manager, Mr. Al. Luttinger. He told the audience of his plans for the company, and of his experiences in the field of drama for the past 26 years. He also asked them and the public in general for their support in this venture and promised only the best and cleanest plays for their enjoyment.

TRIAL OF PAULINE FREDERICK'S SUIT

NORWICH, Conn., Jan. 23.—The case of Pauline Frederick, actress, against the Thames Now Bank of this city was scheduled for trial in the superior court here today. The action is on an appeal by Miss Frederick from the decision of the probate court which admitted the will of her father, Richard D. Libby of this city, who bequeathed his $30,000 estate to relatives of his second wife and left nothing to his daughter.

When the will was probated last September, Miss Frederick was quoted as saying that she did not know her father had any money and that she did not care who the left it to. In the court action her name is given as Pauline Beatrice Rutherford.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully, and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. Englemann, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N.Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Englemann.

You should give it a fair trial now.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

VESSELS MISSING FOR TWO WEEKS

Part of Fleet Finds Temporary Haven in Bolinao Cove—No Place to Land

MANILA, Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press) Fear is expressed here that seven Russian refugee ships with more than 500 persons aboard, have been lost in the China sea, enroute from Shanghai to the Philippines, as part of Admiral Stark's fleet of Vladivostok exiles, five ships of which are anchored near here. The missing vessels have not been heard of since January 10.

Admiral Stark is with the ships which have found temporary haven in Bolinao Cove. But his white fleet of homeless Siberians has no place on earth to land permanently.

Plans may be worked out, however, for the refugees to remain in the Philippines. They could be admitted under the immigration laws, but the question of absorbing them in business on the islands presents a difficult problem.

Admiral Stark and his office asserted that they were very desirous of remaining in the Philippines or anywhere else under the American flag. Discussing the matter aboard the flagship, they told the Associated Press that if they returned to Vladivostok they would be killed by the soviet forces.

A later report from Wallace, Idaho, said that two men had been overcome by gas but that they had been rescued. The fire was discovered this morning when the day shift went on duty, it was stated.

Board to List Voters

Jr. and Victor F. Jewett, of Lowell, and Mr. McOsker, father of the measure. There were no remonstrants.

Rep. Achin, the first speaker, said the bill would tend to centralize voting activities in the city by putting the matter of poll listing in the hands of the election commission, which, in his judgment, had performed satisfactory work since its inception several years ago.

"By the present arrangement of listing," said Rep. Achin, "the work is left to assistant assessors, appointed by the assessing department and they give very poor service. Instead of visiting houses to make a correct list, they usually stay at home and copy the names from the list of the previous year. Notifications are sent to dead men, poll taxes often are sent to children and many voters are dropped without notice of any kind."

Rep. Achin called attention to the excellent work being done in Boston, Cambridge and Chelsea by such listing boards, composed of the election commission and the chief of police, with listing done by policemen.

Rep. Jewett called it a beneficial measure and said Cambridge has saved several thousand dollars since it was established there. Mr. McOsker also spoke in favor of the petition and as there were no remonstrants the hearing closed. HOYT.

of rum runners. The force of the new order, it was said, would be to place the coast guard directly, instead of indirectly on the trail of coast smugglers.

The order it was said here, applied to all stations on the Atlantic seaboard the Gulf coast and the Great Lakes.

Scarcely had it been made public when the coast guard cutter Manhattan was reported by marine observers to be passing in Sandy Hook with a bootlegger in tow.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Opening prices in today's stock market were irregular but in the main higher. Short covering operations were apparent in some of the leaders which had been depressed yesterday, Baldwin, rallying a point and Studebaker and Crucible fractionally. Fisher Body advanced 2½. The initial demand centered in the oils, motors, independent steels and a few miscellaneous issues.

New high records for the year were established by Owens Bottle, Cluett Peabody and Piggly Wiggly, the affairs ranging from 3-4 to 2 points. Crucible extended its gain to 1¾ and steel and tube preferred to 2 points. There was a resumption of yesterday's buying in the food shares. Corn Products, Postum Cereal and Beechnut all moving to higher ground. Gains of a point each were scored by General Asphalt, New York Central, American Woolen, Brown Shoe, Sears Roebuck and Famous Players, while substantial fractional advances were recorded by Pan-American A and B, California Petroleum, Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Chandler and United Fruit. There were a few weak spots, notably Wilson & Co., which reacted 1¾ points, and Northern Pacific, Reynolds Spring and Willys-Overland preferred, off ½ to ¾. Foreign Exchanges opened higher.

The close was irregular. A further slump in Fisher Body to 162 and the marking up of call money to 6 per cent. caused a further reaction in prices in the late afternoon, several active shares extending their losses to 1 and 2 points. Partial recovery took place just before the close when a bullish demonstration was staged in the rubber shares on announcement of another increase in the price of the crude product.

SEC. MELLON REPLIES

Stresses Public Misapprehension of Effect of Stock Dividends by Corporations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Public misapprehension of the effect of stock dividends by corporations was stressed today by Secretary Mellon in a reply, transmitted to the senate today, to the resolution of Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, inquiring if income tax penalties had been imposed on 328 corporati ns which had declared stock dividends totalling $2,140,000,000 last year.

Secretary Mellon said there was nothing to report at this time because the 1922 income tax returns would not be received by the treasury until next March. He added that the first tax returns, those for 1921, affected by the revenue law prohibiting evasion of taxes by accumulation of corporation surpluses, were received last March, but had not yet been examined because of the accumulation of tax returns for 1917, 1918 and 1919.

Declaring there was much misapprehension regarding the accumulation of corporation surplus, Secretary Mellon's letter said that the law did not tax undistributed profits of an accumulation of surplus, "but put the penalty on accumulation of gains and profits beyond the reasonable needs of the business."

"There is at the same time much confusion," Secretary Mellon added, "as to the relation of the declaration of a stock dividend. In any case where the section (the surtax on improper surplus) applies, the department can proceed with its enforcement quite as well after as before the declaration of a stock dividend. The declaration of a stock dividend does not relieve corporations nor does it indicate that a corporation has accumulated gains or profits beyond the reasonable needs of its business, for the entire amount of the surplus capitalized by the declaration of the stock dividend may be invested in plant, equipment and inventory, or be needed as working capital or it may have been accumulated before the high taxes became effective.

"Furthermore, the receipt of a stock dividend by itself has no effect upon the tax liability of the recipient, since the holders of stock in the corporation after the receipt of a stock dividend has altogether no more than he had before."

In this connection Secretary Mellon quoted the supreme court stock dividend decision which declared that a stock dividend was "merely bookkeeping that does not affect the aggregate assets of the corporation or its outstanding liabilities."

SEIZED JUICE BECOMES WINE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Pasquale Ottene and Louis Polenetto had a load of grapejuice when their truck was seized in Oakland a week ago on suspicion. The federal court ruled today that the juice could not be returned to the defendants as it had become wine since the seizure and would be turned over to prohibition enforcement authorities.

The Lowell Rotary Club

healthy, solid growth following a mighty unpromising beginning.

Before Mr. Winchenbaugh was introduced, William Mitchell, who is going sailing over the western seas to China in a few weeks, was honored by being made a member of the Rotary club "until he returns." Meaning that Mr. Mitchell won't have to worry anybody about his club dues for some time to come.

Someone suggested that the anniversary of International Rotary be held on Feb. 19, but as the Memorial Auditorium is engaged for a business banquet on that evening, the Rotarians will have to find another night. Feb. date will probably be on Feb. 23, although Monday, Feb. 26 is looked upon very favorably by some members for the Rotarian celebration.

When the dinner date is settled, only Rotarians will be allowed to participate in the evening's program. Not any kind of an outsider—not even the janitor—will be allowed within the Liberty hall dining place on this Rotarian evening of evenings, although guests from other Rotary clubs are coming and will be entertained. Several Rotarian stunts, all new, will be introduced at this annual banquet rally.

Royal P. White, in charge of the membership contest with Fitchburg Rotarians, didn't know he had been made chairman of the Lowell committee, but will have a report to make tonight, and also Thursday noon at 12 o'clock, when the Lowell committee has a little meeting at the Yorick club. The membership attendance contest, soon to start, is to end about March 6, and the rules and regulations read like a set of signs on a college race course with many musts and don'ts and shalls and wills.

An invitation from the Lowell Advertising club to Rotarians to not only take part in the proposed "L.A.C." winter carnival to be held soon, but contribute just a mere $50 to the carnival fund, was received calmly, and upon recommendation of Harry Pollard, who boosted the carnival nicely and said it would show what genuine Lowell hospitality can do when exerted along the right lines even in the winter time, the matter of giving the $50 was referred to the president and treasurer.

The Rotarians expressed their approval of the Advertising club carnival program and hope this feature event of the season in Lowell open air pastimes will prove a record-breaker.

Two young men out of work were brought before the Rotarians today and the members asked to-aid them by giving them steady or temporary employment of some kind. One soldier boy has an aged mother and two invalid brothers to support. He receives a $50 pension from Uncle Sam, but the money doesn't go very far. He has been unable to secure work this winter, although was employed during the summer with the Lowell-street department forces.

The second applicant for Rotarian aid was for 23 years a member of Uncle Sam's marines, and has been retired on half-pay, $20 a month. He has been unable to find steady work. He would like a position as a watchman or similar employment. The Rotarians voted to aid both veterans promptly and work will be found for them if there is a place for them in town.

Harry Pitts and Russell Dana, representing the Lowell Automobile Merchants' association, appeared and distributed tickets for the Kasino exhibition. They were warmly welcomed, but the boys preferred to pay for each ticket to help the association along.

Former President Robert Thomson, appearing once more at the head table and warmly greeted, was chairman for the afternoon, and introduced Mr. Winchenbaugh as the club's "father." Mr. Winchenbaugh was president of Boston Rotary for two years and district governor for two years, also. After referring to his experiences in founding the Dutton street organization, he reviewed world Rotary and all its works, declared that few people really knew the responsibilities of Rotary-ism and said that it is actually something besides a "luncheon club and a mutual admiration society."

"We must work for higher ideals than just getting a good dinner from week to week," declared the speaker. "We meet to draw inspiration and to pass along our experiences and suggestions. A good many Rotarians need to get out of the ruts. It ought to be easy enough, for you know that we are non-political, non-sectarian and have no racial prejudices, or ought not to have if we are real Rotarians.

"We have disillusioned many people about the workings of Rotary. They used to think we simply got together to obtain a meal and tell each other what good fellows we were. Rotary functions every day along the better lines. It is a practical organization for building up cities and business progress and human fellowship in business the world over."

The speaker told of the efforts of Boston's prosperous Rotary organization, which now has about 50 boys going to schools and colleges, paying for their education regularly and making men of them in the end.

The Rotarians advance school tuition expenses from a $23,000 fund and the boys pay it back to the Rotarians after they leave school and go to work—that is, if they can. If they can't, the Rotarians don't mind at all, but most of the boys make good and the Rotarians win anyhow. Rotarians engaged in this line of work for young America contribute each about 10 cents a day to the education and only 16 members out of 275 members of the Boston club failed to pay the "dues" last year.

STATE OUTLINES CASE AGAINST MURPHY

BOSTON, Jan. 23—The government's contention in the charges of murder against Jesse Murphy were made clear by the prosecution's opening arguments today to the jury which is to try him. On the night six years ago that Edward T. Foley was shot down in the holdup of the chain store which he managed, a face appeared at the outer window of the store, Assistant District Attorney Fielding said, adding that the face was that of Murphy, and three persons who were in the store at the time would testify.

Four nights later, Ordway R. Hall, another chain store manager, was killed. Three men were concerned in this holdup, Fielding said. One held his foot in the doorway while the others entered. That man was Murphy, the prosecutor asserted. Murphy is being tried as a result of confessions made by him, but since retracted. Two brothers are under conviction for the killings, one under sentence of death, the other to life imprisonment.

VOSALI NOT GUILTY ON GROUNDS OF INSANITY

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 23.—A directed verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity, was given in the superior court today within an hour after the trial of Ernesto Vosali, charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosalia Galli, had begun.

Vosali, who recently was returned from the Augusta state hospital, where he had been under observation, was guarded by six deputy sheriffs, heavily armed while being taken to the courthouse, from the jail. This was done because of the attempt by a crowd to attack him in front of the courthouse when he was arraigned for preliminary hearing.

Vosali was arrested after he had shot the young woman with whom he was infatuated, at the public market on Federal street, near the police headquarters, last August.

STATE SENATE ADOPTS BILL AIMED AT KLAN

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—The state senate today adopted a resolution offered last week by Senator Wellington Wells of Boston expressing "firm opposition to any secret organization, whose aims and activities are inimical to the rights and liberties guaranteed to our citizens by the constitutions of the United States and of this commonwealth."

The preamble cited reported that the Ku Klux Klan was extending its activities to this state.

OPERATION IN EFFORT TO RESTORE SIGHT

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 23.—Parts of the eyeball of a six months old pig today were grafted on a human eye by Dr. Edward B. Morgan and three assists in an effort to restore sight to Albert Lemanowicz, 18, blinded in a Fourth of July fireworks explosion.

The operation, which lasted 40 minutes, was performed with the use of only a local anaesthetic. Four stitches were made in the human eye.

UPWARD REVISION OF WAGES ANNOUNCED

MALDEN, Jan. 23.—An upward revision of wages for workers in its factories here was announced today by the Boston Rubber Shoe Co., a branch of the U. S. Rubber Co. The amount of the increase was not made public. About 2000 operatives are employed here. This action comes after announcement of an increase to the workers of the footwear branch of the U. S. Rubber Co., at Millville and Woonsocket, R. I., yesterday.

Workmen in Dozen Ruhr Mines on Strike

ESSEN, Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press)—Not a pick was falling nor a wheel turning in at least a dozen mines in the Ruhr valley this afternoon. All the workmen were on strike in protest against the arrest of the mine directors. The latest additions to the ranks of the strikers were the entire forces of Matthias Stinnes' mines in the Essen district and those of the Thyssen interests at Hamborn, after the workers had vainly demanded the release of Fritz Thyssen and Herr Spindler.

Displaces U. S. as Leading Importer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The United States has lost to England its position as the greatest importer of Costa Rican coffee, according to official Costa Rica statistics received by the department of commerce. Out of a net exportation last year of 17,552,138 kilos, England took approximately 10,725,000 and the United States slightly more than 6,000,000 kilos. In 1921, the United States took more than 50 per cent of the crop.

Subsisted 11 Days on Diet of Beer

GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 23.—Subsisting for 11 days on a diet of beer, three men, half dead from exhaustion were picked up by the Morgan line steamer El Occidente 225 miles off the Carolina coast Jan. 18. Names of the men were not disclosed. The men, described as Florida fishermen said they were taking liquor from the Bahama islands to Cuba in a motor boat when their gasoline gave out.

Pres. Harding Remains Away From Office

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—President Harding who became ill with grippe a week ago, remained away from his office again today. Brig. Gen. Sawyer, his physician, said that while he had practically recovered, he had been advised to remain in seclusion in order to obtain a much needed rest. Mr. Harding expected to transact routine business in his office, as he did yesterday, but no one had an engagement to see him. Today's cabinet session was called off.

BRIEF BUT IMPORTANT WIRE DESPATCHES

PARIS, Jan. 23. (By the Associated Press.)—The allied reparations commission which maintains a bureau at Essen, was unable to communicate by telephone with this bureau today. It was assumed the interruption of service was due to a refusal of the German workers to operate the line to Paris.

TOKIO, Jan. 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Better understanding between the peoples of Japan and America was the note at the dinner given today in farewell to Charles B. Warren, retiring American ambassador, and Masanao Hanihara, newly appointed Japanese ambassador to Washington.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Counsel for Julian Dana De Cordova of Brookline, and for persons from whom he borrowed $40,000 in 1913, giving a three-year note at 15 per cent. interest, were given until next Tuesday by Judge Pierce in the supreme court today, to agree upon a master to hear the facts in the resulting litigation. The trustees of the estate of De Cordova's grandfather, Thomas Dana of Cambridge, also are parties at interest.

FIRE IN TOWER OF ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

The alarm from Box 114 shortly after 2.30 o'clock this afternoon was for a slight blaze in the tower of St. Patrick's church. Flames from a workman's torch caught onto the woodwork, but the blaze was extinguished before the firemen arrived on the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Reilly and daughter, Mary, of 137 Hovey street, also leave for St. Petersburg tomorrow.

MERCURY TOOK BIG DROP LAST NIGHT

Today was fair and decidedly colder.

The mercury dropped last night more than 20 degrees, but not so low as many expected it would. The official reading for the night's register was only five above zero.

This morning the mercury climbed slowly, with a tendency to remain around 12 and 14 during the early hours up to 10 o'clock. This noon it was only 18 above, and at 2 p. m. this afternoon, even in the sunshine, was only about 20 above.

"Tomorrow will be cloudy with snow or rain by night. Thursday may be stormy, too. This storm is humming along briskly, starting down in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday. But there are many things that may happen to it. For instance, another little blizzard is heading down from the northwest, and the two travelers may meet head on somewhere around western New York state or Pennsylvania.

"The weather man predicts stormy conditions Thursday as well as Wednesday, with winds becoming strong.

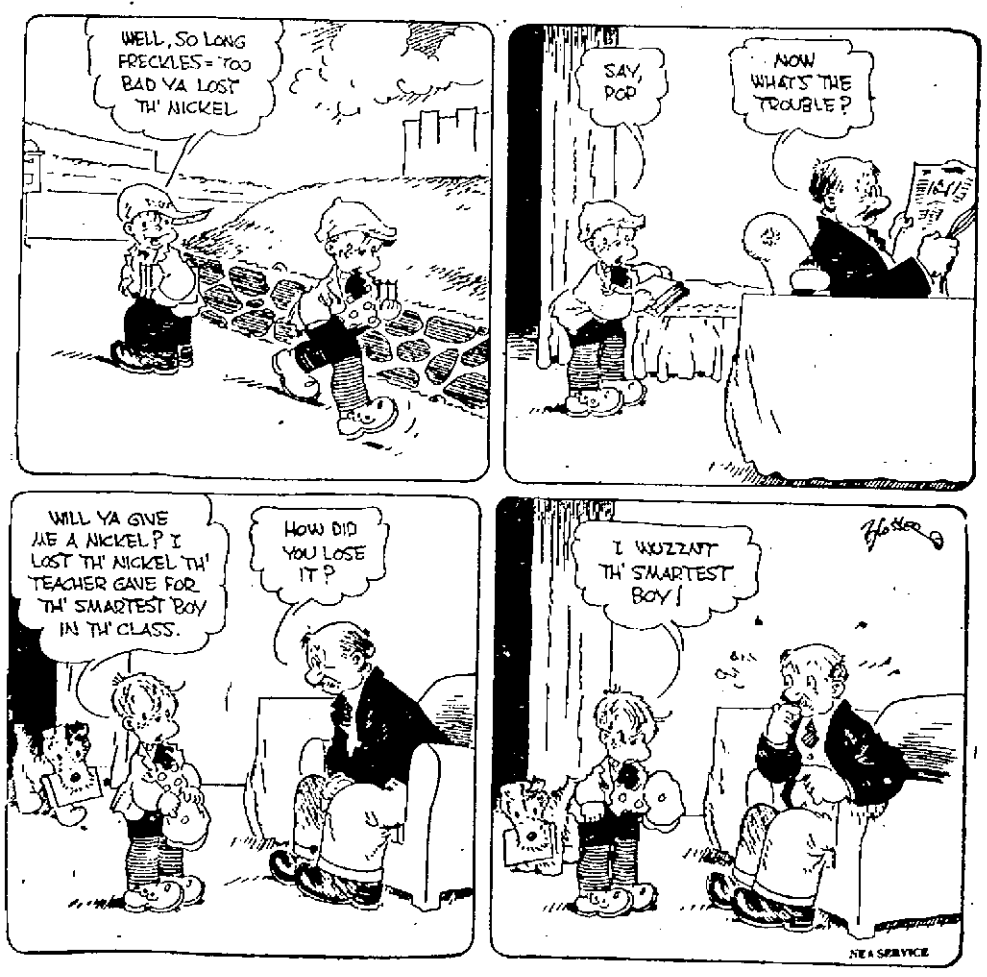

HUGO COMMUNICATED WITH SPIRITS OF PAST

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Victor Hugo, while an exile on the island of Jersey in 1851, received new inspiration for his later writings by communicating with the spirits of great writers of the past, said Jules Bois, president of the French society for psychical research, in an address here today.

"He conversed in the day with ideas," said the speaker. "At night came the spirits of the dead—Shakespeare, Aeschylus, Moliere, Columbus, Voltaire, Sir Walter Scott, Lord Byron and others, who awakened within him his subconsciousness and superconsciousness, linking him with his immortal eko and instructing him for a new destiny and a wider scope."

He said he had received from Hugo's heirs a document which never had been published containing the messages of many of the dead to the great French author.

Jack Daw on Icicle Isle. Chapter 12

Jack worked but a few minutes longer and then, turning to the band of snow men watching him, he said, "There you are! Your snow man friend is just as good as before the sun melted him." The snow men were all so glad that they formed a circle around Jack and gave him three cheers.

"And now," shouted the snow man who had been repaired, "I think we should take our friend and his dog on a trip to Frost Town." And with that, he again summoned the Snow Village Bus and Jack and Flip were soon on their way. "We have to cross a snow mountain," announced the snow man to Jack.

And almost as he said it, Jack saw the mountain a short distance ahead. "My, but that's a funny looking mountain," said Jack. "What are those funny looking things on the two peaks?" "Why, those are caps," replied the bus driver. "Surely you've heard of snow-capped mountains." (Continued.)

Adventures of The Twins

WALLY IN DREAMLAND

AT THAT MINUTE HE HEARD A PLEASANT VOICE SPEAKING. "HOW DO YOU DO, MR. WOODCHUCK?" IT SAID.

Nancy and Nick and Dusty Coat, the fairy sandman, made another trip around to all the sleeping creatures, tucked away so snugly and warm in their beds.

Ever so quietly they shook more magic powder all around the sleepers and then tip-toed out.

Suddenly a queer thing happened. A little trap-door right underneath Wally Woodchuck Groundhog's mattress flew open with a snap and Wally was tumbled pell-mell down a long tube like a coal chute. He thought the world had come to an end or that there had been an earthquake and that he was sliding through a crack right toward China.

"My goodness!" he cried. "Here I thought I was settled for a nice long winter's sleep and this is what happens!"

Wally hadn't time to say another word, for he landed on his head and then rolled over two or three times and stopped. In spite of all his tumbling and bumping and rolling, he wasn't hurt a speck. In fact it all felt rather comfortable and he was sorry when he found himself at a standstill.

At that minute he heard a pleasant voice speaking. "How do you do, Mr. Woodchuck?" it said. "Or do you prefer to be called Ground? I am Farmer Hoe Mow, at your service. Dusty Coat, the Dwarf, and his helpers, Nancy and Nick, sent me word to expect you by the underground tunnel, so I've been waiting. You must be hungry after your long trip."

Wally had got to his feet by this time with much grunting and groaning, for he was still fat in spite of his lack of provisions.

"Hungry!" cried Wally, rolling his eyes. "Say, mister, that's my middle name. But it wasn't the trip. No, sir! Food's been scarcer than frogfeathers for more'n a month. Dusty Coat put me to sleep with some magic powder and I kinda wish I'd stayed that way."

"Oh, tut," said Farmer Hoe Mow. "I was just about to tell you. The wheat field is on your right, the corn-field on your left, the orchard in front is at your service, and behind you is the garden. We hope to make you comfortable in Dreamland."

Hearing at Haverhill to Fix Responsibility for Attempt to Wreck Factory

New Move to Bring About Cessation of Labor Troubles in Shoe Industry

HAVERHILL, Jan. 23.—Interest among the thousands engaged in shoe manufacturing, the principal industry of this city, was divided today between the latest steps toward bringing about a cessation of labor troubles and the attempt to establish the responsibility for the recent attempt to dynamite the Knipe Brothers factory. A hearing was set in the district court for today in the case of John E. Merrick, arrested late yesterday charged with complicity in the Knipe affair.

Merrick, who the police said, was formerly financial secretary of the local branch of the Communist party, conducts an automobile repair shop. In the shop the police claim to have found parts of a clock which fitted the clock work contrivance found enclosed with dynamite in a suit case placed against the Knipe Brothers' factory on Jan. 4.

The Shoe Workers' Protective union will act some time this week on the question of accepting a two years' wage and working agreement drawn up by a sub-committee representing union and manufacturers and accepted by the Shoe Manufacturers' association last night. The agreement would continue the present wage scale except that it would provide time and a half pay for overtime and would prohibit strikes or lockouts, all disagreements to be settled by arbitration.

SOME IMPROVEMENT IN HARD COAL SITUATION

The hard coal situation is still more or less menacing but some of the local dealers are inclined to be somewhat optimistic. During the last few days several cars of hard coal have been received here and are being delivered as fast as possible, orders filled from the waiting list as they were received. Several of the dealers have cars on the way and as soon as they are received the situation will be much brighter, but rail transportation is very unreliable and the cars may not be in for weeks.

There is enough soft coal on hand to keep those who use boilers supplied over the emergency, and if all that had steam and hot-water heating plants would use this soft coal it would leave the hard coal for those who cannot use anything else.

The delivering of coal is the main item with those who have any on hand, one dealer reporting that he is using 10 horses and 6 trucks but is unable to deliver but half what this equipment would usually deliver. Deliveries are slowed up owing to the fact that in many cases it is necessary for the drivers to shovel out walks leading to the coal bin window and to shovel out around the window itself. If the people who order coal would see to it that everything is in readiness for the men when they come, the deliveries would be speeded up considerably.

Insofar as coal delivery is concerned, Centralville is practically cut off from the rest of Lowell. Sleighs loaded with coal cannot get through the downtown streets and across the square and trucks can only go as far as the car tracks go. They cannot leave the tracks because the roads not plowed are impassable.

Mr. D. T. Sullivan of the coal company of that name states that the only way that coal could be delivered there would be to make two deliveries, send the coal on a truck as far as the truck could go and the transfer it onto a sleigh and have the sleigh deliver it. The cost of doing this would be almost prohibitive. If the people of this section who must have coal would get a pung or a light truck and go up to the coal yards they could get the four or five bags necessary to tide them over until conditions are better for regular deliveries.

MAYOR AND CITY MARSHAL QUIT

Resignations at Harrison, Ark., Follow Week of Control by Citizens' Committee

Latter Organized to Halt Burnings and Other Depredations Along Railroad

HARRISON, Ark., Jan. 23.—Conditions along the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad today were more firmly in the grip of citizens openly opposed to striking workmen on that road after the resignations here last night of J. L. Cluto, mayor; George Minicus, city alderman, and William Parr, city marshal, and endorsement of the work of the "citizens' committee" here by a mass meeting at Eureka Springs. Armed volunteers continued to patrol Harrison street and the roads leading into the city.

Mayor Cluto's resignation will become effective Feb. 5, while immediate successors to Minicus and Parr were selected by a meeting of the city council.

The resignations follow a week of virtual control here by a "citizens' committee" selected last Monday night by armed men from points along the railroad with the announced purpose of stopping burnings and other depredations which have tied up service along the line.

At Eureka Springs a committee of 12 was selected to call before it any person suspected of having any connection with attempts to higher operation of the railroad. A resolution was adopted which commended the action of the "citizens' committee" which met in Harrison; rebuked all "utterances in sympathy with the continuance of the strike" and requested each citizen to pledge his support to the M. & N. A.

On Tuesday evening, February 6, at 7.30 o'clock, Frank E. Morris, safety engineer of the Liberty Mutual Insurance company, Boston, will lecture in the same hall on the subject: "Simple Ways of Getting Hurt." There will be a movie reel, subject: "Why Are We Careless?"

Mass. Leads in Revoking Liquor Permits

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Ninety-six permits carrying a total withdrawal privilege of more than 165,000 gallons of alcohol and intoxicating liquor, were revoked in this district in 1922, Elmer C. Potter, federal prohibition director for Massachusetts announced today. Of these 53 were retail druggists, 30 physicians, 12 manufacturers and one permit to legalize possession. Mr. Potter said that the report of the commissioner of internal revenue showed in the fiscal year ended July 1, 1922, in the entire country 159 permits were revoked ,of which 46, or 29 per cent, were in Massachusetts.

MISS MARY CRANSTON

MISS CRANSTON'S PRIZE WINNING FEET

Through the co-operative efforts of the B. F. Keith theatre management and The Lowell Sun there has come to this city this week the act of Lee & Cranston, presenting "The Honeymoon House," by Will M. Hough. That in itself may not be cause for particular or extended comment, although headlined and of particularly first class, but with the announcement of Miss Cranston's identity and her peculiar claim to prominence in the theatrical and artistic world, the coming of the act to the local vaudeville house takes on most unusual interest.

Miss Mary Cranston, a Chicago girl, who has progressed far in the field of vaudeville and motion picture entertainment during the past few years, has a most charming personality and really it is a pleasure to be privileged to sit with her and discuss the many experiences that naturally come to one who has traveled much and has seen life in its many phases of happiness and woe. But we are drifting somewhat afield from the real reason why Miss Cranston has come to Lowell just at this time.

She has in her possession a sterling silver slipper, presented to her as a prize for having the smallest and most shapely foot in the United States. As to its shapeliness we can vouch, but there is a feeling of skepticism regarding its prize-winning attributes in the matter of size. There are girls in Lowell, we are sure, who have feet upon which the slipper of Cinderella could slip as a friendly glove. Miss Cranston doubts it. Very well. The Sun desires very much to find some substantiation for this feeling of skepticism.

Call it pride in one's native city, if you will, there is, nevertheless, every good reason why Lowell girls and women should have an opportunity to match feet with Miss Cranston. She welcomes competition and why shouldn't she—does she not possess the silver slipper, emblematic of the very last word in the matter of feet.

In an effort to stimulate interest and in view of the fact that other New England cities have been given this same opportunity, The Sun, beginning today and continuing for the balance of the week, will conduct a contest, open to any matured woman in the city, single or married, it makes no difference, which will settle this foot question in Lowell, once and for all. Is there a grown girl or woman in the city with a foot to match Miss Cranston's?

There are prizes to be given, of course—slippers from two of Lowell's best known shoe merchants—and a box at Keith's for any afternoon or evening performance desired. A pair of slippers, the best obtainable and open to choice on the part of the winner, will be presented to the woman who, in the opinion of competent judges, has the smallest foot in Lowell, and another pair of slippers will go to her whose foot is judged the most shapely. In addition, there are the box concessions at the Keith theatre.

The shoe merchants who will present the prizes, throwing their entire stock for selection, are Ira Morse of the Twentieth Century shoe store and E. J. Gilmore of the Bon Marche Co.

When we say the competition is open to all, we mean just that. Of course, it does not apply to children and necessarily from the standpoint of fairness, must be confined to grown-ups.

Herewith is a coupon of directions of how to enter the contest. Fill it in and mail it without delay. Those who enter early naturally will be in line for more consideration than those who put it off until the very last minute. If you wish to tell more about yourself than is possible on the coupon, do so, it will be appreciated. On Friday there will be published a list of possible winners and on Saturday the final winners will be announced through The Sun and by Miss Cranston from the Keith stage.

Here is the coupon, fill it out. Enter with both feet and watch the novel contest stride along.

DIXON FLAYS KU KLUX KLAN

Author of "The Clansman" Vigorously Condemns Modern Hooded Organization

Declares it Had Stolen the Livery of the Original Order.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—Thomas Dixon, author of "The Clansman," vigorously condemned the modern Ku Klux Klan in an address last night and declared it had stolen the livery of the original order. He was one of several speakers called by the American Unity league to discuss ways and means for combatting the hooded organization.

He said that when the modern klan organized a few years ago, he declined an invitation to join, warning organizers that "if they dared to use the disguise in a secret, oath-bound order today, with the courts of law working under a civilized government, the end was sure—riot, anarchy, bloodshed and martial law."

"We have already reached the riot and bloodshed," he said, "and unless the thing is throttled promptly we are in sight of martial law."

The original klan was founded as a weapon against a corrupt and intolerable tyranny by the bravest and noblest men of the south, he said, but the proscription of the negro race by the modern klan is inhuman.

"The klan assault upon the foreigner is the acme of stupidity and inhumanity," he said. "We are all foreigners except the few Indians we have not killed.

"Our fathers blazed the way through the wilderness for the trembling feet of liberty. They built a beacon on these shores, flashing its rays of hope to all the oppressed of the earth. Shall we, their sons, meet the humble immigrant of today with a mask and dagger and push him back into hell? If this is 100 per cent Americanism, I for one, spit on it."

SERGT. WILLIAM DICKEY

Death Claims Another of Lowell's Loved and Honored Grand Army Veterans

Survivors of the Civil war, comrades in blue who still respond to Grand Army roll-calls, Lowell municipal employes from the mayor down and a host of men and women throughout the city learned this morning of the passing of Sergt. William Dickey, commander of Post 120, G.A.R., at his home, 10 Brickett avenue, after an illness of several weeks.

Sympathy went out to the stricken family in full measure, for during the Grand Army man's last illness, he received the tenderest care from a loving wife and devoted children, who mourn deeply the departure of one who was a patriotic American, war hero and an ideal homemaker.

Comrade Dickey, who recently celebrated his 80th birthday with a reception at his home on Brickett ave., attended by large numbers of friends and comrades, was born Dec. 7, 1842, in Portland, Me. He enlisted in the Civil war from Gray, Cumberland county, Me., Aug. 1, 1862, joining Company C, 25th regiment, Maine Volunteer Infantry, for nine months. He served with honor in all the campaigns in which his command engaged, being recommended for performance of meritorious service. He was honorably discharged at Portland, Me., on July 10, 1863, upon expiration of his service enlistment. His "vacation" lasted but a few days, for he was in this war to the finish, and on Aug. 3, the same year, enlisted for three years "or during the war," becoming first sergeant in Capt. Whitman Sawyer's crack Co. B, 30th Regt., Maine Volunteer Infantry.

The regiment fought hard almost continuously for weeks at a time, one battle lasting for 24 hours at Deep Bottom, for instance. Later the regiment was transported to Washington, marching from there to Harper's Ferry, Va. He also fought with Gen. "Phil" Sheridan in the famous Shenandoah valley.

The Lowell veteran received his final (and honorable) discharge papers at Savannah, Ga., on Aug. 22, 1865.

The veteran served as an employe of the city of Lowell for 25 years and was retired in December, 1920.

Sergt. Dickey is survived by his wife, Susan J. Dickey; one son, William C. Dickey; three stepsons, William T. Davis, Everett H. Davis and Danville H. White; two daughters, Mrs. Fred A. Lombard and Mrs. Gertrude L. Stouffer; one step-daughter, Mrs. James E. Libby; also ten grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

PROMISE NEW SENSATION

Brother of Missing Timekeeper to Testify Today—Hearing Nearing End

BASTROP, La., Jan. 23.—(By the Associated Press) Interest in today's session of the open hearing into the operations of the Ku Klux Klan in Morehouse parish centered on the appearance of Clarence Teegerstrom, brother of Harold Teegerstrom, missing time-keeper of the Southern Carbon Co., at Spyker.

The hearing is nearing its conclusion and attaches of the offices of the state attorney-general have said that the few remaining sessions may develop sensational testimony.

Harold Teegerstrom disappeared the night of Dec. 29, and his whereabouts was declared by officials to be unknown to them. His father testified yesterday that Clarence had received a note from Harold on Jan. 12, and Clarence was to be questioned today concerning it.

Rumor was rife here that Harold had been located at Swartz, a station on the Iron Mountain railroad about 10 miles south of here, and that he had been in concealment there since he disappeared from Spyker. A detachment of cavalry returned early today from Swartz without having found any trace of him.

Harold's probable testimony was regarded as vital to the alibi set up for T. Jeff Burnett, whom witnesses have testified they recognized as one of the masked party which on Aug. 24 kidnapped Walt Daniel and T. F. Richard.

Officials conducting the hearing declared they expected to spring a surprise at the opening of the Wednesday afternoon session and intimated that it would eclipse anything previously brought out.

In some quarters it was believed that Harold Teegerstrom would be the surprise witness. Reports persist that he is being held under cover to be brought here to testify.

Assistant Attorney-General Guion assured Teegerstrom's father yesterday while he was on the stand that the state had no evidence whatever that connected his son with a crime.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS WERE VERY ACTIVE

The arrest on Sunday night of two juvenile "breakers and enterers" in the nighttime, aged 13 and 15 years, respectively, whose names are withheld by the police, and the subsequent confessions of the youths to five other breaks in this city, has cleared up a mystery which has puzzled the police since the first of the year. The two boys, who will appear in the juvenile court next Friday morning, admitted, after considerable questioning, that they were responsible for the following breaks: Jan. 4, David Almond's pork store, 136 Gorham street; Jan. 7, Dry Goods store at 113 Gorham street and Co-operative Grocery store, 115 Gorham street; Jan. 14, W. A. Mack Co.; Dec. 31, Depolan Bros., 152 Gorham street, and the latest break in the Lowell Decorating Co., 251 Market street. They were arrested at the last named place by Officer Hessian as they were investigating the contents of the store.

Clear Deck in Bridge Street

along 'round the corner and came to a stop on Merrimack street for the first time in, lo! these many years.

And that erases the famous Bridge street turmoil and tangle that was ever present at all hours of the day, with cars stopping, delays sometimes long, and passengers surging back and forth running for cars and often missing them, as well as dodging automobiles and trucks, and thanking their Maker that they could win the race without getting scratched up.

The street railway heads have been doing a little "experimenting" around the square corners for several weeks. During the heavy storms the Varnum avenue cars just made the "loop" and returned to Varnum avenue, while Christian Hill cars came down around French street and returned to Beacon street. In this way service was maintained on 20-minute time in fairly good shape, and commuters on both lines benefited. It seemed to be easier to run two lines in this way rather than send cars way through when conditions were somewhat stormbound.

The decision to eliminate the inward stop on Bridge street in front of the old cash market was made this week, and today the white pole sign was painted out.

Centralville and Christian Hill passengers will still continue to board cars in the usual way on the homeward trips, but when they return to town—and the Dracut cars are included in the list, too—they will not be dumped out on Bridge street any more but on Merrimack, where passenger traffic will be handled better and the cars enabled to make better time with no more congestion on Bridge street side.
